WIFE ADMITS LOVE AFFAIR IN DIVORCE

Mrs. Estelle Runyon Tells in Letter of Wooing Man When Husband Refused Her Wish For Children

Woman Declares She Chose Father of Child With Care For His Qualities; Spouse Awarded Decree

The story of a woman who deliberately courted a man in order to become the mother of the child which her husband had denied her was disclosed today in a letter introduced in the divorce action of Walter L Runyon against Mrs. Estelle Runyon.

After reviewing the transcript of the testimony taken before the court commissioner, Superior Judge J. J. Trabucco granted Runyan an interlocutory decree of divorce.

According to the testimony, the Runyons were married in Kentucky five years ago and had gone to the Orient to work under contract For three years they appeared to be extremely happy, according to Runyon's mother, Mrs Elizabeth Runyon, 1511 Hearst avenue, Berkeley, although the wife later wrote that her position was "nothing short of torture."

WIFE SENT TO FORMER HOME.

Runyons contract having expired, he returned to this country. His wife remained in the Orient, awaiting the expiration of her contract When the couple finally were reunited, the wife complained of suffering from an Oriental illness When the husband took her to a physician, he discovered, according to the testimony, that in addition to the illness his wife was soon to become a mother

After Mrs. Runyon had been sent to her former home in Kentucky, she wrote to her husband explaining how she had sought another man in order to become a mother because her husband had refused her a child.

Following is the excerpt from her letter offered in evidence

"In one of your letters you become more favorable to the establishment of a home and the having of children I determined that I would be cheated out of life no longer, and that I would have a child of my own. I deliberately selected the man who had the characteristics and strength of character I would like in my child We had already become friends and it was not difficult to become better friends. In January, after my decision to return, via the Pacific, I went to his office and brazenly asked him if he would not love me fully before I started for home. You will never know what this cost me and I do not think you have much reason to complain of your position now under the circumstances, for the position in which you placed me during four and a half years was nothing short of torture

REFUSES TO GIVE NAME OF MAN.

"I wonder at times that I can ever feel kindly toward you While in San Francisco you told me that you had been true to me, but I can never believe it. If you have, you are not human, and I would rather believe the former. The man I approached is intensely human, and it was inevitable, with a woman of my type, youth, attractiveness and determination to deal with, that he should fall. I realize [illegible] a great sin toward him, but in my selfishness I did not think of it at the time.

"Initials would mean nothing to you, as you do not know the man, nor have you ever heard of him so far as I know. In any case I would not give them, as it would be disloyal to one who is really not responsible. I did not tell him my purpose. Do you think for a moment that a man of his standing, reputation, and character would have let himself in for such a thing if he had known? I cannot understand why you should be suspicious of the people you know in Shanghai unless you refuse to believe what I have told you"

Runyon's mother testified that she had told her daughter-in-law that her son proposed to give her up to the other man for her own sake as well as that of the baby. The daughter-in-law admitted that the other man was the father of the child, she said, but declared that she did not love him any more than she did her husband.

Rockefeller Scion Married Secretly

NEW YORK, Dec. 8. An announcement, given out today by members of the Rockefeller family, revealed for the first time that not only were Avery Rockefeller, son of Percy A. Rockefeller, and Miss Anna Mark, daughter of Clayton Mark, Chicago, married secretly in the autumn of 1923, but that the couple have an infant son, born August 30, 1924. They are in England.

Chilled Air Kills Three Lion Cubs In Oakland Zoo

LION Heaven is more populous today by three cubs, the lamented triplets of Mr. and Mrs. Simba, the African lions at the Oakland Zoo. The babies were born late Saturday night and the mother took them outside the den into the big outdoor cage occupied by the Simba family.

The cubs were chilled by the night air, and although every effort was made to keep them from dying, they succumbed last night.

This makes eight cubs that have been born to Mr. and Mrs. Simba. All are now dead. The first cubs born to them were triplets. Then came twins. The twins were born last summer.

The parents were captured in Africa by H. A. Snow when they were cubs.

NINTH VICTIM OF KEY CRASH DIES

Tony Stiliatos Succumbs, Other Injured Pass Danger Point.

Tony Stiliatos, a mental patient of the Stanford University Hospital, died at 1:35 a. m. today at the Berkeley General Hospital from injuries sustained in the Key Route - Sacramento Short Line wreck Thursday morning. His death brings the toll of the wreck to nine, and it is believed that the final count will remain there. All the other injured persons are reported out of danger today, although relapses may occur in the cases of E R. Grant, 2250 Piedmont avenue, who is at the Providence hospital, and Mrs. Marvin Howe, 704 Fourteenth street, Oakland, at the Berkeley General hospital

Stiliatos, who resided at 681 Sixty-first street, Oakland, was a native of Greece He was an employee of the Sacramento Short Line and was on his way to the hospital at Stanford University for treatment at the time of the accident. He was unmarried, his only relative in this country being a cousin. He was 48 years old. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

CORONER'S HEARING SET FOR WEDNESDAY.

A coroner's jury of twelve, being selected today by Coroner Grant D Miller, will probably meet Wednesday morning for the inquest into the deaths

The special board of inquiry will meet probably this afternoon or tomorrow, to question V. C Brubaker, motorman, and Ernest Knobbeck, conductor of the Sacramento Short Line train

In addition to the inquest and the general board of inquiry, special independent reports and investigations of the accident are being prepared by W. J Hanford, chief examiner of the California State Railroad Commission, and by Thomas I. Hicks inspector for the Interstate Commerce Commission.

POLICE GUARD FOR BRUBAKER PLANNED.

City officials today considered placing a police guard over Brubaker. A conference was held by Chief of Police James T. Drew, Captain of Inspectors Richard McSorley and Prosecuting Attorney Fred Donohue to discuss the proposal

Inspectors George Powers and William Lulgh made a demand to see Brubaker this morning, but hospital authorities refused them admission, stating that Brubaker's condition was too precarious to permit questioning of him

Dr. John L Lohse, attending physician will be asked to arrange for an examination of Brubaker by City Autopsy Surgeon Eugene Barbera.

S. P. STRIKE IS VOTED BY ENGINE MEN

Action Favors Walkout to Force Conference With Executives of Company on Demand For Wage Boost

96 Per Cent of Engineers, Firemen and Hostlers on Pacific System Cast Ballots For Proposed Action

The engineers, firemen and hostlers, and other employees of the Southern Pacific Company, have voted to strike, if necessary, to secure a conference with the officials of the railroad to obtain the increase in wages recently demanded.

The strike vote, according to a statement, signed by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen, shows that 96 per cent have voted in favor of walking out. A conference has been requested from President William Sproule of the Southern Pacific.

The statement issued by the two organizations is as follows:

"The strike vote of the engineers, firemen, hostlers and hostler helpers on the Southern Pacific (Pacific System), El Paso and Southwestern System and Arizona Eastern Railroad has been canvassed and shows ninety-six (96) per cent of the men involved have voted in favor of leaving the service, if found necessary, in order to secure a conference and to obtain a satisfactory settlement of the matters in controversy.

"We have conveyed to President Sproule the action taken by the men and have renewed our request for a conference in the hope of effecting a peaceful settlement, and we are awaiting his reply.

UNIONS DENY RAIL BOARD'S JURISDICTION.

The unions hold that under the Transportation Act of 1920 the United States Railroad Labor Board, which recently granted a 5 per cent wage increase, does not have jurisdiction in this case, since the controversy has not reached the stage of a threat to interfere with commerce. The union leaders insist that the railroad management must agree to negotiate with them This right they claim, is upheld by the Labor Board.

Company officials, however, according to the labor leaders, refuse to agree to any further conferences and the strike vote is a result of this refusal to arbitrate differences still existing

The unions involved are the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen of the Southern Pacific (Pacific system).

COMPANY MANAGER DENIES MEN'S CHARGES

Charges of the labor officials were denied by J H Dyer general manager of the company's Pacific system, in a 10-page pamphlet which was circulated among the enginemen.

Dyer said that the management "did everything consistent and reasonable to reach a settlement" He said the company would not be justified in reopening negotiations in this dispute after having authorized the committee of general managers, on the request of the general chairman of the two brotherhoods, to represent the company to a conclusion.

The Brotherhood men, according to Griffing and Robertson, request the following wage increases:

Passenger service—Engineers, 48 cents a day; firemen and helpers, 48 cents a day.

Freight service—Engineers, 64 cents, firemen and helpers, 64 cents per day

Yard service — Engineers, 64 cents; firemen and helpers, 64 cents

Hostler service—64 cents per day.

Four Bandits Lock 25 in L. A. Bank Vault and Escape With $3,000

BY UNITED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8.—Four bandits today held up the West Adams State bank, herded 25 patrons and employees into a vault and escaped with $3000 in currency.

The men, all unmasked, dashed into the bank and ordered everyone into the vault. They closed the safe door but did not turn the combination. One of the quartet threw all of the currency in sight into a black bag while the others watched the door. The quartet escaped in an automobile, the license number of which was obtained. Passersby released the prisoners and called the police.

The same bank was robbed a year ago this week by Harry J. Dunlap, "badge bandit," who obtained $1000.

Water Taxi Conveying Seamen to War Craft Is Sunk By Explosion.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

SAN PEDRO, Dec. 8.—One navy sailor is dead and seventeen sailors and two civilians seriously burned as a result of the burning and sinking of a private water taxi, the La Moyne, in the harbor early today. There were 45 men on board the craft when it caught fire in mid-channel.

The list of injured includes:

Ensign Cromwell, U. S. S. Tennessee.

J. A. Pratt, seaman first class, Oklahoma.

J. G. Cowan, fireman, third class, Oklahoma.

L. Vodovja, ship's cook, Oklahoma

C. Lawborne, fireman, second class, Arizona.

W. F. Gallagher, electrician's mate, third class, New Mexico.

L. P. Bogel, engineer's mate, first class, New Mexico

W. E. Van Franklin, seaman, first class, New Mexico.

A. W. Allen, seaman, first class.

H. Richards, electrician's mate, Tennessee.

W. L. Krise, fireman, third class, Pennsylvania.

J. L. McCormick, signal man, second class, Pennsylvania.

The injured men were taken aboard the U. S. S Pennsylvania, and the U. S. S Tennessee, and arrangements were made by the commander-in-chief of the battle fleet to transfer the seventeen burned naval men to the naval hospital at San Diego.

The body of the sailor was recovered and taken on board the Tennessee, where efforts were made to establish his identity

An explosion or back fire caused the disaster, and the survivors were picked out of the water by other craft. While harbor fire boats speeded to the scenes the craft sank.

The civilians burned, who operated the craft, were George Sands and Melvin Sprague of San Pedro. Arrangements were made to transfer them to a hospital here.

The La Moyne was a new craft of the fleet of speed boats operated by the H-10 Water Taxicab company, engaged in transporting men to and from the vessels of the United States battle fleet in the harbor here.

The explosion occurred not far from the anchorage of the battleship Pennsylvania during the early hours of the morning. A fleet of shore craft and the city fire craft were called out, and aided in the rescue of the men who had been forced to jump overboard from the burning vessel.

U. S. Consul, Shot By Girl, Dies of Wound

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. — The death of Vice-Consul Henry A. Dayton, shot by a woman several days ago in Belgrade, was reported today to the State department.

Dayton was first reported to have been shot by a young woman who afterwards committed suicide. No details of the tragedy, however, have been reported by Consul Patton in charge of the Belgrade post.

Press advices have tended to veiled mystery over the exact manner in which Dayton was shot as well as the death of the young woman.

Underwood, After Conference With Weeks, Says He Will Be Willing to Accept Secretary's Amendments

Consideration of Problem Is Resumed in Senate Under Stimulus of Drive For U. S. Ownership Measure

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Senator Underwood, after a two hours' conference with Secretary Weeks, said today that he and the secretary were not widely divided on the Muscle Shoals question, and that he would be willing to accept the Weeks amendments in the last analysis.

The Alabama senator said that none of the Weeks amendments raised serious objection to his measure, and that they furnished grounds for discussion which he felt sure would afford a final settlement between himself and the war department.

Senator Norris, chairman of the senate agricultural committee at the opening of today's session presented Secretary Weeks' report to the senate without comment. At the request of Senator Robinson, Democratic leader, the message was read.

Weeks said in his report that Muscle Shoals could not be operated by a lessee to produce fertilizer under the cyanide process without obtaining authority for the United States for patents.

UNDERWOOD BILL NOT INDORSED BY COOLIDGE.

Consideration of the Muscle Shoals problem was resumed by the senate today under the stimulus of a drive by supporters of the Underwood government ownership bill to throw the influence of the administration behind the measure

Amendments to meet the major objections raised by Secretary Weeks were offered by Underwood. As a result the leaders on both sides were hopeful of an early vote.

Senators favoring the bill had hoped President Coolidge would go to the length of formally endorsing it in policy in an open letter to senate leaders, but instead Coolidge communicated his views to Senator Underwood in person, and decided to send no formal communication on the subject at present. Meantime, Chairman Norris of the agricultural committee, which has had the Muscle Shoals question under consideration, had before him a report from the war department embodying the views of army engineers on the Underwood bill. The report suggested some changes.

Some of the senate leaders were disappointed at the president's decision not to write a letter endorsing the Underwood bill but they had not lost hope that the Underwood proposal would be acceptable at the White House and would bring to a solution one of the most troublesome questions with which congress has had to deal in recent years.

WAR DEPARTMENT FAVORS AMENDMENTS.

The war department reports, as made public declared over the signature of Secretary Weeks, that "unless careful and thoughtful [illegible] Underwood bill is unworkable."

The objections raised dealt in part with the financing operations of Muscle Shoals, and said unless the bonds which would be issued under the bill are guaranteed by the government, they would practically be worthless.

The secretary also declared it would be unwise to require an operator to whom the plant might be leased to produce a maximum of 40,000 tons of nitrogen within the four-year limit set by the bill, unless it was first learned that the fertilizer could be sold profitably.

Weeks also suggested that next July 1 was too short a limit to obtain a suitable lessee for the property.

HOUSE TO CONSIDER TAX PUBLICITY REPEAL.

Repeal of the income tax publicity section of the revenue act, recommended by the president in his annual message, may be taken up by the house ways and means committee soon, although no definite decision has been reached. Chairman Green said after a visit today to the White House.

An attempt will be made to secure another senate vote before the end of the week on the postal salaries increase bill, vetoed last session by President Coolidge.

Two attempts by Senator Edge today to secure agreement on a date to vote on the measure failed on objections by Chairman Sterling of the postoffice committee and Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho. The New Jersey senator gave notice he would try again later.

GIRLS PROTECTED FROM ABDUCTION

Watsonville Maids, Object of Ransom, Are Watched For Safety.

WATSONVILLE, Dec. 8.—Police guards have been placed about the home of L. P. Cikuth, wealthy fruit packer here, to protect his two daughters, Anna, 17, and Rachel, 20, from kidnapers. Action was taken by Chief of Police Sylvester Whitsitt following the receipt of a letter by Cikuth demanding $6000 under penalty of his daughters being stolen and sold to wealthy Chinese as slaves.

Cikuth, awed by the threatening tone of the letter received Friday night, had drawn $6000 from the bank and prepared to comply with the demand, when friends insisted he take the matter up with the police. Chief Whitsitt, after reading the letter, ordered the guard about the Cikuth home.

In the letter Cikuth was ordered to throw the money from a Watson-Santa Cruz train at a spot that would be marked by a small American flag. Whitsitt ordered Cikuth to follow directions Whitsitt and four deputy sheriff's accompanied him on the trip, but Cikuth became so excited when he saw the flag flutteringfrom a fence post he failed to throw off a dummy package. When the officers reached the stop they found no trace of the world-be kidnapers.

It is the belief of Watsonville authorities the writers of the letter are local characters, acquainted with Cikuth and his habit. The girls are exceptionally pretty.

MOTHER SLAYS 2 CHILDREN, SELF

Wife of Utah Educator Leaves Note Asking For Private Funerals.

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 8.—Mrs. Rosemary Carnavon Sparkman, 28, wife of Colley F. Sparkman, assistant professor of modern languages at the University of Utah, and their two children, Wilford, 9, and Lora Doone, 7, were found dead late last night in the gas-filled home of the Sparkmans here.

Appearances indicated that during the absence of Sparkman, his wife had chloroformed the two children while they were sleeping in their beds and then lay down on a fur rug and pillow in the center room of the house and had turned on full force the jets of a gas stove in the room. Dr. John J. Galligan, city physician, declared that all three of the victims had been dead probably since Saturday night and that the case was a clear one of murder and suicide by the woman.

Next to Mrs. Sparkman's body, beneath a garment she was wearing, was found a note which read as follows:

"Lay me away quietly. No friends. I had no friends in life, nor was I granted them in death. Let me be alone."

Both children were undressed for the night and evidently had been chloroformed after they had gone to sleep. On the little girl's face were burns from the chloroform and one of her hands was clenched tightly as though she may have partly awakened while the anaesthetic was being administered.

Mr. and Mrs. Sparkman were married in New York City ten years ago.

Mrs. Sparkman is declared by her husband to be a cousin of the [illegible] discovered of the tomb of Tutankhamen in Egypt.

Mrs. Sparkman was 28 years old.

PARIS, Dec. 8—The Communists continue to hold the center of the stage in France, appearing undismayed by the government's repressive measures. After a meeting at the headquarters of the labor federation last night a group of radicals formed a procession and marched two miles to the eastern railroad terminus singing the "Internationale." They were scattered by police.

Another band attended the inauguration of a local soldiers' memorial at Stains, a northern suburb of Paris, and drowned the speakers' attempts with cheers for Lenin and the singing of the "Internationale." They were dispersed by police reserves.

Third Internationale Propagandists Active

By PAUL SCOTT MOWRER.
(Special Cable to The Oakland TRIBUNE and The Chicago Daily News.)

LONDON, Dec. 8.—Propaganda for the Soviet or Third Internationale is new being actively disseminated through the following regions, according to the foreign office: Esthonia, Eastern Galicia, Bessarabia, Croatia, Macedonia, India, Egypt, Arabia, Persia and Tunis.

In the Christian lands, it takes the form of inciting the people to revolt against the existing government. In Moslem lands, it takes the form of nationalism.

Bernard Shaw, apparently in the name of England's Socialists, has written a letter to Moscow saying that the Soviet conceptions of socialism are far behind the times, that Carl Marx is as antiquated as Moses and that the Russian revolutionary leaders are novices.

He advises the Soviets to rid themselves of the Third Internationale whose written constitution "betrays Bourgeois idealism and childish inexperience of men and affairs." "The Soviets should tell Zinoviev plainly that he must choose between serious statesmanship and cinematographic, schoolboy nonsense."

Moscow Financing Red Campaign in Esthonia

By F. A. MACKENZIE
(Special Cable to The Oakland TRIBUNE and The Chicago Daily News.)

LONDON, Dec. 8.—The Esthonian uprising is part of a systematized campaign for promoting revolution in eastern Europe. It is financed by committees working [illegible] connected with the present acute dispute between the dominant Zinoviev faction in the communist party, and Leon Trotzky.

Trotzky maintains that the time is not propitious for further efforts to promote European revolution and urges the concentration of effort in the Far East. Zinoviev and the members of the Internationale maintain that a European revolution still is possible.

Zinoviev's authority has been greatly shaken in the last year by his blundering control which has done much to wreck the non-Russian section of the Internationale.

Esthonia's danger is greater because of its proximity to Leningrad and the active communist propaganda among its factory workers, particularly the Jewish workers. For months past money has been poured out among them and investigation shows that the money comes from Moscow. The Latvian authorities are less apprehensive. They say that communism is so utterly discredited there that it would be negligible without Russian support.

SCHMITZ DENIES CONNECTION WITH LIGHTING FIRM

S. F. Supervisor Brands Carbon Copy of Letter From Him As Fake.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—The carbon copy of a letter purporting to connect the name of Supervisor Eugene E. Schmitz with a lighting company of this city has been branded by Schmitz as a fake. Schmitz attacked the validity of this communication, in defending his record as chairman of the Lighting Committee of the Board of Supervisors. Even if the document were genuine, Schmitz declared no blame could be attached to him in the matter.

In this connection, he declared: "If this information that I am the agent for a lighting company were true—which it isn't—I would have a perfect right to associate myself with any lighting company, so long as I did not deal with the city. There would be nothing culpable about it."

The letter in question is supposed to have been written by Herbert Law.

"I never wrote such a letter," Schmitz denied. "It would be very easy to determine that fact from Law, for my signature would be attached to the original. Unsigned carbon copies can be manufactured by anyone and mean nothing. The fact is, I wrote no such letter. Law has no such original and the carbon copy is false."

The incident of the letter is said to have been the outgrowth of a break in the friendly relations between Schmitz and Frank C. Drew. Up to a short time before Drew's death the two men were intimate friends. The enmity resulting in a break between the two was followed by the public exposure of the carbon copy of the alleged letter to the lighting company. The exposure was made by Drew's widow.

This action by Mrs. Drew is said to have been taken in retaliation for an alleged statement by Schmitz to the effect that "Frank Drew has peddled me like fuel."

19 Added to List Of Booster Unit

SUNNYVALE, Dec. 8.—Nineteen new members were added to the Sunnyvale Chamber of Commerce at last week's meeting at the city hall, the increase in membership being due to the efforts of Dr. R. T. Glyer. The new members are: Frank C. Wilson, R. L. Macey, A. J. Herrick, Andy Ruiz, L. I. Jones, J. A. Norwood, J. R. Mourning, Charles Vesser, O. W. Edquist, Antonio Canette, J. Beatty, J. C. Stearns, E. B. Caldwell, Otis Raines, E. W. Dunne, J. T. Rolfe, Bank auto repair shop, Joseph Mihlinich, Henry Baker.

The recent $225,000 bond election for a new building for the Westside Union High school, which failed to carry by ten votes, was discussed and the chamber went on record in favor of a new bond issue election.

The secretary of the chamber was instructed to write to all members of the Mountain View High school board of trustees, inquiring why Principal Nevison of the Mountain View school wrote publicity for the anti-bond faction in the recent election. It is claimed that a pamphlet written by Nevison and widely circulated here confused the voters of the district and was partly responsible for the loss of the election.

The SIGNPOST of HEALTH

STOP LISTEN LOOK

CONDUCTED BY ALAMEDA COUNTY HEALTH CENTER

THE BEST FOOD.

In matters of health we have for a long time been slowly coming around to the realization that nature knows more than men. On the question of feeding babies, nature knows more than all of us put together. Statistics have repeatedly proved that a breast-fed baby has five times as many chances to live as his unlucky bottle-fed brother. To insure a plentiful supply of suitable food for her baby, the mother should, after his birth, continue the wise regime which she observed before he came—plenty of sensible, nutritious food; plenty of fresh air and exercise, plenty of sleep; plenty of wholesome fun and loving, happy thoughts. Human mothers should try to imitate the great mother of us all—nature. They should seek to gain something of her peace, her largeness of vision, her ability to rest contented in the moment without looking impatiently or anxiously forward. We Americans all need this, but mothers need it even more than the rest of us. If the mother has never learned self-control, if she "flies off the handle" at every trifle, her milk is likely to make the baby cross or even ill.

If the milk is insufficient for the baby's needs, he will show it by fretting, instead of falling asleep or cooing to himself after he is fed. Sometimes the flow of milk may be increased by more nutritious food or by taking more exercise or a more liquid diet; but, if all these fail, the doctor must be consulted about supplementary bottle feedings. Ordinarily a baby should be nursed until he has two or three teeth, unless it is absolutely necessary to wean him.

THE BEST SUBSTITUTE.

In various countries various substitutes are used for mothers' milk, such as the milk of goats, mares, reindeer, etc. Our usual substitute, cow's milk, is very much like human milk, but the ingredients are in different proportions. Consequently it needs to be modified, as the doctors say—in order not to upset the baby's digestion. There used to be a charming theory that "mothers instinctively know what is best for babies." It is true that mother cows, and horses, and cats seem to be fairly expert in mothercraft, but the human race has paid the penalty of "progressing" away from nature. The average human mother, if she cannot nurse her baby, has no instinctive wisdom whatever on the subject. Unluckily she is only too apt to consult a neighbor or some ignorant older woman, with the result that the baby becomes the subject of a series of experiments in feeding. This is all wrong. Consult a good doctor, and get him to give you exact directions for modifying milk for your baby according to your baby's needs—not according to the notions of some neighbor.

MILK.

Milk is the most valuable of all foods. For babies and young children no other food can take its place. But it is also the most easily infected of all foods. Germs love a warm, dark, wet place where food is abundant, and a milk can is just such a place. To remove all danger, milk must be pasteurized. There are several ways of doing this, but perhaps the simplest is as follows: All the bottles, nipples, etc., should be boiled; then milk for the day should be mixed according to the doctor's directions, and enough for a feeding put into each bottle. Put plugs of fresh absorbent cotton in the bottles, and set them in water in the top part of a double boiler. When the water boils, test the milk by putting a glass thermometer into it. When the milk reaches 170 degrees Fahrenheit, keep it at this heat for twenty minutes. This will kill every harmful germ—which less heat will not. Cool the bottles and then put them on ice. When feeding time comes, heat the milk by standing the bottle in hot water. Don't test it by putting the nipple into your own mouth, but drop a little on your wrist. Fill the emptied bottle with cold water and let it stand until next day, when it is boiled again. The nipples should be rinsed in warm water, turned inside out to get them perfectly clean, and left in a glass of boric solution, one teaspoonful of boric powder being used to a glass of cool, boiled water.

If you live in a city where the milk is carefully inspected, buy grade A pasteurized milk for the baby. Grade B is suitable for grown people, but contains too many germs to be safe for the baby. In the country, be sure that the milk comes from a dairy where the barn, cows and men are clean and free from disease. Even then, the milk should be pasteurized at home. It is a lot of trouble, but not nearly so troublesome as a sick baby.

HOW TO FEED THE BABY.

Almost as important as the question of what to feed the baby is the question of how to feed him. Dr. Kerley, the eminent child specialist, was once asked when a mother should begin to train her child. He answered, "Before the child is born." If the baby is fed every time he starts to cry, he will very naturally assume that this world is not a place where law and order prevail, or where he must adapt himself to existing laws, but a place where a strong pair of lungs vigorously used will obtain for him anything he wants whenever he wants it. From the very first day of his life the baby should be fed at regular intervals. By the end of the first month he need be fed only once in three hours; and by the fifth month, once in four hours is usually enough.

Several times a day he should be given a little cool boiled water; but do not be tempted into giving a taste of whatever the baby cries for. We do not give hunks of meat to newborn puppies, nor oats to unweaned colts. It would seem unnecessary to warn against feeding babies placidly enjoying all of these articles.—From the Physical Care of Babies and Children, published by the National Child Welfare association.

AVIATION NEEDS TOLD IN REPORT SENT CONGRESS

Advisory Committee Urges Aid to Industry For National Defense.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. — Lack of adequate aircraft industry is a matter of grave concern to the government, in the judgment of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics as expressed in its annual report transmitted to Congress today by President Coolidge.

"An aircraft industry is absolutely essential to national defense," the report declared. "One lesson of the war that will not be forgotten is that it takes a great deal of money to develop hastily an aircraft inquiry almost from nothing. The American people can ill afford to pay that price a second time."

The government is concerned that there should be at least "an adequate nucleus," capable of rapid expansion to meet war needs, the report continued. To that end it recommended steps to remedy substantially "the existing bad condition," but declared that proposals either to increase the volume of government orders for aircraft or to allot such orders without regard to competitive bidding would not meet the necessity.

The committee suggested four moves to produce the necessary types of aircraft at reduced cost and also assure manufacturers of adequate peace time methods. The steps to be taken by the aircraft builders were to readjust plants to a peace time basis immediately, and for specialization in particular types of ships with a view "to gradual recognition of proprietary rights in new designs."

Those suggested for the government were to fix a balanced production program for the army, navy and postoffice that will have needs and types made known a year in advance, and to place orders for different types "at such intervals as to insure continuity of production and the gradual development of special facilities and skill by each manufacturer in the production of a given type of aircraft."

While the air mail service, particularly with its present efforts toward night flying, was classed as "the most important development in aviation today," so far as stimulating development of commercial aviation goes, the report pointed out that the chief reason for faster commercial flying progress in Europe was a military consideration.

Program Given For Vallejo Delphians

HUNTER SLAIN BY ACCIDENTAL SHOT AS KIN STUMBLES

Coroner Summoned Finds Man Alive But Victim Dies In Hospital.

HAYWARD, Dec. 8.—Left for dead on a marsh at Johnson's Landing near Mount Eden yesterday, after he was accidentally shot while hunting ducks, Lawrence Fox of San Francisco lay for four hours and was still conscious when the coroner's automobile arrived to take him to the morgue yesterday. He was taken to the Hayward Central hospital, but died shortly after arriving there.

According to the report made to the police and other authorities concerning the shooting, Fox and his brother-in-law, R. I. Peck of Cherryland, were out on the marsh hunting when the tragedy occurred. A flock of ducks flew over and both men raised their shotguns and took aim. Peck's foot slipped and he fell to the ground. His shotgun was accidentally discharged and the full load entered Fox's side.

Convinced that his brother-in-law was dead, Peck went on foot to Hayward to notify the coroner's office. When deputies arrived at the place where the accident occurred, they found Fox conscious and striving to get to his feet. Fox was 30 years old and married. He had lived in Hayward up to a few days ago.

Universality

UNIVERSAL telephone service must be universal in scope—it must reach anyone, anywhere. But it must be universal also in cost—it must be within the financial reach of everyone, everywhere.

Years of research have been required to provide the telephone instruments, switchboards, wire and supplementary apparatus which afford intercommunication between housewives, shopkeepers, farmers and millions of other American telephone users.

But these facilities do not in themselves make America's telephone service a universal service. Telephone engineers have spent years of additional study in order to build, maintain and operate this nation-wide system so economically that the cost of service may be kept at all times well below its value to the telephone user.

Upon the two fundamentals of extensiveness in scope and economy in cost the Bell System has built the most universal telephone service in the World.

RAIN HOLDS UP OPENING CULVER CITY SPEEDWAY

Officials Try to Entice Sun From Cloudland Without Avail.

By E. V. WELLER.
(National Automobile Club.)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8.—"Game postponed, wet grounds!" That's the story of yesterday's inaugural race on the million-dollar speedway at Culver City.

All morning, Fred Wagner, official starter, and Val Haresnape, member of the contest board, pleaded with the authorities to provide the usual Los Angeles weather for the afternoon battle, but their efforts were in vain. Wagner put on all his fancy stuff; he donned a wild orange tie and a brilliant pair of hose that broke all world records for speed until Val tramped in. Val not only shone, he shimmered, and he paraded up and down the track in the hope of enticing the sun out from behind the clouds to get an eyeful of his toggery.

EVERYBODY DISAPPOINTED.

Cap. Al Waddell was there, too, but in sombre garb, for all his fire-breathing efforts to gather in the clouds had been in vain and now he had another heartbreaking week ahead, exchanging punches with old Noah Webster and his superlatives. The drivers were disappointed. The cars were all tuned in and they themselves were all keyed up for the test. The track was disappointed, too, and the judges stand made faces at the press box whenever a patter of rain showered down on its gabled roof.

But the few spectators who came to see the race remained to see the track itself. For this great speedway plant is worth going miles to see. Beside it Cottatl, and San Carlos, and Fresno, pale into insignificance. It is a gargantuan monument to the god of speed. Adjudged the fastest and safest racing saucer in the world, the point of vantage from which the spectator looks down offers panoramas of noble proportions.

AN IDEAL SETTING.

To the north are the mountains that lie back of Hollywood, and the thickly settled outskirts of Los Angeles itself, while to the south one may see the pounding surf of Santa Monica and the neighboring beach resorts. Just over the barrier of the track looms the multiple sets of the Goldwyn studio, backgrounds of Egypt and Assyria rubbing noses with those of England and Japan. A whole volume of history stands there in pictorial form to stimulate the imagination of the onlooker.

The bleachers are comfortable, and every seat affords an excellent view. In the center of the oval is a mile dirt track and polo field, and a broad sheathing of steel at the upper rim of the saucer shows the margin of safety which has been provided for spectator and driver alike.

The weather man has promised to be on the job for next Sunday and has called in the assistance of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, so that the speed classic that marks the close of the American racing season of 1924 and the opening of the Culver City track will be put into the cards.

The new speedway without an attendant crowd is a spectacle in itself. With the accompaniment of the thrills of the race, and the colorful costumes brought out by warmer weather, the event should make racing history.

Blue Bird Bureau

Goodfellows, start the week's Christmas shopping by looking over the Blue Bird's list of needy families. There may be one whose plight will appeal to you and whose burden you can assume for a day without inconvenience to yourself. They come from the suburban towns as well as from Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda. The families range in size from one baby whose mother would like some toys to twelve children aged two weeks to sixteen years, who need everything from head to toe, including food and toys for Christmas. Names and addresses will be furnished and such detailed information as is at hand in the Blue Bird bureau.

A "neighbor" writes:

"Blue Bird Bureau:

"Am writing to tell you of a poor family who will have no Xmas unless you help them. The man has been out of work for some time and the mother is sickly. Man works just a day or two a week sometimes. They have three children, two girls 9 years and 7 years and a baby boy 1½ years old. Baby is in need of clothing and Thanksgiving they did not have anything to eat, except what we shared with them, and we have almost nothing ourselves, but hope you can spare a few toys and good Xmas dinner for them. Thank you so much; they appreciate anything."

Fifteen years old and a widow with one child and working to help her mother, who has seven children under sixteen. This young person does not come asking assistance, but her mother does:

"Dear Blue Bird:

"I have seven children and expect to have another one soon. My husband has been out of work for a long time, and it's going to be a very sad Christmas for the kiddies. They are already planning on what Santa is going to bring them. Can you please help me with a Christmas dinner and a few things for the kiddies. They are all badly in need of clothes. They are Frank, 1 year, Vernon 4, Raymond 6, Walter 8, Ernest 12. Olive, 15 years, is working in a private family, but she is getting only $25 a month and can't help much. She's had a lot of troubles. She has been married and her husband died a year ago, leaving her expecting a child, who is a year old now. We would appreciate clothing of any kind, and a few toys for the kiddies. We won't have anything to give the kiddies for their Christmas dinner, so please send Santa Claus to them."

There is no time in the year when the appeal of the helpless is so strong as at Christmas. The thought of disappointed children, of old people, cold or hungry, at this time of joy and feasting, robs the day of its pleasures unless we have done something to bring happiness to some waif or some derelict in Life's turbulent stream.

If you Goodfellow, have not signified your intention of taking a family, or more children for Christmas, this is a good day to do so. The Blue Bird needs your help or your money or both. Will you help us?

Dry Raiders Arrest Four Rum Suspects

MARTINEZ, Dec. 8.—Raiders headed by Deputy Sheriff Clyde Laird of San Francisco arrested proprietors of four places Saturday night on liquor charges.

"Queenie," San Francisco woman raider, arrested Dick Strelli, and charges were placed against hi mof "maintaining a nuisance in violation of the Wright act."

Raiders also captured Dominick Cerri at Fairview, near here, who, it is alleged, was caught with a bottle that contained more than the allowed percentage of alcohol. At Moreco, Sam Guadalin and Frank Montalbetto were also arrested and accused of violating the Wright act.

Shasta Jury Would Jail Bootleggers

MARYSVILLE, Dec. 7.—Bootleggers of Shasta county would be cast into jail in addition to stiff fines if the recommendation of the county grand jury, filed recently, were carried out. The inquisitorial body strongly urges the maximum punishment for all offenders.

FIREMEN TO BUY OWN TRUCK FOR HAYWARD AREA

Chemical Equipment Owned By Employees, Not City, To Aid Outside.

HAYWARD, Dec. 8.—Purchase of a large truck chassis for a chemical and hose truck for the local fire department, to answer emergency calls outside of the corporate city limits, is the aim of department members. To raise $800 for the chassis purchase, a dance and a vaudeville entertainment are being planned.

Present chemical and hose equipment of Hayward is owned by the fire department and not of the city, having been purchased several years ago with funds in the department treasury. The present chassis is useless, but the new purchase will produce a fire truck that will be suitable for almost any emergency, Chief M. G. Riggs says.

"City owned fire equipment, paid for by the taxpayers, cannot leave the city to answer outside calls," says Riggs. "The new truck can be maintained for just that purpose and can be operated by any of the volunteer members. If the plans go through, I am sure Hayward will have established a relief system in effect in no other community of similar size."

Two department committees have been selected, to arrange for the show and dance. The show committee comprises Riggs, Louis Silver and Frank Pereria, and the dance committee, Joseph Riggs, Joseph Vargas and John Machado.

"As we are doing this for the convenience of the residents of the city, we expect their liberal support in preparing for the affair, to take place early next year, and in patronizing them," states Riggs.

CANDY IS HELD DIGESTION AID BY FARM AIDE

HAYWARD, Dec. 8. — If the average person knew how to correctly make and eat candy, there would be a decided reduction in dentist and doctor bills, according to Miss Maryetta Wilson, demonstration agent of the Alameda County Farm Bureau home department. Miss Wilson is directing preparation of healthful sweets at the thirteen department centers of southern Alameda county, which emphasizes the part of candy in the diet.

The basis of healthful and beneficial candy making is the liberal use of dried fruits and nuts, says Miss Wilson.

When ground up and prepared in candy form they satisfy the natural craving for sweets and have the opposite effect of the average sugar-saturated confection, she says.

Dates, raisins, dried apricots or pears, and any variety of nuts, make delicious candies, if a little ingenuity and cooking knowledge is exercised, states Miss Wilson. A plain loaf of nuts, chocolate and a small amount of powdered sugar may not be surpassed from an epicurian standpoint, she says.

Candy should be eaten only after meals or as a dessert, as it aids digestion at such time, according to Miss Wilson.

Capacity of Power Plant Enlarged

TURLOCK, Dec. 8. — According to Engineer R. W. Shoemaker, the new electric generator recently purchased by the Turlock Irrigation district for installation at the La Grange power house, will be started tomorrow. The generator will be used as supplementary to the power plant at Don Pedro.

HAYWARD

Children Rehearse For Yule Cantata

HAYWARD, Dec. 8. — Under the direction of Miss L. C. Berg, pupils of the Hayward grammar school are rehearsing a Christmas cantata, "Santa Claus and Uncle Sam," to be held in the school auditorium Friday afternoon.

The following boys and girls are included in the cast: Joe May, Alice Morse, Clifford Vierra, George Pett, Charles McLean, Joe Malgato, Carol Sinkwitz, Vieno Kesti, Constance Crevalla, Grace Hickey, Alice Salgardo, John Nobriga, Ernest Rogers, Richard Douza, Ralph Jensen, Frank Terry, Floyd Pereria, Roy Mortenson, Clifford Dias, Alice Billingsley, Katherine Knauff, Dorothy Roderick, Ruth Haven, Alice Fereria, Dorothy Vincent, Velma May, Phyllis Naish; Dorothy Madsen, Marq Steiner, Sarah Annand, Louise Taylor, Verna Dill, Dolores Lemon, Evelyn Alves, Helen McCullock, Doris Brockman, Lucille Carmo, Genevieve Caires and Ruth Wilbur.

A dozen nationalities will be portrayed by the children, costumes and scenery being prepared by the school teachers. W. B. Kammerer, supervising principal, is supervising the affair.

Hospital Chief to Tell of Hen Culture

HAYWARD, Dec. 8. — Practicability of gas brooders for poultrymen will be explained and discussed by Lynwood Kelly, superintendent of the Alameda County Hospital, at meeting of the Castro Valley center of the Alameda County Farm Bureau in the Castro Valley school auditorium tonight. Kelly will speak from experiences in poultry production of the large flock maintained at the hospital.

San Jose Driver Pays Fine By Mail

HAYWARD, Dec. 8. — L. H. Helwig, of San Jose, paid a $15 fine to Judge Jacob Harder by mail, through his attorney, Richard V. Bressani, for traveling 45 miles an hour on the highway. He was arrested by Traffic Officer Lewie Eike. Carlton Dobbel, of Hayward, paid a $10 fine for speeding, on complaint my Walter Alves, city traffic officer.

Legion Plans For Last Year Event

HAYWARD, Dec. 8. — The local American Legion post is preparing for the "grand finale" of the year, a whist tournament, program and banquet to be held at Dania hall on December 19. Jack Flynn and Eugene Sullivan are chairmen of committees.

The affair will be partially a welcome to Jack Flynn, newly elected commander, and a compliment to Hugo Frank, retiring commander.

Junior Red Cross To Be Reorganized

HAYWARD, Dec. 8. — Reorganization of the Junior Red Cross is under way, with Mrs. I. B. Parsons, wife of a local banker and chairman of the Hayward Red Cross branch, in charge.

Miss M. P. Chickering, secretary of the Associated Charities, of Oakland, is co-operating with Mrs. Parsons.

I. O. O. F. ELECTS.

HAYWARD, Dec. 8. — A. Valsen was elected noble grand of the Hayward Odd Fellows, Sycamore lodge, ae the last meeting. Other officers elected were: C. C. Coffman, vice-grand; Shirley Nelson, secretary; W. C. James, trustee. Remaining offices will be filled by appointment at an early meeting. Installation is set for early January.

CLUB SETS DANCE.

HAYWARD, Dec. 8. — As one in a winter series of social events, the Palomares Improvement club will give a dance in the school auditorium there Saturday night, December 20.

Women to Make Own Yule Gifts

HAYWARD, Dec. 8. — Meetings of the Alameda County Farm Bureau home department this week will be devoted to instruction and demonstration of the fabrication of home-made Christmas gifts, announces Miss Maryetta Wilson, demonstration agent, who will be in charge.

Tomorrow afternoon the Mountain House center will meet in the school auditorium there, and on Wednesday the Orchard avenue unite will convene at the home of Mrs. R. E. Kerpers. The Pleasanton center will meet Thursday afternoon and on Friday the Tennyson center will meet at the home of Mrs. M. J. Hodgkins.

Friends Free Man After Booze Raid

HAYWARD, Dec. 8.—John Gonsalves, proprietor of a "soft drink" establishment at 908 Castro street, is at liberty on $500 bail, following a raid by Louis Silva and Walter Alves, local police officers, and the alleged seizure of a bottle of whisky early yesterday morning. Gonsolves was lodged in the city jail for several hours before friends raised the bail. He will appear today for a hearing.

Because Gonsalves had his place open after midnight, his license will probably be taken from him, police say.

BAY FOLK MOTOR SOUTH TO SPEND THE HOLIDAYS

Informal Teas Are Given by Younger Set for Several Brides-Elect.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley W. Brundige left yesterday for the south, to be gone until after New Year's. In Los Angeles they will be guests of Dr. and Mrs. West Hughes. Christmas day will be passed with Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Dickson, whose home is one of the show places in San Diego. Mr. Dickson is a regent of the University of California.

Only recently Mrs. Brundige was hostess at a large tea for which the Claremont Country club was the background and on this occasion Mrs. West Hughes was the honoree.

Two brides-elect shared the honors on Saturday afternoon at a tea which Miss Florence Finley gave at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Finley, in Prospect Drive. Miss Elizabeth Bruner, financee of Charles Willard Griffen, and Miss Dorothy Salisbury, bethrothed of Philip Nicholls of Berkeley, were honor guests.

The surprise of the afternoon was the announcement of the betrothal of Miss Finley and Henry Huntley Howard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Paxton Howard of Highland avenue. Master Guy Gilchrist, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Gilchrist, presented the guests with betrothal cards.

Miss Finley formerly attended Mills College, while her fiance is now a student at the University of California. He is a Phi Delta Theta fraternity man.

Mr. Howard comes from one of the representative families east of the bay, and is a brother of Mrs. Howard Bucquet of Hollywood, Mrs. Guy Gilchrist and Edward Howard of Piedmont.

Assisting the hostess to receive were Miss Natalie West, Miss Doris Glenn, Miss Leora Sims, Mrs. Guy Gilchrist, Mrs. H. Allen Thompson and Mrs. Ralph Lorimer.

Receiving were Mrs. Emil Fritsch, Mrs. Arthur Finley and Mrs. W. W. Bruner, and pouring were Mrs. Harry Cooper and Mrs. F. Clark Porter.

☆ ☆ ☆

Tomorrow, Miss Julia Adams and her mother, Mrs. Edson F. Adams and Miss Isabelle Wheaton will sail for the states from Europe. They have been over for several months. En route home a brief visit will be made with Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Simpson (Elizabeth Adams), who make their home in New York.

Miss Wheaton will visit with her kinsfolk, Mr. and Mrs. Silas Palmer, in San Francisco upon her return.

☆ ☆ ☆

Miss Regina Knudsen was the guest of honor on Saturday afternoon in Alameda when Miss Artha Bartel gave a bridge party for the bride-elect. This was the last social affair before the wedding of Miss Knudsen and Douglas Stafford at 5:00 o'clock on Christmas day at the home of Captain and Mrs. Christian A. Knudsen in the Encinal city.

☆ ☆ ☆

MISS FLORENCE FINLEY, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Finley of Prospect Drive, who was hostess at a beautifully appointed tea on Saturday afternoon.

For babies tortured by chafing or rashes or any of the other skin troubles to which infants and children are subject, mothers will find that Resinol Ointment stands unsurpassed. Doctors and nurses recommend it with utmost confidence because of its harmless ingredients and its success in healing eczema.

Stops the itching and burning at once, and hastens the healing.

Resinol Soap might well be called a toilet soap for babies, because its action is so gentle yet it cleanses so thoroughly. Many mothers have adopted its use exclusively, claiming that it keeps baby's skin healthy and his hair soft and silky. Sold by all druggists.

Henry Brecks To Berlin

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cushman Breck are en route to Berlin, where the former is to serve as assistant to S. Parker Gilbert of the Dawes reparations committee. The Brecks will probably live in the German capital for the next three years.

Mr. Breck, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Breck of this city, has had a brilliant career since his graduation in 1914 from the University of California, where he took a prominent part in activities and was a member of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity. During the war he was a captain in the A. E. F. and later became the secretary of Norman Davis of the reparations committee. He is the brother of Mrs. Donald Lamont and Earl Breck.

Mrs. Breck was Miss Dorothy Reynolds of San Francisco and Mill Valley, and also has an interesting war record to her credit.

☆ ☆ ☆

The speaker for the December salon of the University of Fine Arts Society to be held in the gold ballroom of the Fairmont will be Professor B. R. Baumgardt, celebrated lecturer, whose topic will be "The Romance of Human Progress." The program will be given the afternoon of December 16.

☆ ☆ ☆

Charles Teagues Here For Winter

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Teague of St. Helena have closed their home in Napa county and have leased the residence of Mrs. Percy Murdock for the winter.

The little daughter of the Teagues will be christened in the chapel of the old Butters home, now occupied by the Little Sisters of the Poor. The paneling used in this room was once a part of the old St. Margaret's church in England and brought over by the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Butters.

Informal Parties For Brides-Elect

Another bride-elect who was the incentive for a pretty affair on the week-end was Miss Alice Ridley, who was honoree at a shower and tea given by Miss Dorothea Dobson at her home in Valle Vista.

Miss Ridley is the fiance of John Barry, a San Francisco man, and the wedding of the two is planned for the first of the year.

Miss Redley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Ridley of Mandana boulevard.

Her fiance is a graduate of the College of the Pacific and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barry of San Francisco.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Backus on Adams street was the scene of a pretty home wedding Saturday evening, when Miss Alice Williams of Fresno became the bride of Anthony Dean. Rev. Harry McCready read the service in the presence of a group of relatives and intimate friends.

The bride, who is a former University of California student, wore a charming frock of coral chiffon, and carried a shower bouquet of cyclamen, gardenias and lilies of the valley. Miss Alice Williams, her niece and maid of honor, wore a frock of white silk. John Williams, brother of the bride, was the groomsman.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean left immediately after the wedding for a motor trip to Carmel and the southern part of the State. They will make their home for the present near Fresno, where Mr. Dean is engaged in an engineering project. The bridegroom is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Miss Flora Randolph was the hostess Saturday at an informal reception and bridge whist at the Randolph school in Berkeley. Nearly 100 friends of the school were present.

Patronesses of the affair included Mesdames Annie L. Hanse, William M. Boyer, E. J. Burg, A. H. Coates, Charles Griffith, Russell B. Holabird, Catherine M. Johnson, Fred Manning Miller, O. D. Murdock, Foster Peterson, H. C. Reid, E. J. Weber, W. N. Nelson, E. W. Davies, Joseph C. Whitnah and Dr. Lenore Ginno.

STATE BOARD OF CHIROPRACTICS TO FACE OUSTER SUIT

Members Disqualified Under Law Will Be Charge in Procedings.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—Charges that the members of the State Board of Chiropractic Examiners do not possess the legal qualifications for their offices, are to be filed in the Superior court in an attempt to have the entire board ousted.

Permission to institute quo warranto proceedings to test the right of the five members of the board to hold their positions, to which they were recently appointed by Governor Richardson, was granted today to Joseph A. Sanford of the Western College of Chiropractic, by Attorney-General U. S. Webb. Sanford announced that the proceedings themselves would follow shortly.

The charge against the present members is the same as that which caused the removal of the previous board. It is claimed that one of the five members has practiced chiropractic under a California license for the past three years, as required by the legislative act of 1921, which created the board.

The present board consists of J. K. Gilgerson of Glendale, W. H. Clayton of San Francisco, W. W. Tait of Berkeley, James Compton of Oakland, and H. D. McFarland of Los Angeles.

COL. EMERY SMITH BURIED IN EAST

Lieutenant-Colonel Emery T. Smith, at one time instructor in field artillery with the California National Guard at Oakland, who died at Fort Leavenworth on December 3, was buried today at Washington, D. C.

Smith enlisted in the 14th Infantry as a private in the Spanish-American War and went to the Philippines at the time of the insurrection. He rose to the rank of second lieutenant. During the Boxer Rebellion he was in China and on his return was made aide to Major-General J. Franklin Bell. He served on the Mexican border and it was following this that he came to Oakland to become instructor in the local National Guard. He later went to the Presidio in San Francisco and assisted in organizing the "Grizzlies." He was sent to France at the outbreak of the World War as colonel, in command of the 106th Field Artillery of the 27th Division.

He is survived by his widow, two sons, McCain and Peter of Washington, a brother, William H. Smith, Jr., and a sister, Isabel H. Smith of San Francisco.

CHECKS INCREASE TOTAL FOR CHEST

Collections from persons who subscribed to the Community Chest at the last campaign have been excellent, and the indications are that this year's total will run nearly 100 per cent, according to a statement by E. W. Williams, the chest executive, with officers in the Oakland Bank building.

"We have already collected better than 92 per cent of the year's total," said Williams, "and some word of appreciation is due for the thousands of men and women who have so scrupulously lived up to the pledges which they made.

"It may not be amiss to remind the subscribers that we have our December checks to send out to the agencies, and that we will appreciate their cooperation in making 1924 a record breaker in the matter of collections. Last year we collected 98 per cent, a total much higher than the average among the 250 Community Chest organizations throughout the country.

"Through the cooperation of the public the forty-three agencies which make up the Chest in Oakland, have been receiving their checks promptly each month, and this has enabled them all to function efficiently along their various lines of endeavor.

"The time is approaching when plans must be made for another campaign, and we are urging the few persons who have not sent in [illegible] ance with their pledge to do so at once, so that the decks may be cleared for the next drive."

M'DONOUGH JAIL ORDER DUE TODAY

A United States Supreme Court order, committing Pete McDonough, convicted bootlegger, to the Alameda county jail is expected today by the circuit court of appeals in San Francisco.

The papers will be signed by Federal Judge Partridge. McDonough having been convicted in Partridge's court.

When the papers have been signed, Marshal Fred Esola will take McDonough to the Alameda county jail, pending the outcome of request for his pardon, which is now in the hands of President [illegible]

McDonough's arrest followed a raid on his establishment situated near the Hall of Justice. A $1000 fine was imposed and he was sentenced to 15 months in prison.

N. High Girls to Give Holiday Fete

The annual "Christmas spread" of University high school will be held Wednesday at 3:30 p. m., sponsored by the senior girls' athletic association. Gymnasium teams will participate in a song contest. Athletic awards for the fall semester will be given by Miss Marion Avery, director of physical education. Songs, dances and acts will be staged by students, ending with a feast.

Churches Hear Bryan Plan to Banish War

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 8. — Methods to outlaw war were outlined today to the Federal Council of churches in session here, in addresses prepared for delivery today by William Jennings Bryan and Dr. James T. Shotwell, director of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

"To avoid war it is necessary first to cultivate a sentiment against war, and, second, to devise a machinery for the settlement of disputes that have heretofore led to war," said Bryan. "'The will to peace' is one of the happiest phrases so far coined in the interest of peace.

"We need a world court for the settlement of all questions that can be submitted to arbitration, but these are comparatively few and not of the first importance."

22 Great Holiday Stores United for Service and Values

THE CHRISTMAS SUN IS SHINING

The whole of humanity is warming under the bright effulgence of the Christmas sun. Cold hearts are melting beneath its rays of friendship, love and charity. This great twelfth-month searchlight is now turned on every individual to discover in what way he or she is going to express the Christmas spirit of giving. As it is always the thought and not the costliness of the gift that really counts, it is possible for every one to radiate and spread happiness among his fellowmen.

For happy children and young people, loving fathers and mothers, and the grandfolks who live their lives over again in the growing family around them, the Christmas sun brings smiles for many, many days after that sun has set.

The Christmas sun is reflected in Oakland Shopping News stores in the Christmas gifts displayed. These gifts have caught the spirit of brightness and shine out from these 22 institutions—real Christmas stores in merchandise, service and spirit.

They serve not only as markets supplying ample and abundant stocks of carefully selected gift merchandise; not only as individual stores giving their earnest efforts in their respective locations to help solve gift problems happily; but they also act as great united organizations functioning as single units but with the great common purpose of providing East Bay Shoppers every possible convenience for accomplishing their Christmas shopping in a minimum of time, and with the greatest ease and permanent satisfaction.

DR. JORDAN WINS $25,000 PRIZE FOR PEACE PLAN

Committee Working With Schools Is Scheme of Stanford Head.

AUGUSTA, Me., Dec. 8.—Dr. David Starr Jordan, chancellor emeritus of Leland Stanford university, has been awarded the prize of $25,000 offered by Raphael Herman of Washington, D. C., for the best educational plan calculated to maintain world peace.

Announcement of the award was made here by Dr. Augustus O. Thomas, commissioner of education for Maine and president of the World Federation of Education associations, which directed the contests. Thousands of plans were submitted for the consideration of the judges.

The world federation of education was organized as an outgrowth of the world conference on education which met at San Francisco in 1923.

FOR USE IN SCHOOLS.

The award, Dr. Thomas explained, differs from that offered by Edward Bok in that it calls for no legislative action and will not be submitted to referendum vote. The plan selected, it was stipulated, must be world wide and capable of application in all schools.

Dr. Jordan in his plan recommends that "the World Federation make intensive study of certain matters pertinent to world amity through the continuous operation of appropriate committees on education for peace, these to report at stated meetings of the federation and to the various national organizations, corresponding to and including our own national education association, indicating at the same time lines of action likely to contribute toward international concord. Meanwhile, one must admit that any specified procedure can be at best only a step toward the development of enlightened public opinion and co-operation in effecting mutual understanding among people."

Indicating "certain lines of hopeful activity within the scope of the world federation, Dr. Jordan suggested the formation of a number of committees, among them being:

"The formation of a general world committee on education for peace, and a second international committee to co-operate with many already established organizations for peace.

"A committee to investigate the present teaching of the history of the world, reporting also on text books used, from the standpoint of international amity and stressing the need that history should not be perverted in the supposed interest of national 'honor' or partisanship.

"A committee on the teaching of patriotism which shall attempt to define its true nature, expressing its value, its limitations and its perversions.

SPORTS ARE STRESSED.

"A committee to consider plans of promoting mutual international understanding on the part of students.

"A committee to consider the possibilities of better relations through the international use of athletic sports.

"A committee to consider the possibilities of a continuous effort to commit the visible influence of the government of the United States to a definite activity in behalf of peace by means of a bureau in the department of state.

"A committee to consider without prejudice the question of military training in schools and colleges.

"A committee to consider 'preparedness' in regard to the educational, economic and social aspects.

"A committee to consider standing incentives to war and the possibility of their abating through legislation the influence of public opinion, or otherwise.

"NECESSITY" STUDY URGED.

"A general study, through a committee and through individual investigation of the current argument, for war as a cosmic necessity.

"A committee to study The Hague court of arbitration, also the present Permanent Court of International Justice.

"A committee to consider the league of nations.

SCRAMBLED NEWS

EASTBAY.

To comply with popular desire on the part of the public for smoking cars at either end of the local cars, twelve cars are now being divided by the Southern Pacific Railway company into two equal compartments, one of which is to be for the use of passengers desiring to smoke, and the other for those who do not; these cars will be distributed among the Alameda, Berkeley and Seventh street local trains and there will then be accommodations for smokers at each end of the local trains; it is expected that the cars will be ready for use by the first of next year, and the innovation will be welcomed by many patrons of the road. Miss Mary Cope of Pleasanton is spending some time in San Jose.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Peck of Pleasanton are visiting in San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs. Fred McDougall of Pleasanton are visiting in Oakland for a few days. Mrs. N. T. Nelson of Pleasanton left there Sunday for Salinas, where she will spend Christmas with relatives. The doors of the Chabot home on Madison street are to be thrown open Saturday for the largest tea of the winter, the Fabiola Calendar tea, which never fails to attract society folk from both sides of the bay. A new fifty horsepower dynamo was received at the machine shops of the Southern Pacific Railway company in Oakland Saturday and will be put up within the course of a few days. Robert Yates, foreman of the S. P. machine shops here, took yesterday off for the purpose of meeting his sister from the East.

At the semi-annual election held by the Students' Congress of the University of California recently, L. D. Bohnett of the class of 1906 was chosen speaker for the next term; S. H. Beach of the class of 1905 was chosen as speaker pro tem; H. L. Hagan of the class of 1906 was elected clerk; C. L. Smith as treasurer; and D. M. Evans of the class of 1905, M. C. Lynch of the class of 1906 and E. Nathan of the class of 1905 were chosen as members of the executive committee; a meeting of the Students' Congress will be held in Stiles hall next term instead of in North hall as heretofore. The short courses in agriculture at the University of California will close next Friday, it is announced.

An entertainment called "Ye Old Time Concert" will be given by the women members of the Hayward Improvement club tomorrow; the Hayward opera house will be the scene of the festivities; the program will include music, literary numbers and a Colonial tea; dancing will follow the supper. President Benjamin Ide Wheeler of the University of California today received a letter from Dr. A. C. True, director of the experiment station of the United States department of agriculture at Washington, D. C., urging upon the university authorities the formulation of a broad and definite plan for increasing the equipment of the university agricultural department. The Fruitvale board of trade met Tuesday evening in Masonic hall for the transaction of routine business.

ELSEWHERE.

A Tokyo despatch states that the commander of the battery of naval guns reporting at 2:30 p. m. today says: "At 12:30 o'clock today it became certain that the battleship Peresviet had been sunk; she is in the same condition as the battleship Poltava; the protected cruiser Pallada is beginning to list to port; we are vigorously bombarding the Pallada at the present time." The cold weather is not affecting the Japanese soldiers, according to word received from the front, although the temperature has already reached a few degrees below the zero mark; there are only a few reported on the sick list among the troops; another Tokyo despatch states that the effective bombardment of the Russian battleships in Port Arthur, which began Saturday, was one of the results of the capture of 203-Meter Hill.

Things they Ask the Tribune

BUREAU OF INFORMATION

"Please tell me in the column of The TRIBUNE Information Bureau if the prisoners at San Quentin have a radio?"

From information received from the office of the State Board of Prison Directors a radio has not yet been installed at San Quentin. A set was installed at Folsom Prison but as yet it has not been possible to work out a plan for its satisfactory use, and until such a plan is perfected it would be useless to install one at San Quentin where the difficulties are much greater, it was said.

"Kindly tell me do the Portuguese people belong to the white race?"

Yes; the Portuguese are classed as a pure white race.

"How many pounds is one allowed to send to Germany by parcel post this year?"

Twenty-two pounds is the maximum one can send to Germany by parcel post this year.

"Will you tell me if there is any place in Oakland where I can have feathers in feather pillows cleaned?"

If the reader who desires this information will look in the Classified sections of the Telephone and City Directories, under Feather Cleaning Companies, he will find a list of companies that make a specialty of cleaning feathers.

"Kindly inform me why Harold Lloyd wears a glove on his right hand? I notice it in every one of his pictures."

Very early in the stage career of Harold Lloyd his right hand was injured; while he has the use of it he wears a glove to cover the slight disfiguration.

"Please print the name of the author and the poem from which the following verses are taken."

"Oh, why should the spirit of mortal be proud?
Like a swift-fluttering meteor, a fast-flying cloud,
A flash of the lightning, a break of the wave,
Man passeth from life to his rest in the grave.

'Tis the wink of an eye; 'tis the draught of a breath
From the blossom of health to the paleness of death,
From the gilded saloon to the bier and the shroud;
Oh, why should the spirit of mortal be proud?"

The above verses are from the poem entitled "Oh Why Should the Spirit of Mortal Be Proud," by William Knox.

The TRIBUNE Information Bureau will answer all questions of a general nature except school or legal problems, debates, trade and time of day.

If answers are desired by mail, stamps must be enclosed. Quick results can be obtained by telephoning to the bureau. If you have any problems of a general nature to solve, ask The TRIBUNE Information Bureau, Lakeside 6000.

BAY ELKS HOLD RITES TO HONOR LATE MEMBERS

Annual "Lodge of Sorrow" Pays Tribute; Relatives Guests at Services.

Elk lodges about the bay held their annual lodge of sorrow yesterday, to the memory of their members who had died during the year. Relatives of the deceased members were in attendance at the various services, which included musical and oratorical programs.

Oakland Lodge, No. 171, held its ceremonies in its lodge rooms at 420 Fourteenth street. Attorney Fred B. Mellman was chairman of the memorial committee. Lodge officers, headed by Frank A. Fletcher, exalted ruler, performed the opening ceremonies. The oration was given by Superior Judge Lincoln S. Church, and the benediction by William N. Friend.

PROGRAM OF MUSIC.

The musical program included a cello solo by Miss Grace Becker, accompanied by Miss Jessie Moore; a quartet selection, "Lead Kindly Light," by R. A. Brown, C. A. Rieser, Clarence Oliver and Clement Rowlands; a baritone solo, "Rest in the Lord," by Clarence Oliver, with Edgar Thorpse at the piano; a cello solo, Schubert's "Ave Maria," by Miss Becker; "The Long Day Closes," by the quartet; and "Auld Lang Syne," by the quartet and the audience.

The lodge members who had died during the year, and in whose honor the services were given, were as follows:

W. L. Friedman, J. B. Agassiz, I. B. Cruz, R. S. Kitchner, G. L. Yager, T. L. Carroll, E. Entelman, J. Casavant, C. L. Sturm, F. W. Lewis, J. G. Thompson, B. F. Galvin, W. E. O'Connor, E. T. Foley, W. Baehr, E. F. Young, W. Machek, F. G. Bowbotham, R. Fallemr, F. R. Paulson, I. P. Cook, C. A. F. Thomas, W. F. Fletcher, J. F. Cavallo, L. V. Hedrick, C. C. Barton, J. H. Nedderman, H. W. Hanno, F. Freeman, J. V. Fitzsimmons, J. A. Beckwith Jr., F. W. Anderson, H. C. Craft, J. Mitchell, W. Hughes, C. F. Williams, J. Monzo, W. J. Donovan, D. J. Hanlon, W. J. Rodda.

S. F. LODGE HOLDS RITES.

Members of San Francisco Lodge No. 3 held their services in the Curran Theater. The ritual was conducted by Exalted Ruler August L. Fourtner, and J. J. Lormen, past exalted ruler, was orator of the day.

Shingle Makers to Convene at Seattle

SEATTLE, Dec. 8.—More than 500 leading shingle manufacturers of the north Pacific coast district are expected in Seattle this week to attend the eighth annual convention of the red cedar shingle congress. The sessions will be held Thursday and Friday in Seattle's new $5,500,000 hotel, the Olympic. A pre-convention meeting, scheduled for Wednesday, is the fourth annual shingle saw filers and foremen's conference.

The Hoo Hoos will have their banquet Thursday night.

Kansas City Doctor Invents New Truss

New Discovery Heals Rupture Without An Operation

Kansas City, Mo. (Special).—A new discovery which, experts agree, has no equal for curative effects in all rupture cases, is the latest accomplishment of the well-known Hernia Specialist, Dr. Andrews, 268-H Koch Bldg., Kansas City, Mo. The extraordinary success of this new method proves that it holds and heals a rupture. It weighs only a few ounces. Has no hard gouging pads, no elastic belt, no leg straps, no steel bands, and is as comfortable as a light garment. It has enabled hundreds of persons to throw away trusses and declare their rupture absolutely healed. Many of these had serious double ruptures, from which they had suffered for years. It is Dr. Andrews' ambition to have every ruptured person enjoy the quick relief, comfort and healing power of his discovery, and he will send it on free trial to any reader of The TRIBUNE who writes him. He wants one person in each neighborhood to whom he can refer. If you wish to be rid of rupture for good, without an operation, take advantage of the doctor's free offer. Write him today. —Advertisement.

Wife's Angry Letter Loses Divorce Suit

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—A letter which Mrs. Ethel Hill wrote to her husband in an angry moment caused her to lose her divorce suit and the custody of her two children. In the letter she said: "When I married you I married the whole family, including an empty-headed shell of a man. I detest you every minute of the day. I hate the sound of your voice. I despise our children because you are their father. You are welcome to them and to your idiotic vows of eternal love. I shall find happiness elsewhere, and I have no regard for public opinion."

706,896 ALIENS ENTER U.S. UNDER NEW QUOTA RULE

Total Approximating Three-Fourths of Old Figure Revealed in Report.

BY UNITED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

WASHINGTON, Dec 8.—Despite the restrictive quota law, the number of immigrants admitted into the United States during the past fiscal year was almost as large as before the law was passed, the annual report of Commissioner of Immigration Husband showed today.

A total of 706'896 aliens were admitted during the year, against 309 556 in 1922 and 522 556 in 1923 Before the law was passed the annual influx was close to one million. The increase during the past year was due to arrivals from Canada, Mexico and other Western Hemisphere countries, which are not covered by the quota law, according to Husband.

More and more immigrants are coming to the United States from North European countries, while the quota law effectively bars the influx from the Mediterranean area, the report shows.

English-speaking immigrants during the past year aggregated 200 265, or 28 3 per cent, as compared with 107,199, or eight per cent in 1924

German immigrants numbered 95 627, and Scandinavians totaled 40 978, both big increases. Further increases from these regions are forecas under the new law which went into effect on July 1.

Southern and Eastern Europe and Turkey numbered only 161,813 last year.

Emigrants from the United States fell off in number, only 76,759 returning to the "old countries" during the year. Before the war the outgoing tide was about on-third of the incomers

Smuggling of aliens into this country continues to increase, Husband said No estimate of the number of aliens illegally entering was given, but the report pointed out an index that desertions of alien seamen from their ships in American ports totaled 34,679 last year, compared with a previous annual average of 8573 when there were no restrictive laws

'THE DUST HEAP' STIRS PRAISE AT FULTON THEATER

Virile Melodrama Interpreted by Company With Thrills, Action.

By WOOD SOANES.

"If it were not for religion of some sort we would all be in the dust heap of humanity!"

This thought, expressed somewhat as above, is the keynote of "The Dust Heap," the newest New York production to reach the coast via the Fulton theater.

From this, it might be supposed that "The Dust Heap" is a quiet gentle sort of theatrical sermon conducive to mild uplift and unagitated entertainment.

One can aim imagine the authors, Bernard J. McOwen and Paul Dickey, enjoying a merry sleeve-chuckle, when they wrote the final scene, for, if the first-nighter expected that sort of play, he was destined to the most violent kind of surprise.

"The Dust Heap" is a melodrama in the full and complete sense of the word. It deals with "the frozen north," "the great outdoors where men are what they are," and all the other familiar figures of the good old rough and ready drama of a by-gone day.

ROLES FITTED TO MELODRAMA

A glance at the cast of characters reveals as much, for there are to be found the stalwart Royal Mounted who gets his man willy nilly; the squaw girl for whom the rowdies gamble; the beloved clergyman; the sinister Oriental, keeper of a low dive; the good bad-woman; and, in this instance, a Pierre of the Plains who is bad clean through.

This last named character is really the hero of the piece. Not that he does anything particularly heroic, but because he dominates every scene because he is so evil. He is undoubtedly the most blasphemous character ever written for the stage, a man who curses his Creator at every possible moment and whose tongue is only silenced by the click of the steel on his wrists as he falls victim to the inevitable police.

Played by John Ivan, this Jules Toussaint became one of the most dominant villains ever presented on the stage of the Fulton, and, at that, Ivan did all in his power to sand-paper the character into something resembling gentility by reading a comedy touch into his milder speeches. But the character, written for Louis Pennison, wins in the end.

ANOTHER BRIGHT SPOT.

Another bright spot in the evening was contributed by Lawrence White, who comes forth every so often with a cameo, and then retires into the obscurity of butlers and valets. This time he played "Harry Mims," the Cockney barkeep of "The Dust Heap" dive near Dawson, and laughter followed in his wake as naturally as the steel to the magnet.

"The Dust Heap" is a virile drama with plenty of action and a second act climax that evoked the unfred praise of the first nighters, who sat awe-sticken when a beam from the ceiling fell back upon the neck of the villain who was strong enough to survive even that. It has its romance, as is to be expected, with Norman Field as the policeman and Ruth Renick as the squaw girl who isn't a squaw at all.

It is a play that demands attention from its auditors and went like the proverbial house-afire last evening.

Mischa Elman Comes To Oakland Friday

Oakland music lovers have been clamoring for seats for the performance to be given in the Oakland Auditorium Theater by Mischa Elman Friday evening of this week, according to Zannette W. Potter, under whose local management the "king of violinists" is to appear here and only a few good seats are now available for the recital.

Elman is one of the very few superlatively great violinists in the world today, according to critics, and his appearance in any city is an event of importance in musical circles.

It is said that the great Russian violinist has at his fingers' tips almost 200 numbers, sonatas, concert numbers and smaller pieces, such as encore numbers, which he plays from memory. The violinist has arranged a program of unusual interest.

Symphony Concert Scheduled Thursday

The first concert of the Oakland season of the San Francisco Symphony orchestra, Alfred Hertz, conductor, will be held Thursday evening at the Oakland Municipal Auditorium theater.

Every indication points to an overflow audience. The opening concert is one of four "pops" that will divide the symphonic season with "three regulars," closing on March 26.

The program for Thursday's event follows:

1. Overture, "Lenore No. 3".....Beethoven
2. "Unfinished Symphony".....Schubert
3. "Till Eulenspiegel's Merry Pranks".....R. Strauss
4. Concerto in E Minor.....Chopin

Miss Muri Silba, pianiste, will be soloist for the occasion.

Isa Kremer to Give Recital at Lurie

Called the greatest artistic discovery of the season, Isa Kremer, the famous international balladist and singer, will be offered in her first Eastbay recital at the Oakland Lurie Theater Monday evening, December 15, under the management of the Elwyn Concert Bureau.

According to critics, Mme. Kremer's art is so unique and original that she cannot be compared to the conventional recitalist. She gives not only the songs of all nations, but also the characteristics and mannerism of the people. At her Oakland concert she will offer French, Italian, English, Russian and German folk songs.

P.-T. A. PLANS LUNCHEON.

A luncheon for the benefit of the school fund is announced by the Lafayette Parent-Teacher Association for tomorrow noon. The meal will be served in the school clubrooms. Bundles of clothing, magazines and shoes were contributed by mothers for the Junior Red Cross.

CURTAIN CALLS By Wood Soanes

SIR: Your article in today's paper (presumably the Curtain Call on the passing of the Tivoli. Ed.) will probably arouse a lot of memories regarding the old time amateur, legitimate and variety actors of the early eighties in and around San Francisco bay.

"It is not generally known that as a boy, forty years ago, George M. Cohan played at old Platt's Hall on Montgomery street where the Mills building now stands as the youngest of the Four Cohans in an Irish skit called 'Scenes in Ireland' in which Jerry Cohan was Barney the Guide.

"Billy Brady, though not a native son, spent his boyhood days in San Francisco and was the son of an Irish newspaperman then the editor of 'The Monitor.' Young Brady was a news agent on the old 'toy cars' built by Senator James G. Fair, which ran from Fourteenth and Franklin streets to Santa Cruz via Alameda.

TWENTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

"Caprice," the Minnie Maddern hit, is being presented at the Alcazar this week.

"His first performance of any note was as 'Ole Tom' in 'Under the Gaslight.' This was produced under his management one Sunday night at Baldwin's theater where the Parrott building now stands. Augustin Daly, who owned the play, written by Dion Boucicault, sued Brady for piracy.

"Later Brady and George Webster organized a company and toured the state in repertoire, their principal play being 'The Bottom of the Sea.' Then they bought two worn out melodramas from Joseph R. Grismer, 'The Wages of Sin' and 'The Hoop of Gold.' The plays were by Charles Marbury and William Ovetton and had been brought from Australia.

"Grismer, who married Phoebe Davies, daughter of a San Francisco sea captain, made a pot of money playing up and down the coast and then turned to 'Monte Cristo' and made a fortune. In his company were such old favorites as Lee and Scott Cooper, no relation; Margaret Marshall; George Trader—all of the old Alcazar stock company.

Dan Lyons Writes of Good Old Days

"Grismer was a finished actor and after leaving the coast went to New York and went into partnership with Brady leasing Ned Harrington's old theater. He produced 'Way Down East' with Phoebe Davies in the leading part. Grismer, as I recall, first appeared in San Francisco in 'Snowflake' at Grand Opera House at Mission and Third streets.

"This was under the management of Stockwell and Andrews. When Grismer came back to San Francisco it was with William E. Sheridan, the Philadelphia tragedian. They opened at the Baldwin in 1880 in 'Louis XI.' Grismer was a very good Nemours in that vehicle but Sam Wetherill, the manager of the theater, did not think so.

"In that company besides Sheridan were Harry Colton, Laura Don, John W. Jennings, Mrs. Saunders and the stately A. D. Bradley. Grismer was a Civil War veteran and carried a heavy scar on his right cheek from a sword thrust. He was killed by a New York street car a few years ago at the age of 70, worth several million dollars.

FORTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

Henry Irving is appearing in "the Silver King" at the Brooklyn theater.

"San Francisco has ever been the home of minstrelsy, vaudeville and the legit. Besides the old variety theaters such as the Bella Union and Adelphi there were a great many halls where the amateur used to foist his wares on an unsuspecting public. At the Bella Union were Harry Montague and the Duncan Sisters, Cowgill Brothers, Johnson and Cooper, Sam Rickey; at the Adelphi John B. Dyllon, Jeff and Sally De Angelis, Charles Mestayer, Mollie Williams, Dockstader Brothers, Sam Dearin and Ada and Billie Deaves.

"That's hall was the home of the Golden City and the Garden City Minstrels, Gilbert and Goldie, the Two Sheridans, clog dancers; Biggy Brothers, jig dancers; Burns and Donnolly, Irish comedians, and Ornderff and McDonald, song and dance artists, were among the many who succeeded here and later won fame in New York. . . .

Sincerely, Dan J. Lyons."

EXITS AND ENTRANCES

There is more to Lyons' letter but space forbids at the moment. It might be explained, however, that he is one of the old timers whose interest in the stage attracted him behind but not before the footlights. Of him, more later.

* * *

Weber and Fields are coming to Oakland along in February, according to word received by Al Warshauer, dictator of the local Orpheum.

* * *

Borden Harriman, the youngest of the Harrimans, who is stage struck, is still on Broadway. Having served an apprenticeship at the menial chore of opening doors in "Queen Victoria," he has now advanced to the position of soldier in "Paola and Francesca," being presented at special matinees.

* * *

Ladde Cliff is to be the newest A. H. Woods' star. His vehicle is to be "The Co-Optimists," more or less the rage in London for a season or two.

* * *

Robert Ames is not going to desert Helen MacKellar in "The Desert Flower." It was bruited about that he would be transferred to the lead of 'The Cat Came Back," but this task has finally been alloted to Elliott Nugent of "Kempy" fame.

* * *

Margaret Anglin and William Faversham are proving a winning attraction in the south where they are touring in "Foot-Loose," and catching as many loose dollars as 20,000 each and every week.

* * *

William Harris Jr. is getting busy. Vincent Lawrence has written "Two Married Men" for him; and Margaret Stanley, author of "My Son," is working on another one.

* * *

Rosamond Pinchot is announced to continue her stage career under the tutelage of Morris Gest when she finishes with "The Miracle," if ever.

* * *

"The Rivals," headed by Mrs. Fiske, will continue on the road this season instead of striking out for Broadway. The whys of this move are not given but the financial statements give a pretty fair idea of the reasons for adhering to one-nighters and such.

'NORTH OF 36' IS FEATURE ON AMERICAN BILL

Emerson Hough's Great Story of Texas Life of Early Days Full of Thrills.

Emerson Hough's remarkable story, "North of 36," is running at the American theater this week, as the screen attraction.

Irvin Willat, the Paramount director, laid his every plan carefully and well, fully appreciating not only the tremendous "punch" of the story, but likewise realizing the millions of readers of the novel will sit in judgment of his creation.

Realism he has achieved to the furthest, not only in the strict adherence to atmosphere and type, and Indian strategy, building steadily and logically to the climax which finds everyone satisfied that here, indeed, is a smashing, gripping, historical epic that presents, not only the very zenith of entertainment, but at the same time, as was the case with Emerson Hough's former novel, "The Covered Wagon," gives one, in animation, those striking episodes which played such an important part in the building of the west.

On the same program the American is presenting a delightful comedy, a news reel and a thematic concert by Owen Sweeten and his orchestra.

WOMEN ESCAPE CHINESE BANDITS

HANKOW, China, Dec. 8.—Miss Elizabeth Ferglund and Miss Ineberg Mystul, missionaries of the Augustana Synod, who remained in their station at Juchow, Honan province, when bandits raided the place recently, have escaped and are with friends at Kiuhsien. Both missionaries are from Minnesota.

The bandits hold Juchow with 100 men. The soldiers refuse to fight them.

PEKIN, Dec. 8.—A mandate issued today by "Chief Executive" Tuan Chi-jui, head of the Central Chinese government, instructs the ministers of war and of the interior in his cabinet to institute a strict watch over the person of Tsao Kun, the deposed president, until he can be tried by a civil court on charges of bribery by which he attained the presidency last October.

It is alleged that Chang Tso-lin, the Manchurian war lord who was invading Chihli province and approachig Pekin with his troops at the time of the overthrow of President Tsao Kun by one of his own generals, deprecates the proposal to try Tsao Kun on the grounds that the trial will lead to further political turmoil.

Paradise Gardens Dance Events Set

"Hard Hearted Hannah," "Sweet Little You," and "Rock-a-bye My Baby Blues" set the feet atingling at the Paridse Gardens ballroom, Twelfth and Oak streets, these evenings.

Just as a sort of extra "kick," the management announces two special events for the week. Wednesday night is a Carnival Dance, with all its spirit of play and fun; and Friday night comes the prize fox trot, when dancing champions will vie for first honors. Social dances are held Saturday and Sunday evenings.

Star in Crash

J. WARREN KERRIGAN, famous movie star, is victim of an auto accident near Chicago, in which he was badly slashed when projected through a window of the car by the impact.

J. Warren Kerrigan Injured in Crash

DIXON, Ills., Dec. 8.—J. Warren Kerrigan, moving picture hero, with a party of Chicago friends, figured in an automobile accident near here this morning. Kerrigan was the only member of the party to be injured and was taken to the Dixon hospital. A young woman in a second car is near death from injuries.

Kerrigan was returning to Chicago from Sterling, where he appeared at the Lincoln theater Sunday, in an automobile belonging to Herbert T. Frankham, president of the National Booking office, Chicago, accompanied by Frankham, Miss Hazel Hamel, Frank Gehring and James Vincent, the latter Kerrigan's secretary. Driving in a heavy fog five miles south of Dixon, their car collided with a machine occupied by Miss Alma Rockwood, her brother Nathan, Harold Hicks and Miss Edith Reed, all of Amboy.

Kerrigan was thrown through a glass window of the automobile, receiving a deep gash over the left eye, numerous minor cuts and bruises. He continued his trip to Chicago by train today.

Rain Couldn't Stop Them—

Despite the steady rain yesterday and Saturday, local theatre-goers turned out en masse for the Oakland premiere of "NORTH OF 36" at the AMERICAN.

Beats "Covered Wagon"—

The prevailing opinion of those who were fortunate enough to see it yesterday was, "that 'North of 36' is even more thrilling than 'The Covered Wagon.'"

By All Means See It—

But attend the matinee and early evening performances to avoid standing in line for seats.

MEDDLING WOMEN IS ATTRACTION ON FOX-OAKLAND BILL

"Meddling Women" heads the current program at the Fox-Oakland theater, the accompanying bill being one of unusually well-varied interest.

With a notable cast headed by Lionel Barrymore, America's most distinguished actor, the story sets forth the dramatic complications that disrupt the life of a young married couple, due to the interference of a meddling mother-in-law and sister-in-law. Tragedy is barely avoided. The plot is original and of timely interest and wide appeal, presented by a notable cast that, in addition to the featured player, includes Sigrid Holmquist, Dagmar Godowsky, Hugh Thompson and William Bechtel.

In addition the program provides "Stolen Sweetie," a comedy in which Max, Moritz and Pep, the well-known monkey screen actors, furnish many laughs. "The Bull Fight," a scenic special, Fox-Oakland news magazine, Kinograms and an excellent musical program by Leon Straslum and his fifteen musicians.

Following the close of the present program, Tuesday night, a complete change is to be presented, beginning Wednesday, for three days in which "Troubles of a Bride" will be the featured offering with a new comedy, news, scenic and novelty films.

For the Home! Hints in "Xmas Suggestions" (Want Ads).

"Blossom Time" Opens Tomorrow Night at Lurie

Shubert Musical Play Comes to Coast After Triumph Through East.

One of the most delightful musical play of years, "Blossom Time," will be presented by the Messrs. Shubert at the Oakland Lurie theater for a two-day engagement starting tomorrow night. A matinee will be given Wednesday.

"Blossom Time," at the Ambassador theater, New York, three years ago, ran there for a year and was then moved to the Jolson and Century theaters, where it ran for another year. Now in its fourth year, it has been seen in the larger cities of the country, where it has broken all house records for receipts.

The operetta is based on incidents in the life of Franz Schubert, the celebrated Viennese composer. The book and lyrics are by Dorothy Donelly. The music is from the melodies of Franz Schubert and H. Berte.

The various roles in the vehicle will be portrayed by the same New York Century theater cast which appeared here last season, it cluding Hollis Davenny as the composer, Gertrude Lang, Gregory Ratoff, Patrick Kelley, Teddy Webb, Amy Lester and Genee Leontovich.

United Veterans to Seek More Members

Veterans of all wars were invited to join at the last meeting of Quentin Roosevelt Unit of the United Veterans of the Republic, held in Memorial hall, Oakland City Hall, by Commander Joseph Fahner, Disabled War Veterans, who spoke on co-operation.

Commissioner of Public Health and Safety Frank Colbourn discussed the civil service laws of Oakland and asked the veterans to assist in curbing reckless auto driving. William R. Stratton presided.

'CAPTAIN BLOOD,' GREAT SEA TALE, TOPS T. & D. BILL

J. Warren Kerrigan in Title Role, Supported by Excellent Cost.

Romance and thrills are found at the T. & D. Theater screen, where "Captain Blood," the pirate film, is having a week's run.

Intensive action is the dominating feature of the film, which helps to accentuate the excellent acting by an all-star cast of Warren Kerrigan as Captain Peter Blood and Jeanne Paige as Arabelle give remarkably fine characterizations.

The powerful and interesting Sabatini story is also a fit setting and background for the thrilling sea fights.

The picture is one of the best dramatic tales of sea life that has been filmed.

Walt Roesner and his supersoloists play semi-classical and popular numbers in a concert in the Fanchon & Marco offering. Otto Ploetz, tenor, sings "Song of Songs," which brings out the rich melody of the song. Frisco Nick, comical "hoofer" and pantomine artist, gives the audience incitation to laughter with his new tricks.

RUTH ST. DENIS AND TED SHAWN AT AUDITORIUM

Tonight at the Oakland Auditorium theater Zannette W. Potter will present as the second attraction of her Artists Concert Series for the 1924-25 season, Ruth St. Denis, Ted Shawn and a corps of twenty supreme dance interpreters, known as the Denishawn Dancers, in a series of dance dramas, spectacles and divertisements.

A feature of the performance, which is calculated to appeal especially to concert patrons and music lovers, is the string quartette composed of piano, violin, [illegible] Horst, celebrated pianist, which will play the accompaniments.

A series of divertisements danced by Ruth St. Denis and Ted Shawn, her famous dancing partner, and comprising seven different numbers and seven different types of the dance, will open the performance. The first of these divertisements will be "Tragica," Miss St. Denis' latest contribution to the art of the dance, a creation known as the silent dance, executed without music. The program is crowded with other numbers of varied descriptions including the famous St. Denis "Music Visualizations."

'Gingham Girl' Will Run 4 Days at Lurie

With an all-star cast of vocalists and comedians, including Eddie Fetherston, former star of "Sally, Irene and Mary," and a chorus of beautiful girls, Schwab and Kusell's New York musical comedy hit, "The Gingham Girl," will open a four-day engagement at the Oakland Lurie Theater next Thursday evening.

The feature of the engagement will be the bargain matinee next Saturday afternoon.

[illegible] the song hits offered in the vehicle are "The Twinkle in Your Eye," "You Must Learn the Latest Dances," "As Long as I Have You," "Tell Her While the Waltz Is Playing" and "The Wonderful Thing We Call Love." Besides Fetherston the cast will include Madeline McMahon, Francesca Hill, Flo Irwin, Jack Waldron, Lillian Young, Thomas Keough, and George Thom. Sixteen song numbers, three big finales and six dancing features are offered in the production.

'GAMBLING WIVES' PICTURE FEATURE UPON STATE BILL

The exceptionally well balanced program that opened a three-day engagement at the State theater yesterday was greeted by capacity audiences and has as its feature screen attraction, "Gambling Wives," a vivid drama of today replete with stirring action, suspense, and big romantic situations. The cast is headed by Marjorie Daw, Ward Crane, Hedda Hopper and Lee Moran.

An extra attraction which also pleased was another of the "Fight and Win" stories by Gerald Beaumont, entitled "The Titleholder," featuring Jack Dempsey.

The vaudeville program was [illegible] Leo, in "Songs, Steps and Squibs," and Pennington and Mack with the "Act Unique." Others were Anderson and Smith, "Up in the Air"; Wilson and Dale, "Musical Moments," and Sam and Blanche Ross, "Neighborhood Pals."

Wednesday will bring to the State as the feature screen attraction Reginald Marker's big production, "Women Who Give," with an all-star cast.

Robert Warwick at Orpheum in Playlet

Appearing in a playlet that is so well written that it combines all of the light and shade of a three-act play, Robert Warwick, prime favorite of Oakland playgoers, returned for a brief visit at the Orpheum last night and won new plaudits for his finished dramatic playing.

"The Bonds That Separate" is the title of his offering, which has to do with a loveless marriage and its consequences, and is delightfully played, not only by Warwick, from whom good acting is expected, but his supporting company, notably R. Yamamoto, whose Japanese valet was one of the "fattest" parts in the piece and provided all of the comedy.

Warwick is surrounded by the Orpheum with an excellent bill opened by Sam Berk and Juanita Lamb in a novelty dancing act; Helene Heller and George Riler in "Sunshine and Pep," a singing turn of no mean talent; Murray and Alan, in a three-thousand-years-ago sketch that is little short of a riot, and Walter C. Kelley, our old friend, the "Virginian Judge."

Only the last act is negligible.—W. S.

TWO FACE CHARGE OF SHOOTING MAN IN MOLDER'S WAR

Former Head of Union Out On Bail After Accusal By Oklander.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—John F. Metcalf, former president of the Molders' union, is at liberty on $1000 bail today after being arrested last night on a warrant accusing him with assault with intent to kill in connection with the molders' war in the bay cities.

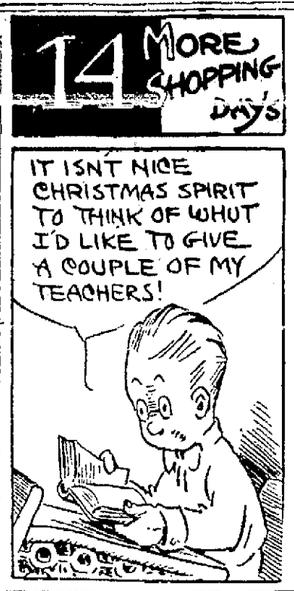

He was taken into custody at his residence, 1028 Alabama street, on a warrant sworn to by B. S. Edwards, 667 O'Farrell street, whom Metcalf is accused of shooting on the morning of November 25.

Edward Bodkin, 3232 East Tenth street, Oakland, is under arrest for alleged complicity in the same shooting. Edwards is said to have identified Bodkin as one of two men who shot him as he was on Malleable Castings company, Oakland. Through Bodkin the alleged part of Metcalf was made known.

Four shootings have been reported within the past few weeks as a result of the trouble between different factions in the molders' trade. A reward of $5000 has been posted for the arrest of the men who wounded Frank Brown, business agent of the Molders' union, last Sunday night.

W. E. D. Stokes' Trial Deferred to Jan. 12

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—The long fight of Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes to clear her name of stigma, suffered another delay in criminal court today when the trial of her husband, W. E. D. Stokes, on charges of conspiracy to defame her, scheduled for today, was postponed until January 12.

HOPKINS TO HAVE CHRISTMAS TREE

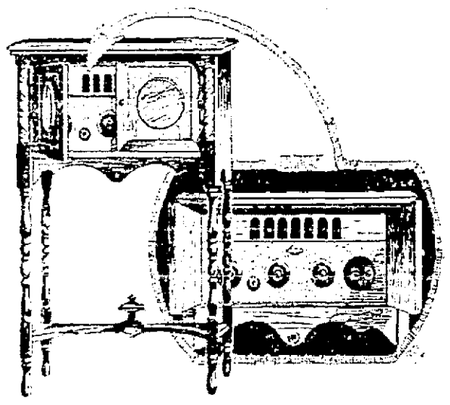

An extension of Hopkins street to Lake Merritt, the establishment of a branch bank, and a Christmas street carnival are projects being considered by the Hopkins Improvement Club.

H. L. Johnson, L. Bailey, and J. W. Bingaman are a committee investigating the proposed extension of Hopkins street from Seventy-third avenue through the Mills College grounds, and establishing a direct thoroughfare to the head of Lake Merritt.

Another committee, A. L. Bailey, J. J. Hales, J. A. McKeever, and H. L. Johnson, will report on establishment of a branch bank in the Hopkins business section.

At the Christmas street carnival there will be a community Christmas tree, at which toys and candy will be distributed to the children. music and dancing.

OAKLAND WOMAN'S HELP SOUGHT BY BANDIT SUSPECT

Joe Duncan Held in Connection With Bank Robbery, Breaks Silence.

WOODLAND, Dec. 8.—"Little Joe" Duncan, held as accomplice of William Pennick Richards in the Woodland Bank of Italy robbery, September 29, and one of those who attempted to break jail about a week ago by throwing pepper into Sheriff J. W. Monroe's eyes and then grappling for his gun, today made his first call from his cell in the jail to the outside world. Heretofore he has maintained a stubborn silence and asked no favors.

He sent a copy of a telegram to Sheriff Monroe, asking that it be sent, and expressing considerable anxiety regarding its delivery. The telegram was addressed to Mrs. Claira Villa, 3016 Adaline street, Oakland. The message read:

"Am wiring picket to you. Please come to this town Woodland. Take train at Fortieth and Shafter Electric line. Need you.

"Wire at once about your coming. Will have party meet you at train."

The message was not sent. Monroe stating that anyone who acts as Duncan has acted, does not deserve favors.

BRITAIN OBJECTS TO LEAGUE'S NAVY PROTOCAL TERMS

Delegates Assemble at Rome For Vital Conference On Armaments.

By HENRY WOOD,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

ROME, Dec. 8.—At a private session of the council of the League of Nations in the throne room of the imposing Doria palace, Austen Chamberlain, British foreign secretary, outlined today the objections of his government to the proposed protocol of disarmament and security which was the product of the League Assembly at Geneva in September.

Upon the outcome of Chamberlain's conferences with other members of the council depends the issue of whether the League of Nations is to take the lead in bringing about a new world disarmament conference or whether initiative in this is to be left to the United States.

The council members originally were summoned to prepare for a disarmament conference in June, 1925, and to put into effect the protocol signed by Ramsay MacDonald and Premier Herriot at Geneva.

Since the call for the meeting, however, Great Britain has balked at the terms of the protocol which, in effect, would obligate the British navy to enforce the agreement which was to have been realized in June.

The council undoubtedly will agree, as the protocol would be a mere "scrap of paper" without British support.

If the British foreign secretary's disclosure admits possibility of revision of the protocol to submit to Great Britain, the League will retain leadership in the next step towards world disarmament.

If not, the League will be forced to permit the United States to regain the role of peacemaker extraordinary. The way would then be opened for President Coolidge to summon the powers to the United States to discuss disarmament and the possible permanency of peace.

The dominions are backing the British government in its objections to making the grand fleet the league watchdog. It has been pointed out that under the terms of the protocol the fleet might be called upon to blockade ports in Central America, thus interfering with European trade.

HEAVY DOWNPOUR SOAKS ALL PARTS OF CALIFORNIA

Snow Falls in Mountains As State Moisture Goes Above Normal.

Steady penetrating rain fell throughout California during the last twenty-four hours. The prediction of the United States Weather Bureau today was for a continuation of the unsettled conditions and probably more moisture.

A break in the pavement at Twenty-sixth and Myrtle, caused by flooding, is about the only damage done to city street property by last night's storm, according to City Engineer W. W. Harmon.

The rain was continuous in the bay cities from dawn yesterday up to an early hour today. For the most part, it was of a fine, misty character. The heaviest downpour occurred at Chico in the upper Sacramento valley, but the bay cities received approximately three-quarters of an inch and are ahead of the normal rainfall to date. All of the California stations reported moisture with San Diego having only .01 and Los Angeles a similar amount. The reports were as follows for 24 hours past

Chico, .74; Orland, .73; San Francisco, .72; Santa Rosa, 69; Sacramento, .52; Point Reyes, 45; Paso Robles, .45; Porterville, .42; Stockton, .42; Red Bluff, 65; Lindsay, .40; Merced, .34; San Jose, 32; Fresno, .30; Santa Barbara, .22; Eureka, .56; Riverside, .10; Redlands, .06; Pomona, .10; Colusa, .14; San Diego, .01; Los Angeles, .01.

LODI MOISTURE HEAVY.

LODI Dec. 8.—More than twice as much rain has fallen here to date than was recorded last year up to the same period. Conditions could not be brighter for a great fruit and grain year for 1925, say growers. The last storm left 1.10 inches of rain behind in this section, making 5.08 inches for the season to date compared with 3.13 last year to December 7. For 1922 to the same date only .75 of an inch had fallen.

The Oakland rainfall for 48 hours ending at 7 a. m. was .94 inch, making a seasonal total of 7.25 or about two inches ahead of normal.

STORM CAUSES HAVOC IN ATLANTIC SHIPPING.

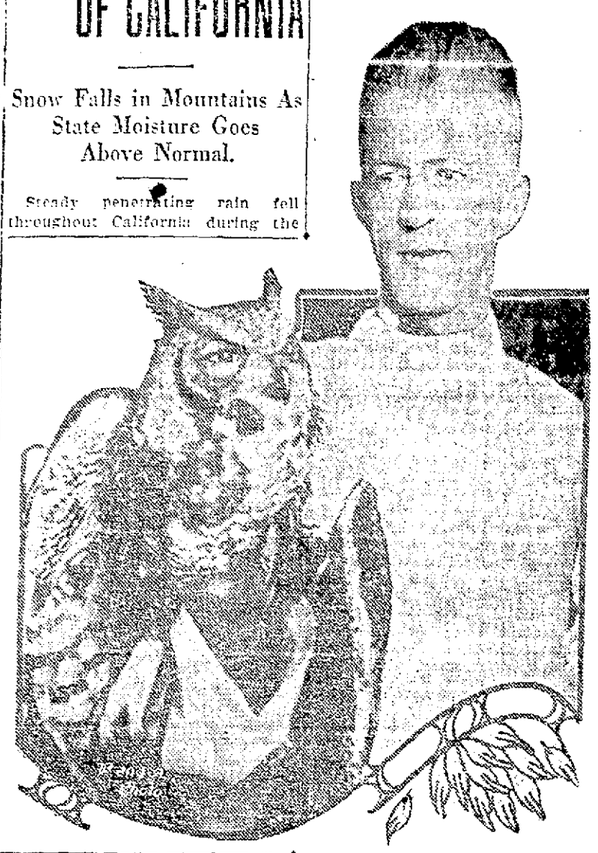

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Storms and heavy seas continued last night and today to wreak havoc with Atlantic shipping taxing the coast guard to the utmost. The gales extend almost the entire length of the coast. It is believed the schooner Perry Selzer was wrecked. Searches for her have been unsuccessful.

MUCH SNOW IN SOUTH.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8.—Eight inches of snow has fallen in the San Bernardino mountains, 60 miles from here, according to reports received by the Los Angeles weather bureau here today. Rain was falling here and in the vicinity in a record-breaking storm for southern California.

Owl Surgeon

DR. GUSTAV B. HENNO, exhibiting "BIMBO," now fully recovered from a wing shattered by sling shot.

OWL'S SHATTERED WING MADE WHOLE

When "Bimbo," cross-eyed and surly, looked askance at a neighbor boy he received a charge from a sling-shot in his right wing. The owl, pet of little Bobby Griffith, 251 Fifty-second street, struggled into the house with a shattered wing.

Today "Bimbo" is at the pet hospital of Dr. Gustav B. Henno, San Francisco veterinarian. His wing, still in splints, rapidly is healing and within a week will be as good as new, according to Dr. Henno. His disposition is unchanged. Dr. Henno was unable to uncross his eyes.

Pair Elope With Parents' Consent

Although their respective parents knew all about it, William A. Hermle Jr., local merchant, and Miss Hazel Such, Oakland music teacher, followed the "elopers' trail" to San Jose today, and obtained a marriage license. They were to be married later in the day.

Hermle, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hermle of 5333 Thomas street, is a graduate of Oakland high school and a former student at the University of California.

Miss Such is a daughter of Mrs. George Such 473 Hardy street.

Contracts Let For New Hospital Units

The contract for construction of three auxiliary buildings to the Highland hospital was awarded today to Schuler & McDonald contractors for a total of $264,670. This was the lowest of more than a dozen bids submitted.

This firm's bid on the general contract was 249,000, with alternate on certain specifications which brought the total to 264,670. By these alternates the board decided to use metal laths instead of wood laths and wall paper instead of tinting.

Near Panic Ensues As Train Hits Auto

ALAMEDA, Dec. 8.—Passengers were alarmed, witnesses horrified and calls for ambulances were received at the emergency hospital police station and morgue yesterday when a Southern Pacific electric train demolished an automobile at Central avenue and Fifth street. Police and hospital attaches hurried to the scene only to find that the occupants of the stalled machine had jumped out before the crash. The automobile was owned by R. H. Kerney.

REPUBLICANS TO HOLD BALANCE OF POWER IN BERLIN

Nationalists Meet Smashing Defeat in Yesterday's Elections.

By CARL D. GROAT,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

BERLIN, Dec. 8.—The Republican group in Germany won a tremendous victory in the national elections which were held throughout the country Sunday.

Returns from practically all election districts at 9:30 a. m. showed that the Socialists, Democrats and Centrists, ran decisively ahead of the Nationalists, Communists and Fascisti. The latter were practically wiped out.

NATIONALISTS POOR SECOND.

On a basis of latest returns the next German Reichstag will be composed as follows:

Socialists, 129; Nationalists, 97; Centrists, 66; Communists, 44; Folks Party, 49; Folkists (Fascisti), 13; Democrats, 30; Bavarian (Folks Party), 19; Wirtschafts and Bavarian Peasants, 14; Landbund, 8.

Approximately 85 per cent of the electorate went to the polls to choose the new Reichstag, the vote being the heaviest ever polled in Germany. Many disturbances between adherents of rival parties kept police busy throughout Saturday night and Sunday.

Although there were a score of parties having candidates, the chief issue lay between the Republicans, under the black, red and gold banner, and the monarchists under the black, white and red.

MIDDLE GROUPS CONTROL.

The former group won so decisively that it will be possible to form a Republican or middle regime which will have a clear majority and will not have to kowtow to the Nationalists as was the case last summer, when Chancellor Marx had to make concessions to save the Dawes plan.

If the Socialists, Centrists, Democrats and Bavarian Folks party join in a coalition, they can resist opposition from the Nationalists or any combination of their political foes.

As a result of yesterday's elections, the Nationalists are the second largest party in the Reichstag, but a coalition will render this negligible.

FIRE DAMAGES 2 BERKELEY HOMES

BERKELEY, Dec. 8.—Newsboys delivering papers discovered the basement of the George Patrick home at 1105 Oxford street ablaze shortly after 6 o'clock this morning. They awakened Patrick, who called the fire department. The fire was extinguished with a loss of $25.

Prompt action on the part of Mrs. Frederick Heath, 2709 Dwight way, probably saved her home from destruction and averted injury to members of her family. Mrs. Heath was awakened shortly after one o'clock yesterday morning by the smell of smoke. She aroused members of the household and summoned the fire department.

CITY HONORS FIRST CONSUL BY RENAMING ST.

In honor of the first foreign government to establish a consulate in Oakland, the city council today affixed the name "Lisbon street" to that thoroughfare which runs from East Eleventh street to foothill boulevard formerly Twenty-fourth street. The Portuguese consulate will be informed of the compliment.

The council renewed jitney permits for 1925 and received a report from the pound showing that 187 dogs, 18 goats, 5 cattle and 5 horses were collected during November.

Woman Asks Divorce On Cruelty Charge

George H. Merritt, proprietor of a printing establishment in San Francisco, is sued for divorce on charges of cruelty in a complaint filed today by Mrs. May V. Merritt 3220 Sterling avenue, Alameda. She asks custody of the two children, $150 a month alimony and all the community property.

[illegible] husband would remain away from home all night, associated with other women and sometimes returned home intoxicated.

Appeal for Needy Brings Loads of Winter Clothing

BERKELEY, Dec. 8.—Traffic Chief D. H. Fraser of the Berkeley police department says that there are so many generous persons in the bay region that he'll probably wear out his automobile tires responding to calls.

Which means, in other words, that the four families for whom Fraser issued an appeal for clothes on Saturday will not shiver with cold any more this winter.

Especial attention has been paid to the boy, 14, who was forced to wear one black and one brown stocking to school, and with no other outer garment than a pair of thin overalls.

One Piedmont woman on whom Fraser called presented him with a check for $10 for shoes for kiddies in the family of nine.

The clothes, enough to fill a large automobile truck, will be assorted and distributed to the four families to fill their needs.

"It's a mighty fine world when people can be aroused to this extent," says Fraser.

DEAN OF "LIFERS" DIES.

Tiny Star

CATHERINE SONTHEIMER, 4-year-old Alameda girl and reputed to be the youngest professional stage star, who will perform at the Alameda Elks' Charity Show, December 9, 10, 11 and 12.

CHILD DANGER TO ENTERTAIN ELKS

ALAMEDA, Dec. 6.—There will be no age limit for those taking part in the Alameda Elks' big charity show December 9, 10, 11 and 12.

The latest addition to the list of performers is Catherine Sontheimer, 4-year-old entertainer, reputed to be the youngest professional on the American stage. She will give several dance numbers and says she will have a number of funny stories to tell her audience.

Other attractions on the program include musical numbers by the Moore sisters, assisted by Lila Lee; a ballet with May Gargia, premiere danseuse; Lucille White and company and twenty other acts.

The show is being staged under direction of William Gilson, Alameda Elk. Proceeds will be used to buy food and gifts for the needy of Alameda.

Bench Warrant Out For Heavyweight

Santa Aides Use 30,000,000 Feet Of Wood in Toys

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Ten thousand first assistants to Santa Claus have knocked off work for the year after cutting more than 30,000,000 board feet of lumber into the curious shapes demanded by the rulers of Toyland. There are nearly 400 establishments in the United States taking orders from Santa Claus.

One manufacturer of toys in New York state uses 2,000,000 feet of lumber every year, and the total value of the products of the industry, in all parts of the United States, reaches $35,000,000.

That takes a tremendous number of trees, the American tree association points out in a bulletin calling attention to argument for reforestation.

These commercial Santa Clauses, the toymakers, ply their trade largely in the East. New England, New York, Pennsylvania and Michigan are the states in which the bulk of the industry is located. As forest resources have been gradually used up in the East, however, the manufacturers have had to depend upon timber brought from the West and the South.

MRS. MORS KILLED BY HUSBAND, SAYS M'COY'S COUNSEL

Continuance Asked By Defense as Ex-Prizefighter Discusses Weather.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8.—Defense Attorney George Shreve, appearing for Norman Selby, alias Kid McCoy, charged with the murder of Mrs. Theresa W. Mors, divorced wife of Albert Mors, antique dealer, here last August, told the court today, at the opening of the trial, that he expected to prove that Mrs. Mors was killed by her husband and that McCoy had nothing to do with it.

Into a well-filled court room in company with a motley group of prisoners today walked Kid McCoy, one-time idol of pugilistic fans of two continents, to begin his fight to escape the hangman's noose.

The former prizefighter and man of many loves sat in the prisoners' room conversing with his guards and newspaper men while Judge Charles S. Crail disposed of the cases of negroes, Mexicans and other prisoners who accompanied the "Kid" from the county jail to the court room.

TERRIBLE DAY, SAYS McCOY.

"Terrible day to begin a murder trial on," commented McCoy, taking his feet from a window ledge and gazing outside at the rain.

The "Kid" was dressed in a neatly pressed blue suit with white pin stripes. He wore a clean white shirt and black necktie, but the coarse white thread he used as a ribbon for his gold-rimmed nose glasses suggested his financial state.

McCoy is facing trial on a charge of murdering Mrs. Theresa Mors, h latest sweetheart, on the night of August 12, last.

"Bleak day, isn't it?" the "Kid" went on. "Oh, well, it doesn't make any difference. Rain or no rain, I'm ready for the trial.

"We've been over it all before. You boys know how I feel. I'm not guilty and that's all there is to it. Did you see my sister in the court room?" McCoy queried anxiously. "She promised to be here."

CONTINUANCE ASKED.

Another continuance of the trial was asked by McCoy's attorneys on grounds set forth in two affidavits. One was that an attorney named Innis, subpoenaed from Rushville, Ind., had been committed to an insane asylum.

The second affidavit claimed that Miss Grace Barbieri, a friend of Mrs. Mors, could not be found. The dead woman had confided to Miss Barbieri, the affidavit stated, that she intended to commit suicide, and her testimony, it was said, will prove a strong argument for the defense. Prosecutors immediately attacked the request for postponement and the argument became heated.

Motion for a continuance of McCoy's trial on a charge of killing Mrs. Theresa Mors, his paramour, was denied by Judge Charles S. Crail.

Selection of the jury was started immediately after Judge Crail's decision.

Thirty-five of the fifty members of the jury panel are women.

BERKELEY SHEIK GIVEN 6 MONTHS FO RIMPUDENCE

BERKELEY, Dec. 8. — Edward Lewis, alias Edward Case a San Francisco painter, will spend six months in the county jail as a result of trying to flirt with Mrs. Vernis Wilson, wife of Patrolman O. W. Wilson of the Berkeley police department.

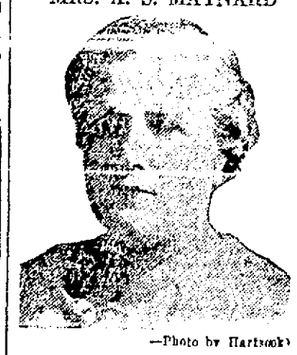

A police record showed Lewis to have served jail terms for previous annoyances to women in San Francisco and elsewhere.

Why California Women Are Beautiful. Health Makes For Beauty

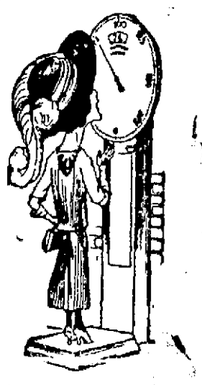

Stockton—"Several years ago I was in bad shape all run down nervous, suffered from functional disturbances. I got so bad that at times it was impossible for me to keep on my feet. I was in this sickly, weak, and nervous state for three years, when I was advised to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' Had I known of the help these medicines are to women in such a condition, I never would have suffered as I did. I am glad to say these remedies of Dr. Pierce's straightened me out and I am a well woman today. I am willing to have my statement published for the benefit of others."—Mrs. A. E. One Thin Woman Gained 16 Pounds In 22 Days

Skinny Men Can Do the Same

All weak men and women,
All nervous men and women,
All skinny men and women
Can grow stronger, healthier and take on weight in 30 days by just taking McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets four times a day—as easy to take as candy.

And what a hit these flesh-producing tablets have made—every druggist is selling more and more of them every day.

Everybody knows that nasty-tasting, evil-smelling Cod Liver Oil is chock full of Vitamines and is a wonderful flesh producer and strength creator.

But who wants to swallow the horrible stuff when these wonderful tablets—McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets—are just as good and so easy to take.

A box of 60 tablets for 60 cents—and if any thin man or woman don't gain at least 5 pounds in 30 days—money back. Ask the Owl Drug Company or any good druggist anywhere.

BAIRD DENIES KIDNAP CHARGE MADE BY WIFE

Declines to Tell Where Daughter Has Been Placed.

BERKELEY, Dec. 8.—"My child is safe and I intend to keep her until I can tell my story to the court."

Defiantly, Benjamin H. Baird, automobile accessory salesman, answered charges of his wife, Maxine Wilmans Baird, daughter of Mrs. Beatrice Wilmans, principal of the Hawthorne school, that he had kidnaped their three-year-old daughter, Veronica.

"I have not kidnaped my daughter; my wife left my home, and I have placed the baby in the care of a trained nurse," declared Baird today at the home of the couple, 1940 Los Angeles avenue. "No, I will not tell where the baby is; when the court orders me to present the child I will. I desire to be fair to my wife, and I want her to be fair with me. I do not think she is capable of taking care of the baby for the reason she spends too much time with her family.

ABUSE IS ALLEGED.

To all of which Mrs. Baird, seconded by her mother and family friends, replies with indignation. At the home of Miss Mabelle Wilson, supervisor of music in the Berkeley schools, at 1111 The Alameda, where Mrs. Baird and Mrs. Wilmans have taken refuge from Baird's alleged abuse, the young wife is under the care of a physician because of a nervous collapse. Mrs. Wilmans, speaking for her daughter, declares that Baird has even followed them to the home of Miss Wilson with his abuse, and that last night he called on the telephone and hurled insulting remarks over the wire.

In her divorce complaint filed last Saturday, Mrs. Baird charged her husband with becoming intoxicated and driving her from their home on Los Angeles avenue on December 1. Instead of her leaving the house, Mrs. Baird declared she was forced out into the cold by an intoxicated spouse, and that after remaining there until 3 o'clock in the morning, she sought refuge with friends. Since then, she says, Baird has kept the baby from her. In an effort to discover the whereabouts of her child, Mrs. Baird has employed private detectives to trail her husband. The Berkeley police were appealed to, but as the matter is a civil one involving the right of guardianship over a child, no action was taken by the authorities.

SUITS FOLLOW ELOPEMENT.

Mrs. Baird, as Maxine Wilmans, was one of the best known of the younger society girls in the bay section before her marriage to Baird, December 4, 1920. The young couple eloped to Martinez, and since that time Mrs. Baird has brought three suits for divorce, only to drop two of them when reconciliations were effected. She declares that she will press the third suit to a conclusion and that she will fight in court for the custody of her child, declaring that her husband is unfit, because of his alleged excessive drinking, to have the baby.

Mrs. Baird is the niece of Federal Judge John S. Partridge of San Francisco, and a graduate of Miss Head's school. Baird is the son of Mrs. Veronica Baird of the Fairmont hotel, San Francisco. He is a half brother of the late David J. Baird and a brother of Mrs. William Sproule of San Francisco. He was an aviator in the World War, serving first with the French Foreign Legion and later with the Lafayette Escadaille.

DEFENSE GRILLS U. S. WITNESS AT FORBES' TRIAL

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

CHICAGO, Dec. 8. — The government files subpoenaed y the defense in the Veterans' Bureau conspiracy trial of Charles R. Forbes and John W. Thompson, arrived today in custody of E. Garrard Winston, under-secretary of the treasury. The defense was not expected to use them in the cross-examination of Elias H. Mortimer, chief government witness, which opened today's session of the trial.

The prospect of a severe grilling by defense counsel did not seem to affect Mortimer's composure. He said he had no fear that his story would be shaken in any important detail.

Preceding Mortimer, Winston identified the files he carried. One was a photostat copy of a letter from Forbes to Secretary Mellon of the treasury relating to the proposed purchase of the Livermore, California, hospital site. It was testified that the Livermore site was the only one purchased by the veterans bureau. Other sites were donated.

Mortimer, under the quiz of Colonel Easby-Smith, said that Mrs. Mortimer assumed the name of J. C. Martin on trips to New York and Philadelphia to meet Colonel Forbes.

"I was in Forbes' apartment at Washington when Mrs. Mortimer called up for her 'Papa,'" said Mortimer. "I also found out that Mrs. Mortimer, on the advice of Forbes, was running up bills as large as possible on me just before she left me."

"Have you ever brought out any calumny against your wife in this veterans' bureau matter before?" asked Colonel Easy-Smith.

"No," Mortimer said, with considerable emphasis, "and I wouldn't now if you hadn't started it."

Mortimer said he was put on the department of justice payroll last spring at $11 a day and traveling expenses by Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, the assistant attorney general in charge of the liquor law violations.

HIGHER PRICES RECOMPENSE FOR FRUIT CROP CUT

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8. — Enhanced prices will in many cases compensate California producers for the slightly lessened quantities of orchard and field products of this year, according to reviews made by state bank interests. The apple crop is slightly below normal, but the output of other states, usually heavy, is less this year and prices and markets are steadier. The apple production this year in California is estimated at 1,460,000 barrels or about 64 per cent of normal. Washington has a 53 per cent crop, Idaho 90 per cent and Oregon 70 per cent. Canada is short about 2,000,000 boxes this year.

The increased demand for wine grapes has brought top prices and the raisin market is also stronger than was expected, the review shows.

The output of wine grapes this year will total about 1,443,000 tons as compared with 1,691,000 tons of last year. Prices this year are much higher. More of the raisin crop was shipped out this year as fresh grapes. The total raisin grape crop this year will average, it is estimated, aout 62 per cent.

The California prune crop, according to this review, made by the Mercantile Trust Company of California, will show a production of 65 per cent of normal. European production of prunes is much shorter than California's, and prune producers here are predicting a price raise by next spring of at least 50 per cent. Plums also dropped in production from 69,000 tons to 42,000 tons, about 60 per cent.

The apricot crop of this year was exactly the reverse of last year. In 1923 apricots were so abundant that only 70 per cent of the crop was picked, the remainder going to feed hogs, or being knocked to the ground with clubs to prevent burdening the trees. This year the crop is only about 137,000 tons as compared with 170,000 tons in 1923. The 1924 crop was oversold, and growers are predicting a shortage of canned and dried apricots.

Peaches were but 67 per cent of normal. Pears were 68 per cent, with 117,000 tons this year against 128,000 last year.

Almonds were also lighter in production but the crop this year, though smaller than in 1923, brought $2,800,000, the same sum as last year, and the growers had to sack and pack only 83 per cent as many nuts. The almost produc- was also curtailed.

Walnut growers produced more nuts this year than in 1923, figures showing that there were marketed last year 25,169 tons in 1923 and 25,425 tons this year. Prices this year are very much higher. The increased production is charged to the many groves of young trees which started bearing this year.

As a resume, the review figures that despite short crops, California growers have received more in the aggregate for their short crops than in former years for full crops.

Woman Values Tooth At $75 In Suit

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 8.—In bringing suit against her dentist on a charge of negligence, Mrs. Lucy Abrahams placed a value of $75 on a sound tooth that she had lost. She declared that the dentist, in extracting a decayed tooth, performed the operation in such a careless manner that the root of the sound tooth adjoining was exposed, necessitating its extraction a few days later. The dentist denied the charge and presented expert testimony to prove he had not been negligent.

Shipper's Wife Gets Decree Over Rivals

Nelson A. Smith, sea captain, was friendly with other women, said Carrine F. Smith who today was granted a decree of divorce by Superior Judge James G. Quinn.

In particular she complained of his conduct in San Diego where his ship "The Mystic" was anchored. He expended more money on another woman than he did on his wife and finally won the reproff of the owners of his vessel by his conduct, the wife testified.

JAPAN INCENSED BY PROPOSED U. S. FLEET MANEUVERS

TOKYO, Dec. 8.—The proposed 1925 American battle fleet maneuvers in the vicinity of the Hawaiian islands are arousing the keenest public sentiment against the United States throughout the Japanese empire, with several of the more unrestrained newspapers and patriotic organizations actively stirring the Tokyo government to protest to Washington against the forthcoming naval demonstration. Several public meetings already have been held, attended by Japanese notables, at which the United States has been accused of desiring to make the Pacific ocean "an American lake."

The newspaper Jiji, commenting on President Coolidge's message to congress, declares:

"The proposed Pacific maneuvers of the American fleet will constitute the greatest menace to the world's rest."

Neither the Japanese foreign office nor the navy department will comment officially on the American Pacific maneuvers. Inflammatory speeches on the subject unofficially made by Japanese naval officers have been suppressed, the navy department disclaiming all responsibility for these utterances.

JEWS, CHRISTIANS JOIN IN 'GOLDEN RULE' LUNCHEON

$300 Raised For Near East Relief Fund: More Than 100 Served at Repast.

Eight denominations were represented at the "Golden Rule" dinner served yesterday afternoon at Temple Sinai, when Protestants, Jews and Catholics broke bread together in aid of the Near East orphans. Seven Christian ministers extended the hand of fellowship to Rabbi Rudolph J. Coffee, all extending the hand of sympathy and compassion toward the Near East sufferers.

The Sisterhood of Temple Sinai prepared and served the frugal repast, which consisted of beans, brown bread, cocoa, rice and canned apricots. Earthenware utensils similar to those used by the Near East orphans were an interesting feature of the occasion.

MORE THAN 100 SERVED.

More than a hundred diners were served, the donations for their dinner being reckoned as the difference between their regular Sunday dinner cost and the 15 cent meal served at the Temple.

After the meal, appeals were made for further contributions, the total reaching slightly in excess of $300. Several citizens who had been invited to attend, sent regrets accompanied by generous checks.

DINNERS TO CONTINUE.

So successful did this first "Golden Rule" dinner prove, that it was unanimously decided to continue them annually. The idea was worked out by Rabbi Coffee, who assisted by the Temple Sisterhood, carried the plan to completion.

Other ministers present included: Rev. Clarence Reed, First Unitarian church; Rev. Ralph C. Waddell, First Congregational church; Rev. John Snape, First Baptist; Rev. Bernard C. Ruggles, Church of the Universal Christ; Rev. Harry S. McCready, Plymouth church; Rev. Ida B. Elliott, Church of Divine Healing; Rev. Letitia B. Andrews, Oakland Truth Center.

CONFESSION BY GIRL FREES MAN OF THEFT

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8.—A girl's dramatic confession cleared her sweetheart of robbery charges in a Los Angeles court today.

When Rupert Weingert was called to answer charges of the theft of a diamond ring belonging to Harvey Small, Miss Helen Gilbert, a San Diego visitor here, admitted she had falsely accused the defendant. Harvey Small, a former friend of the girl, charged Weingert with the theft.

"Small gave me the ring," the girl confessed. "I loved Rupert but I loved Small more and I thought if I made trouble for Rupert I could make up with Small."

"You can't stop people from buying Joint-Ease for sore throat and cold in chest," writes one of our druggist friends. "They say it's the best ever."

We know that, of course, but please remember that Joint-Ease is for stiff, swollen, painful joints, whether rheumatic or not, and its tremendous sale for that purpose proves that it is the one joint remedy that gets the most satisfying results.

A tube costs 60 cents at druggists everywhere. Just rub it on and in a few seconds it disappears completely under the skin, and relief follows instantly.

Always remember, when Joint-Ease gets in joint agony gets out—quick.—Advertisement.

Pilgrim Cow Called First U. S. Monopoly

SEATTLE, Dec. 8.—Monopoly in America began in 1623, Edward MacMahon, associate professor of history in the University of Washington declared in a lecture here.

A cow was brought to a Pilgrim colony from England, Professor MacMahon said, and allotted to several families, including Captain Miles Standish, a bachelor. Captain Standish soon bought control of the cow, share by share, and he and his relatives enjoyed an abundant supply of milk while his neighbors went without, related the historian.

HOT LUNCH FOUND HELP TO CHILDREN

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 8.—Hot lunches are improving the health of Ohio school children, according to reports received by officials of the agricultural extension service, Ohio State University, here.

A test conducted by a representative of the extension service showed that 69 per cent of the 38 pupils in two townships in Lucas county gained in weight following inauguration of hot lunches for the pupils. No gain in weight was made by 21 per cent of these pupils while 6 per cent sustained abnormal losses and 4 per cent made abnormal gains in weight.

The hot school lunch usually consists of one warm dish—a vegetable, a milk soup, creamed eggs or something similar—and the cold lunch carried from home by the pupil.

NATIONAL LEAGUE CLUB OWNERS WILL MEET TOMORROW

Del Paso Club Golfers Take Honors in Return Play of Home and Home Match With Players of Sequoyah Club

Fireworks May Be Set Off at National Meet

Johnson May Have to Tell Landis All About Coast Gambling.

By JOHN B. FOSTER.

SPECIAL BY WIRE TO THE TRIBUNE

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Three baseball meetings in New York this week have their possibilities for oratorical effect, wire pulling and may be mischief. They may affect the players of the game, not with reference to their playing of the game on the field but with reference to their control.

The first of the three meetings is that of the National league on Tuesday. This is expected to be a placid affair, resulting in the re-election of John A. Heydler as president—a result which will be gratifying to all who in recent years have been connected with baseball. He is a man of sterling character, who plays for the right regardless of consequences. The rumored opposition to him if there really was any has disappeared. It was too feeble to thrive. The rest of the National meeting should be largely routine.

P. C. L. GAMBLING.

The American league meeting gives promises of more excitement. Re-election of the board of directors and the vice president are the principal items on the formal program, President Ban Johnson having some years yet to serve. The excitement if it breaks will come when Johnson begins to spread about the organization such evidence as he may have about gambling on the Pacific coast. He has been cited to render this information before an authority constituted to hear it and probably feels that it is his first duty to relate to his own league any information that he may possess. If such information does go before the American league it may follow into the joint session of the major leagues which is the third of the series.

The endorsement of the administration of Commissioner Landis by the National Association indirectly included a severe arraignment of someone who was not mentioned by name, but who of course was Johnson. This has provoked animosity and bitter words.

BAN TO TELL LANDIS.

The passing of a resolution calling upon Johnson to give evidence in regard to the gambling on the Pacific coast was so worded that Judge Landis may take it up and ask Johnson at the joint meeting to give any such information as he may possess. That will touch off the fireworks. It has been asserted that the commissioner had men on the coast investigating the gambling charges. Nothing came from his office on the subject but something interesting and unexpected may be said at the meeting.

If Johnson, after he has put his evidence before the American league should decline to go further with it, there might follow a jam in baseball which would be in line with previous eruptions in the sport.

In Chicago last year Judge Landis directed a personal attack against Johnson. The enemies of the American league president are hoping that another will follow this year. However, the efforts of the American league president to establish the honesty of baseball cannot be questioned, because Judge Landis himself testifying in the Milwaukee case to obtain redress for punished black sheep, asserted that Johnson had been foremost in turning up the Chicago scandal in the American league.

IS BAN JEALOUS?

The personal issue between the commissioner and the American league president seems to be the latter's unwillingness to be relegated to the status of office boy for his own league and nothing more.

Judge Landis was criticized at the time of the O'Connell-Dolan episode for not taking the public more into his confidence. Johnson is said to have critized him, too. Now the others who criticized the commissioner for what they said he did not do are criticizing Johnson for criticizing the commissioner, which probably is the height of baseball bouffe in recent years.

Other important matters which may come before the joint session relate to the five year's option on players, extended from two years [illegible] majors instead of forty and such other matters as bind a greater number of players to the major [illegible] resolution adopted by the minor leagues at Hartford to limit the number of optional players to eight for each major league club.

In the first criticism of Johnson it seems to have been overlooked that the wishes of the National association are likely to be disregarded if they show a spirit of fight against either of the major organizations.

Local Doctors Lose in Golf At Sacramento

Lauren Upson and Jess Childs of Del Paso Club Are Victors.

By W. D. McNICOLL

Dr. C. H. Walter and Dr. J. H. Stineman of Sequoyah after leading 9 up over 36 holes in a home and home 72 hole best ball contest were defeated one up by Lauren Upson and Jess Childs of the Del Paso club at Sacramento yesterday.

The playing conditions were disagreeable, as a drizzling rain prevailed during the game but an enthusiastic gallery followed the play of the rival teams to the last shot on the home green when a par score of 5 by the Del Paso representative gave them th hole and match one up

Dr Stineman and Dr. Walter starting 9 up, the result of brilliant team work and the veterans' record score which included his sensational hole in one, were finding great difficulty in gauging the greens yesterday, and at the lunch interval were four holes in arrears but still confident of maintaining their five hole lead over the concluding 18 holes.

Upson and Childs were teaming well and played all of their shots with confidence over a course they knew to perfection. The match was all even at the 71st hole, the Sequoyah team having dropped five more holes to the Sacramento experts and a tied result seemed probable, but the Del Paso players reveling in the rain soaked fairways and greens, won the long and testing home hole in a brilliantly played par score of 5.

Hole Claims Lodi Will Be Hard to Beat

Berkeley Mentor Was Impressed With Offense; Defense Not Too Good.

By PHIL RAY

Berkeley high school will face one of the hardest games in its schedule next Saturday in meeting Lodi, if the expectations of Coach Jimmy Hole comes true.

The Berkeley coach made the trip to Oroville last Saturday and saw the Lodi Flames defeat the home team 20 to 6 for the championship of the Sacramento valley.

Hole was impressed with the strength of the team, although he discovered some weaknesses in the defense.

Oroville gained quite regularly through Lodi's line, according to Hole, even though the Gorilla backs were much lighter. This is the method of attack that Hole will launch against the Flames next Saturday in an attempt to win the championship of Northern California.

Berkeley has a decided advantage in the quality of its reserve strength in both the line and backfield. With the wealth of heavy substitute linemen and good plunging backs, Hole will endeavor to beat down the ranks of Lodi by a constant punging offense.

The Flames will be decidedly handicapped by the lack of good substitutes, according to the Berkeley mentor. "Only three or four reserve players were used against Oroville, and these were shoved into the fray for just a few minutes at the end of the game," Hole stated.

The Lodi offense is the strongest part of the valley champion's team, in Hole's opinion.

Lane especially has been the mainstay when his team had the ball.

Lane alternated with Miller in line plays against Oroville and gained most of the yardage for his team. He was responsible for all three of Lodi's touchdowns, one on a line buck and two when he received forward passes.

Woolsey, quarterback of the Flames, is also a dangerous player, although not as fast or as capable a passer as Lane.

While Lodi's line did not appear any too good on the defense, they made up for all deficiencies when they took the offensive.

The linemen are not as heavy as the Berkeley forward defense, but they pack a charge that would do credit to players much heavier. Behind their charging line the Lodi backs are able to execute excellent forward passing plays. In all probability an aerial attack will be used in an attempt to beat Berkeley next week.

It is hardly probable that the Flames will be able to do much damage to the center of the Berkeley line, but on criss crosses and end runs, where speed figures, the Lodi players will have a decided edge.

St. Paul Club Not to Be Sold For Some Time

ST PAUL, Dec. 8.—The St. Paul club of the American Association, which was announced recently as being for sale, has been taken off the market, John W. Norton, owner, said last night.

Mr. Norton, who returned from the minor league baseball meetings at Hartford, Conn., said that prospective purchasers had failed to reach his terms and he decided to hold the franchise for at least another year.

Several weeks ago Mr. Norton announced that he was dickering with three groups who desired to purchase his holding. One of these was said to be interested in getting Walter Johnson, Washington pitching ace, here, and another was headed by W. P. MacMicking, secretary of the Saints. All negotiations have fallen through, however.

Mickey Walker Is Willing to Tackle Shade

Desire For Return Battle in New York May Halt Present Negotiations.

By FAIR PLAY.

SPECIAL BY WIRE TO THE TRIBUNE

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Mickey Walker, according to a Jersey report, has told Leo Flynn, Dave Shade's manager, that he will fight Shade in Jersey within the next six weeks.

This agreement on the part of Walker follows a period of careful observation of Dave Shade, both in training and in his battle with Philly Krug.

Flynn says he is willing to let his man enter a no decision battle in Newark with the champion if in turn the champion will agree later to meet Shade in New York.

This may block everything. Walker at present is on the outs with the New York commission and he has a deadly fear of the sort of judges that might sit in judgment over the battle even if he and the commission patch up their troubles.

Speaking of the commission one may wonder what happened to change their minds in regard to the bout between Tommy Gibbons and Kid Norfolk next Tuesday night.

At first the commissioners said that Norfolk was not a good opponent for the St. Paul mixer. But later they seemed to have changed their minds.

Sons Increase Lead; Rangers Held to a Tie

Foresters Defeat Fruitvale, While Vets-Merchants Are Idle.

STANDING OF THE CLUBS

Merchants	8	3	5	0	7	25	6
Fruitvale	9	1	7	1	9	22	3
Thistles	9	1	7	1	8	22	3

The Sons of St. George strengthened their hold on the top rung of the ladder in the Bay Cities Soccer league yesterday by scoring an easy 6 to 0 victory over the lowly Thistle eleven.

The Sons are now two points ahead of the second place Neptune team which was held to a 1 to 1 tie by the Rangers in a furious mud battle at Washington Park, Alameda in the feature game of the day.

The Ancient Order of Foresters moved into the first division by trouncing the Fruitvale team by a score of 3 to 0 while the British Veterans and Golden Gate Merchants were idle, the Merchants evidently having decided that the grounds were entirely too slippery for soccer as only four members of the team put in an appearance. The Vererans may claim the game by forfeit.

A crowd of 1500 people witnessed the battle between the Neps and Rangers at Alameda yesterday. Early in the first half the Neptunes forged into the lead, Ingold registering on a well centered pass from Good.

Pete Shearer tied the count for the Rangers just before the end of the first half but in the second period was ruled off the field on account of having committed a number of violations of the rules.

Neither team was able to score in the second half.

At the San Pablo Playgrounds, where the Sons of St. George and Thistles held forth, Tostevin entertained during the first half, scoring both goals for the winners and playing an all around brilliant game.

In the second half the other Sons came to life, Blaine crashing through for two goals while Sturgeon and Williams each contributed a tally.

Gibbons Has Hard Task to Beat Norfolk

Minnesotan Must Be at Best to Weather Storm Tomorrow Night.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Tom Gibbons of St. Paul whose record for sure footedness has weathered the attack of a champion, meets a worthy opponent in William Ward, pugilistically known as Kid Norfolk, negro light heavyweight, in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

Although entitled to the favorite's position by reason of ability to stave off the knockout punch, the Minnesotan must be at his best, for Norfolk also has an impressive line of conquests behind him.

Since 1913 Gibbons has sent many leading heavyweights to the floor for the count, including among his victims, Al Reich, Porky Flynn, Willie Meehan, Clay Turner, Fat McCarthy, George Asche, Joe Burke and Jim Tracey. Last spring he journeyed to England and sent down Jack Bloomfield at the international exposition at Wimberly, receiving less than one-third of the $50,000 he had been promised.

In his career he has lost three bouts, to Billy Miske in 1922 on a foul, a 15-round bout to Harry Greb in the same year and the memorable battle at Shelby, Mont., to Champion Jack Dempsey. He outpointed Georges Carpentier, erstwhile light heavyweight champion, at Michigan City this year.

In 1922 Harry Wills, who recently eliminated Luis Angel Firpo from the forces of heavyweight contenders, knocked out Kid Norfolk in two rounds at Madison Square Garden.

Sam Langford sent him to the canvas in the second round of a battle in 1917 and Lee Anderson of Boston knocked him out in nine rounds.

Sports Question Box

QUESTION—Has any professional golf player won the national open more than twice in succession? (2) Who have won it twice in succession?

ANSWER—(1) Yes. Willie Anderson. He won it three times in succession, in 1903-4-5. (2) Jack McDermott in 1911 and 1912.

QUESTION—What year did Jim Corbett beat John L. Sullivan and what year did Fitzsimmons beat Corbett?

ANSWER—September 7 1892. March 17, 1897.

QUESTION—Was Mike Kelley as good a ball player as Ty Cobb?

ANSWER—In his time he was in some respects. However, there were ball players who were better than Kelley in Kelley's day. The question of superior ball playing is almost always one of personal judgment and the rating of ball players by those who never saw the older players play is not very much to be relied upon. A generation of infielders has been dead for a long time that was superior to the present collectively.

GOLF

Play over the concluding 18 holes of the Lake Chabot club's 36 hole medal contest for their annual handicap championship was abandoned yesterday, as playing conditions were unfavorable at the Municipal course. The tournament will be resumed next Sunday when most of the leading players of the club will resume their qualifying medal play at handicap for places in the concluding match play which will also be held on a handicap basis.

Rheumatism

"Good-bye old crutch!"

THERE IS positively no longer any excuse for suffering the agonies of rheumatism! Especially in the autumn of your life, when the vital organs weaken, impurities multiply and linger in the muscles and joints, as never before. It is now, just now, when you cannot afford to guess. No day returns!

Here is a joyous fact which can mean to you a fond farewell forever to all the miseries, the tortures, the body-twisting pains that you have suffered from the demon of rheumatism. It is a fact that rheumatism means "blood poverty." It is a fact with the increase of red-cells in your blood, impurities are destroyed. It is a fact that S.S.S. will help Nature build these red-blood-cells! S.S.S. is one of the most powerful blood cleansers in existence. Its results in thousands of rheumatic cases have been nothing short of amazing! The medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable. This is very important to remember! What can be more inspiring, more wonderful than to see the shackles of pain released from your struggling body, swellings, lingering pains, stiffness of joints and muscles all disappear; your stomach made strong; your face pink with the old sweetheart glow, your blood enriched and your cheeks more plump as they used to be. You can do it! Take S.S.S., the great destroyer of rheumatic impurities.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

SMALLER INSTITUTIONS FEAR CONFERENCE LEGISLATION

East Is Inclined to Make Light of Victory of U. S. C. in First Intersectional Game to Be Held This Season

EXTENDED FRESHMAN RULE IS CONSIDERED ENTIRELY POSSIBLE

Action of Conference Would Affect St. Mary's, Nevada and Santa Clara; Madigan Going North to Represent Local College.

By DOUG. MONTELL.

That the coming meeting of the athletic heads of the Pacific Coast Conference at Portland this week was causing the smaller colleges along the western slope an unusual amount of anxiety, was intimated today by Graduate Manager Louis LeFevre of St. Mary's College.

LeFevre expressed the belief that both the smaller colleges of this section, as well as those which are members of the Northwest Conference, would be greatly concerned by certain proposed legislation which it is understood may be introduced and adopted at the coming session in the north.

For this reason, although not entitled to sit in any of the closed executive sessions, Coach "Slip" Madigan, representing St. Mary's College, will leave for Portland tomorrow night to be on hand to voice the sentiments of the minor institutions, particularly of the local college, should any such movement be made as is anticipated.

The one particular bit of legislation which is of concern to the small institutions is the extension of the freshman rule, at present affecting only the institutions which are members of the coast organization, to include all colleges, large or small, meeting any teams of the conference.

It is by no means certain that the conference will adopt the rule, although it is understood, on good authority, that the larger institutions are prepared to introduce and endorse it.

Santa Clara Is Also Concerned.

Should the rule be extended as proposed it would affect St. Mary's, Santa Clara and Nevada in this section, as well as Whitman, Willamette, Gonzaga, Pacific University, College of Puget Sound and other smaller institutions in the northwest, at present permitted to use freshmen in competition with the larger coast colleges.

Santa Clara is as much concerned over the situation as is St. Mary's, according to Father Ryan, but thus far no arrangements have been made to send a representative north to the meeting.

LeFevre stated this morning that it was possible that Santa Clara might ask Madigan to represent them on the matter, as Father Ryan is unable to make the trip, although it is possible that the Mission College may decide today to send another representative.

Madigan hopes to Arrange Schedule.

While Madigan will have this situation to contend with, this is not the only business he hopes to transact while in the north.

At the meeting of graduate managers, at which football schedules for 1925 will be drawn up, Madigan hopes to come to a definite agreement for certain games.

It is practically certain that St Mary's will meet the University of Southern California again in 1925, athletic moderator Haggerty having been given assurance by graduate manager Gwynn Wilson of U. S. C. that a date would be reserved for the local college Madigan, however, hopes to arrange a definite date at the Portland meeting.

Negotiations have been opened for a game with the Oregon Aggies at Portland and when the conference date are settled, the St. Mary's representative is expected to enter into negotiations to close for that game. A game with the Multnomah club in Portland is also proposed for the Saints, although it is not likely that Madigan will sign contracts for two games in the north.

Smaller Colleges May Form Conference.

Talk of the formation of smaller conferences to provide better balanced competition for the smaller institutions is again in order. A proposed conference in the north of the "small five," including Whitman, Willamette, College of Puget Sound, College of Idaho and Pacific University may be organized and action by the Coast Conference in extending the freshman rule may be sufficient to cause the withdrawal from the northwest conference of those smaller institutions which could not comply with the proposed legislation.

The proposal to form a smaller conference in this section which would include St. Mary's, Santa Clara, College of the Pacific, Fresno State Teachers, the University of Nevada and a sixth institution is not a new one and might well result should these institutions find that the Coast Conference restrictions for eligibility were too stiff.

Whether or not the University of Utah will make formal application for admission to the Coast Conference remains to be seen, but it is not believed probable that the Salt Lake institution's application would receive favorable consideration this year. Utah has also been mentioned as the possible sixth member of the proposed smaller conference in this section.

Other Matters to Come Before Body.

In addition to routine business, the conference heads may be called upon to settle a few other matters of importance. The conference football championship is still a matter of controversy, some differing with the idea of awarding Stanford the palm, and there is a possibility that the coming meeting may be called upon to decide the championship by official action.

Then too, the case of U. S. C. is as much up in the air as ever. If Stanford and California maintain their present attitude of refusing to consider the resumption of relations with the southern member, any number of things might happen.

No matter what differences the two institutions may have over the ethics of U. S. C., the fact remains that the University of Southern California is still a member in good standing of the conference and has the sympathy of Idaho, Washington State and Montana at least with the two Oregon institutions to swing the balance one way or the other.

Aside from her differences with Stanford and California, U. S. C. is doing nicely. The victory of the Trojans over Syracuse last Saturday in the first of the East-West intersectional games, added another to the list of wins for the West and made Gus Henderson a more popular figure than he was after the Trojans bowed before California.

Southern Alumni Opposed to Break.

California alumni in the south are reported to be split over the situation of severed relations between U. S. C. and California. Several graduates of the Berkeley institution who have recently returned from the south report that the tide of sentiment is swinging back to U. S. C. on account of the policy of silence adopted by the University of California over the recent break.

Demanding, and failing to receive, any plausible explanation for the reasons leading up to the break, Californians residing in the south are now clamoring for the break to be patched up and the influence of these alumni may be exerted at the conference meeting in an endeavor to bring about peace and future athletic relations between California and U. S. C.

Whatever is done must be accomplished before next year's schedules are arranged and the preliminary meeting on Thursday may see the big fireworks of the session.

ESTELLE TAYLOR AND MANAGER

JACK DEMPSEY has signed a contract with ESTELLE TAYLOR, movie actress, whereby he will act as her business manager in the future. This picture shows the famous pair executing the document in Los Angeles. Matrimonial rumors concerning the pair have been flying fast during the past few months and there is more than a likelihood of a marriage contract as well as a business one being made soon after the new year, according to rumor. Meanwhile "Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion and manager for Estelle Taylor" will be the business card of the champ.

Quakers Boast Heavy Line In Regular Team

McGinley Is Star Tackle While Papworth at Guard Is One of Best in East.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Dec 8—Lou Young's Pennsylvania Quakers who will engage the California Bears in an intersectional football game on New Year's day in Berkeley have been known all season as a great defensive eleven, but until the Cornell game they were not accorded a particularly high rating as an offensive team.

The Philadelphians, however, uncorked a forward pass attack in the Cornell encounter which surprised a good many of the large crowd assembled on Franklin Field and thereby showed conclusively that they are capable of powerful offensive play as well.

The king pin of the Penn defense is Ed McGinley, a big tackle, who is being talked of as one of the best that ever wore a Red and Blue jersey. McGinley is one of fastest men on the Quaker squad, beating his ends down on punts time after time, and is credited with having made over sixty per cent of all tackles made in Pennsylvania's games this season.

McGinley, however, is not the only lineman on the Red and Blue eleven who has displayed a powerful charge. Wilson, his running mate at the other tackle berth, is likewise a big and fast man, capable of holding his own against any line.

He does not make as many tackles in the open as McGinley does, but he is nevertheless a strong forward.

Alton Papworth and Bill Coleman are the gentlemen who occupy the guard holes on the Penn squad. Both of these men are well over 200 pounds in weight, and when they flank Robinson, the Quaker center, the Penn front wall presents an almost impregnable appearance.

Both of these men are well over 200 pounds in weight, and the Penn guards seldom leave the line to swing into the interference, but play the old regulation guard game.

Young's Ends like the remainder of the line, are big and fast. Ted Fairchild, a San Francisco boy, has been seen in action here before, having played with Nevada before transferring to the Philadelphia institution. Ted Craig is the other wingman. Fairchild and Craig are primarily defensive ends, Thayer being kept in readiness to send in whenever a capable catcher of passes is needed.

The Quaker backfield centers around Al Kreuz, triple-threat fullback. Kreuz is a power line-plunger, an accurate passer and a dangerous goal-kicker.

It was Kreuz' forward passes which were directly responsible for the three Pennsylvania touchdowns against Cornell, while his goals from the field have been the deciding factor in three of Penn's victories this year.

Captain Rea McGraw and Al Fields compose the backfield combination. Both of these men are at their best in open-field work, with McGraw capable of relieving Kreuz of some of the passing work if necessary. Signals are called by Joe Laird, who has been in that position all season. His generalship, though not extraordinary, has been good enough to pull the Quakers out of some tight holes in the past.

The above-mentioned men have composed the eleven which carried Pennsylvania's colors through an undefeated season. The cast is banking on them to maintain this record against California on New Years day.

Vernon Showell Is Soccer Commissioner

Vernon Showell has accepted the appointment as soccer commissioner of the Olympic clubb, filling the position formerly held by Edgar Pomeroy.

Showell has been prominent in all branches of athletics in San Francisco for the past fifteen years, formerly having charge of the Vampire club at the time it made such a strong showing in the California cup tires play.

Showell has been connected with the South End oarsmen for several years and is president of the Pacific Association of Amateur Oarsmen.

Bill Essick Will Get New Players

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8.—Bill Essick, manager of the Vernon baseball club of the Pacific Coast League, due to arrive home tomorrow from the National Minor League meeting at Hartford, Conn., slipped the boys at home a word of what he has been accomplishing en route in a telegram to Howard Lorenz, club secretary. The Bengal boss stated in his wire that Charley Fulton, right-hand pitcher secured from the Atlanta club last season, had been sold outright to the Evansbille club in the Three A League, and that he has deals on for two good pitchers and a hard-hitting outfielder.

Hoop Teams to Open Season This Evening

Three Games Booked in 120-Pound Division of Broderick League.

With the playing of the three games in the 120-pound class, the L. C. Broderick basketball league will open its season tonight.

Two games will be played at the New Century club court and another at Sacred Heart auditorium, Fortieth and Grove streets. Play in the unlimited and 130-pound divisions will not start until Wednesday night. No games have been scheduled for the 110 and 145 divisions.

The first 120-pound game at the New Century club tonight will start at 7:30 o'clock with the Herman Athletic club meeting the Colonials, and the second at 8:30, Garfields meeting the Berkeley Boys' club.

At Sacred Heart court, starting at 7:30 o'clock, the Holy Name society shooters will meet the Wilson Juniors.

Two games will be played in the unlimited class on Wednesday night. At Roosevelt school court at 8:30, the Sunset club plays the Mith-Rites and fifteen minutes later at Edison school, the Highlanders of Piedmont play the R. O. T. C. quintet.

The "I Don't Know, Do You" team will meet the Wescos in the first 130-pound game to be played Wednesday night.

A revised schedule follows:

UNLIMITED.

Dec. 10—Sunset club vs. Mith-Rite at Roosevelt, 8:30; Highlanders vs. R. O. T. C., at Edison, 8:45.

Herman Athletic club vs. Colonials at New Century, 7:30.

Berkeley Boys' club vs. Garfields at New Century club, 8:30.

Washington Is Ready to Meet Eastern Eleven

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 8.—The University of Washington has let Coach Knute Rockne know that it is in a receptive mood for a football contract with either Notre Dame or one of the other Big Ten elevens, Darwin Meisnest, graduate manager, said here yesterday.

As the arrangement calls for a game in the east next year, Meisnest felt that the first step should come from Rockne and has made no formal request, he said.

Southerners Withdraw From Prep Grid Play

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8.—Although action has been taken by the California Interscholastic Federation prohibiting the south from taking part in the playoff for the California interscholastic football title, play for the Southern California prep grid championship will continue. Teams of Orange and Glendale, which played a semi-final tie game last Saturday, will meet again this week to determine which eleven shall play Compton for the title.

At the annual meeting of the California Interscholastic Federation here last Saturday members of the Southern section of the body voted to withdraw from competition for the state title as three ties have been played in the Southern California play-off this season and to continue the schedule to the state final would prolong the season to January. As such a condition is apt to recur, it is considered a strong probability that no southern teams will compete in the playoff in the future.

Syracuse Was Not Rated as Leading Team

Illinois Declined to Tackle Notre Dame; Zuppke Respects South Bend Team.

By LAWRENCE PERRY.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8. — Southern California's victory over the Syracuse eleven at Los Angeles Saturday simply demonstrated once more that proficiency in the gridiron game is now a national possession.

Otherwise the game proved little of importance. Syracuse is always a strong team, always may be relied upon to play football of meritorious brand. But it would be going too far to say that the Orange rated among the stronger teams of the country this season.

It was not in fact—as it usually is—one of the strong teams of the east. But the players probably had a pleasant journey and the bumps they received, no less the beating, will not minimize their enjoyment of what they see of the broad United States on their return to the east nor lessen the beneficial effects in the way of instruction and widened viewpoint.

Notre Dame slowly but surely is reaping the benefits of eligibility rules and scholastic standards consentaneous with those of members of the western conference in the midwest section of the country.

Illinois in declining to imperal her chances in important big ten games by taking on the South Bend team next year showed a consideration of her players and her prestige which among some institutions do not outweigh the lure of bumper crowds and enhanced receipts.

Out in the middle west the foregathering of coaches of the big ten and other colleges resulted in some informal discussion of the forward pass such as has been heard in the east.

Is football, through the development in greater degree of the forward pass, going to approximate basketball? This is the question that is being widely debated.

THE ARMY'S NEEDS.

In the valedictory report of General John J. Pershing, recently released, may be found some emphatic and blunt observations. The soldiers of the rank and file, infantrymen in the World War, will be pleased at the recognition given them as the main aim of attack and defense.

During the World War extravagant tales of havoc done to enemy cities and installations were brought back, in good faith, no doubt, by some of our aviators, but investigation after the armistice failed in the majority of cases to verify the correctness of such reports . . . The infantry still remains the backbone of the attack, and the role of other arms is to help it reach the enemy.

On the eve of his retirement General Pershing held the greatest service he could render would be to discuss frankly the state of national defense and show in what respects it falls short of the standard set up in the law of 1920. That law, it will be remembered, was intended to create the nucleus of a citizen army that could be expanded automatically in an emergency.

General Pershing holds it as an evidence of wise building that the country has accepted the national defense policy, but he is fearful that repeated shrinkage of appropriations will make it difficult to carry out the designs. The whole plan, he argues, is in danger unless there is provided a complement of at least 13,000 officers and 150,000 men. "The most vital need," he adds, "is an increase in our air service." It is the Pershing idea that the experiences of the World War should have taught this lesson to America for "in spite of an appropriation of $600,000,000 no American plane was flown in battle until August, 1918, and only some 600 planes had been sent to the front before the armistice."

So, while the infantry remains the backbone, the airplane is an indispensable auxiliary and should be produced, established, and maintained "on such a basis as to be easily expanded in time of emergency."

ROTOR HATS NEXT?

According to a dispatch from Berlin, rotor hats, designed to propel their wearers after the manner of the Flettner sailless rotor ship, are in prospect for men, women and children. The writer conceiving the idea would provide all pedestrians with roller skates and "send them through the streets entirely without effort."

If the idea comes to fruition, it will no doubt add to the joy of living. Speeding motorists will discover fit adversaries in skating rotorists. Not the least splendid thing about it is that should any one's rotor hat be blown off by the wind, so abundant is the milk of human kindness, that countless rotorists will be found [illegible] true to form.

THE REAL "RED" MENACE.

What is the red menace in the United States? A director of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, speaking the other day at New Orleans, answered his own question by declaring that it's the constantly increasing fire loss in this country. Forty years ago it was $78,000,000. Last year it was $508,000,000. The population increased 100 per cent. The fire loss increased 600 per cent. The $508,000,000 loss incurred last year is only a part of the fire bill. Add to this the upkeep of fire departments, the cost of maintaining the water supply, the cost of fire alarm service and the total is $1,210,000,000.

Statistics in themselves are dull reading. To the average mind they carry but little significance, so accustomed have we of the present generation become to figures of almost fabulous proportions. Dramatized statistics, however, statistics reduced to the concrete, have an arresting quality that immediately challenges the attention.

Try to visualize $1,211,000,000! It is enough to build a hard surfaced highway four hundred miles long, put a $5000 house on each fifty-foot frontage on each side; put $2500 worth of furniture in each house and a $1000 automobile at each gate. It will give all this and $2500 to each owner for pin money, and yet leave $18,212,000 unexpended.

Thrown into this shape, figures become eloquent. They grip the attention, and cry out for action.

This is the economic loss. Add to it, to round out the picture, 14,542 persons burned to death and 16,212 injured in the year, and the red peril is seen in its true light. But the terror and the suffering involved cannot be measured.

What shall be done about it? Adopt a new slogan, or make universal the consciousness that eternal vigilance is the price of safety?

SAN LEANDRO STARTS SURVEY.

San Leandro, in the language of the moment, is "sitting pretty." An integral part of the prosperous Eastbay, it lies in the path of the spread of Oakland and possesses, in addition to its homes and orchards, large areas for industrial development. Like Emeryville, it has attracted to its doors factories of national reputation and prominence.

No one needs tell these things to San Leandro, for there is a general appreciation there of what has taken place and a common confidence in what the future offers, but worthy of comment are the plans of the city's leading men to advance the interests of their community.

That place which, possessing advantages, is able at any moment to answer questions from the outside and supply all requested figures and data, is in the way to reap new rewards. As a result of a recent meeting of San Leandro citizens interested in industries, realty, and city planning, a survey of what the city has and what it can offer is under way. The available industrial property will be mapped, rail tariffs studied and presented in comprehensible manner, and all of those other facts and figures of interest to the prospective investor will be compiled in authoritative way.

The chairman of San Leandro's city planning commission has said that he regards the institution of this survey as marking "a milestone in the history of the city's industrial development." What benefits San Leandro benefits the whole Eastbay and the State. Certainly Oakland has every reason to rejoice in the prosperity that is coming to one of its immediate neighbors and to congratulate its leading citizens on their initiative and enterprise.

With the vanishing of our frontiers, and the coming of unparalleled prosperity, it might be thought that never again will the country hear the slogan, "From Log Cabin to White House," applied to a candidate. But it is still within the realm of the possible. Log cabins are still being built. Philadelphia reports "Log cabins built in this vicinity incorporate many novel details." One of them "of a most distinguished type" cost $20,000. This is a far cry from the original, but it is possible some future slogan may reintroduce the romance and glamour of the old.

Fifty aerial torpedos have been stolen from secret reserve ammunition magazines at La Playa, near San Diego, according to United States naval officers. A few weeks ago at Fort McArthur, Los Angeles, "yeggs" forced a safe and abstracted valuable army papers, confidential in nature. It is suggested that Uncle Sam lay in a stock of warranted pad locks—and use them.

For the first time in the history of the Bowery in New York there was so much food on Thanksgiving that its dispensers had to fare forth into the highways and byways to find guests outside the regular habitues of that thoroughfare's missions. The reason may be a more generous outpouring of good will, or the dawn of better times. Perhaps both were factors.

Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska in the presence of reporters and a photographer was the first customer at Lincoln's municipal gasoline station, where gas was dispensed at 13 cents a gallon. And yet he wanted to move to Washington!

THE SLURRING EVIL.

Many persons whose chief occupation is with the English language will doubtless sympathize with the complaint of Frederick Warde against "the growing evil of slurring our words." Writers, actors, public speakers who have conceived a fondness for the language and have developed a special sense of appreciation for its beauties naturally resent "this habit of inarticulate speaking."

But how much of this habit is evil and where the evil begins and where it ends is a fruitful subject for infinite debate. Language like the Sabbath was made for man and not man for the language and when he finds greater convenience or greater beauty in changing the form or the sound of a word, he is going to change it and all the scholars in Christendom cannot stop him. The language as we speak it today, even in its purest form, is the result of countless ages of this practice of slurring.

Not all the slurring of words which has developed the English of the twentieth century has been done in common speech, either. What we call slurring, when the workman speaks of savin' his money, is given the more dignified term of elision, when the poet says 'neath for beneath and o'er for over.

If one doubts whether slurring or elision has been a useful habit, let him attempt to speak his language as he finds it written, articulating the silent letters as well as those which are commonly enunciated. Many of our silent letters are the result of this habit of slurring words. We have kept them in the written form of the words, but have rejected them as utterly useless in the spoken language.

But for this deplorable habit, we should still be speaking a language somewhat like that which Chaucer wrote. Anyone who prefers Chaucerian English to that of 1924 is welcome to it.—Omaha World-Herald.

How can I tell to you
The frightened feeling when we cross the bay
The cautious labored feeling of our way
Until the trip is through

How can I sound the sounds
That reel and eddy in the foggy gray,
The whistles bells and horns 'n serried bay,
The shaking vessel and the pounds.

How can I tell the lights
That glitter through the spuming spray
For instance and then die away
Like burried nights.

Thus is our life through;
This is a preface to eternity.
We only sense and never clearly see,
Yet hope our course is true.

A gentleman from the east was introduced to a man prominent in the affairs of our city.

"I come from New Haven," said the stranger.

"And was the polite response," from what city in New Haven?"

The man who delivers a speech into the microphone waits vainly for applause. But, on the other hand, he has no worries from a stout man in the third row who falls asleep, from the lady who signals her friend across the aisles, or from that greatest pest of all, the program rustler. Yet, for all of that, the feeling of the man who talks into the radio for the first time is that he might as well be talking through his hat—and sometimes he is.

FIVE O'CLOCK IN THE MORNING.

So it was not Pola after all, but Lita, and Charlie Chaplin, who has [illegible] with a funny mustache floppy feet and a springy cane, weds his leading woman in a desolate Mexican hamlet.

When the women of the United States opened their morning newspapers to that announcement they said two things. First they asked rhetorically, "Why 5 o'clock in the morning?" which proved the Chaplin sense of publicity has not been dulled by the years, and then they said with variations, "Well, she looks more than 18 to me," which proved something about the Brigadier General's lady and Mrs. Kjellpowska as suggestion in a well known psychological ditty of "a minor poet certified by Trail."

At least that crisis is over and film fandom will wish its favorites joy, remembering that Hollywood has had no sensation of note since the most recent shooting affair.—Albany Knickerbocker Press.

APOSTLE OF THREE R'S.

Mr. A. B. See of Brooklyn has written a book arguing against modern education. We teach too many ologies nowadays, he says. Particularly he opposes education for women. Women's colleges, he says, ought to be burned to the ground.

Mr. See, as all the world has occasion to know by this time, is a manufacturer of elevators. Consider the life sega of the elevator. It goes up, up, up. In fact, it gives a very fair imitation of scaling the heights. But alackaday! No matter how high it seems to go, it always spends the night in the basement, down there in the dark.—New York World.

THE NATIONAL PRESS

Christian Science Monitor: "While the study of arguments for and against paying inmates of penal institutions for their labor while serving sentence may be interesting, when it comes to drawing a working conclusion, an ounce of practice is worth a pound of theory. In the Square Deal, a prison paper edited and printed by inmates of the Maryland penitentiary and house of correction, one reads that 'prisoners here and in the house of correction earned for themselves $149,000 last year. Much of this sum went to the wives and children, some of it has been placed in banks and some has been spent for the little things which make for comfort.' Is there need for any further arguments regarding the advisability of the system?"

Detroit News: "The meteoric career of Thomas H. Ince, illustrates the possibilities when youth, imagination and perseverance are combined. He died young, but for that matter so did Keats, and Shelley, Raphael, and a whole galaxy of bright, particular stars in the firmament of genius. He had, of course, the advantage of pioneering in a tremendously popular field. In his way he was a pathfinder and his reward came quickly and abundantly. The motion picture world lost a genius when Mr. Ince died, but the best of his work will live a long time."

Portland Oregonian: "Borah has returned money contributed toward his expense for re-election. That is a precedent to view with alarm."

Brooklyn Eagle: "The nautical bottle of rum is to be restored to the United States navy—in principle. Soda water and pop are once more to be permitted on American battleships. When Mr. Daniels banished liquor, he threw soft drinks overboard at the same time on the ground of their bulk. Mr. Wilbur proposes to replace them. So our jolly tars, drenched with winter seas, may refresh themselves aboard with a potion of gingerale or a swizzle of birch beer."

Philadelphia Public Ledger: "The riddle of the Egyptian sands is whether the Sphinx or the British Lion will save its face."

Kansas City Star: "Every once in a while the divorce news is varied by reports of long separated or divorced couples reuniting, usually with high promise of enduring union. Why not a 'get together week' for divorced persons?"

Houston Post-Dispatch: By adding about a couple more hours of sleep each night and about three hours more of work a day, we fancy about 90 per cent of the unrest in this country would be disposed of."

Kansas City Star: "The sidewalks of New York may waver a little in their allegiance to Al Smith when it is learned there that he has the gout."

Rochester Times-Union: "Don't worry when you stumble—remember that a worm is about the only thing that can't fall down."

Baltimore Sun: "There are but three bits of architecture distinctly American: the colonial house, the skyscraper and the filling station."

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS

The United States Navy, in all its units, should be maintained in the best of repair and modern condition as to machinery and equipment. The fighting efficiency of the fleet should be superlative. This is not for any militaristic purpose, but to give this country the protection that naturally is to [illegible] defenses. The whole purpose of this nation, as to maintenance of army and navy, is defensive. While the size of the navy is limited by the arms conference agreement the most should be made of the forces [illegible] maintained, as to efficiency.—Long Beach Press-Telegram.

English clergymen have rendered a helpful service to male subjects of the English king by refusing to adopt a requirement that men should be required to wear wedding rings. It was felt that men would have to buy the rings, if required, and that this would add another financial burden to the expensive process of getting married. This is obviously right and reasonable. Everything possible should be done to cut down the cost of weddings, in England and elsewhere.—San Diego Union.

Let's observe the spirit of Christmas, not only with regard to those to whom we are sending gifts, or messages, but also to those who are to handle them. Our Christmas spirit will be the gladder for this thoughtfulness.—Fresno Republican.

The first telephone exchange in Redding was in Eaton's drug store, which in 1894 was in California street, next door to the present telephone office. Long distance was unknown. It was not until 1897 that the telephone company gave Redding a long distance connection.—Redding Searchlight.

Recent editorials calling attention to the opportunities for patriotic service in the ranks of the officers' reserve corps have been taken to heart by many citizens throughout the country. Men are [illegible] only in direct military command, but in specialized professional ways. In the days of peace citizens may be prepared themselves, without any interference with their vocations or avocations, for service in the emergency, and it is the duty, as well as the patriotic privilege, of every man to be prepared.—Vallejo Chronicle.

Thirty acres were planted to the crop and 18,000 pounds were obtained from this acreage. It was largely in the nature of an experiment, but it showed conclusively that cotton can be raised in commercial quantities in Glenn county.—Oroville Register.

CONSOLATION.

One of them muttered that life is bleak
A round of pain for the worn and weak,
With nothing certain which fingers clutch,
Save loss to take what you value much.
And pain and misery shrieked anew
And nodded their heads that his words were true

Another one said that the dead were saved
The hurt and care which the living braved.
The living suffer the living ache
At night in terror the living wake
And death looked on with a leering eye
Confirming his words. "It is best to die."

Oh, woman! Oh woman! Not long, not long
The pain shall stay if your faith be strong
Shed another tear. There is much for you
There is many a task for your hands to do
There are those who need what your love can give
And life smiled back. "It is good to live."

Still she wept when the first passed on
Louder she wailed when the next had gone.
But she said as the third one turned to go
"I am glad you came, you have helped me so"
I can keep my faith, I can braver be,
For the sake of the ones who are needing me."

OLD SALT PROTESTS TUG CAPTAIN'S STUNT.

Editor of The Tribune:

Sir: Kindly allow me to make this public protest against the action of a "Tow-boat skipper" today (Friday) in "crossing the bows" of the ferry-steamer Hayward on the 1 o'clock trip to the Mole in spite of warning blasts from the Key Route vessel. I witnessed the incident and consider the action of the tow-boat master a regrettable example of how marine disasters are likely to occur when a determined pilot or skipper won't give the right of way to a passenger vessel running on a time schedule.

If the Key Route captain had tried to "beat" the tow-boat skipper there might have been a bad smash on that tow-boat's (bulwark) starboard side—but fortunately the ferry captain wisely slowed down his vessel in time to avert a collision. A little courtesy and "turn of the helm to port" would have been a wiser move on the tow-boat man's part than such a "fool hardy" course of cutting across the bows of a ferry. "Safety First" should be rigidly maintained by all steamboat men on the bay when men violate that wise policy they deserve the protest of the public, whose lives are jeopardized by "foot-hardiness of taking chances" or "beating another boat to the dead-line" or danger zone. "Safety First" advice—this from a commuter.

DON'T YOU HATE HISTORY?

Toward the tag end of the thirteenth page of a letter a woman reader sends me, I notice—you see, I have a habit of taking a peek at the place where the signature should be before I begin to scan the letter, for when the signature is lacking I chuck the letter and save myself much labor—near the bottom of the thirteenth page and not far from where the lady begins to threaten to call it a day and send off the letter with insufficient postage, I find this original remark.

"Believing that I have covered every essential item and trusting . . ."

The point is conceded, madam, without argument. From a cursory weighing of your case—my scales are out of order—I should say offhand that you must have covered every salient item from Burgoyne's surrender at Saratoga to the fourth decennial conference on reparations. You have taken good care of every important point except the postage. While I do not mind the 5 cents, it is the hullabaloo the carrier raises at the door and the scampering and confusion in the office while all hands search for the 5 cents. We might tell the poor man to go along about his business, but there is always the chance that the letter is one from a gold mine stock agency or maybe a description of a novel and never failing treatment for warts or bow legs.

Somehow I never have taken any interest in history. I "took" it in school, of course, it was compulsory, like vaccination. But I have never liked it the least bit. My interest seems to run rather to the things the historians do not tell such as who or what killed George Washington, and whether Lincoln's constipation prolonged the war.

Quite a majority of readers understand that this is not a medical column and that I do not attempt to give medical advice. There are still seven or eight, however, who carefully close their eyes to the notice to that effect which has been printed here a thousand times, and bombard me with the protocols of their "cases" apparently hoping that I will offer some medical advice.

I say I hate history. I've enjoyed life pretty well so far without reading much history, and I certainly do not intend to change my habits in that respect now. So I would request the reader who has his symptoms or history all written up to submit it to a physician, or a barber, or a traffic officer, as the taste may be, and spare me the anguish of paying all this due postage.

Next to skimping or defaulting altogether on the signature there is scarcely a better way to insure a quick and cordial chucking of your letter—and seizure of any return postage you may have inadvertently sent with it—than garnishing it with symptoms of receding chapters of your history or the history of your mother or your son. In fact this necessity has grown to such proportions that we have installed a mechanical chicken feed in the office which handles these historical documents very satisfactorily indeed.

This is merely a quick [illegible]. If I can help you to keep well I'll be delighted to serve you. But believe me there's not now, never has been and never will be anything whatever doing here in the fields of diagnosis, treatment of disease or hypothetical medical opinion. If that's what you want, my advice is strenuously—consult a physician.

MAYOR BIDS PARK BOARD OUST KING

As a prelude to tomorrow's meeting of the board of park directors when the members of the board will discuss the mayor's demand for their resignations Mayor Davie today fired another broadside at the park department

The mayor's list of alleged delinquencies by the park board includes the following assertions

That Director W R King of the park board appointed his nephew as a park gardener despite the civil service rule that two years of gardening experience are necessary before gardeners can be appointed

That the park board has refused to accept the civil service board's list of eligible laborers for this position

That King appointed J H Barnes and W R Kirby as gardeners although Barnes had worked 32 years on the Southern Pacific and knew nothing whatever of gardening

The mayor asserts "I hesitate to vision what municipal employment conditions would be were such attempts as yours continued successfully"

The mayor concludes

"I have previously requested the resignations of Directors Campbell and Sanborn of your board The statements made in the civil service report are of such serious nature in my opinion and show such studied attempts on the part of your board to evade civil service whenever possible that I now request the resignation of Director King as well as those previously requested

"Your resignations will permit me to appoint a board that is in sympathy with my policies, as your recent actions have shown conclusively that you are antagonistic

"Should you fail to resign I shall consider it an admission that you intend to continue your attempts to develop a 'boss controlled' machine in the park department, without reference to other economy or efficiency and I shall take every means in my power to remove you at the first opportunity"

Very truly yours,
JOHN L DAVIE,
Mayor of the City of Oakland"

SERPY TERRY ADMITS GUILT IN AUTO CASE

Serpy Sam Terry, whose numerous escapades have brought him repeatedly into the limelight, usually in connection with the Volstead law, today sprung a surprise when he entered a plea of guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated The action came in Superior Judge Fred V. Wood's court after testimony had been taken before a jury The jury was dismissed and the plea taken by Judge Wood who set Friday morning for sentence

The first witness for the prosecution who was heard Friday, was Policeman Jack Fisher of the Berkeley force who told of arresting Terry in company with a woman at University and San Pablo avenue several weeks ago while Terry was driving his auto in a zig zag manner Fisher said that Terry's condition was such that he refused to allow the man to drive the car to the police station, the officer taking the wheel

Terry was convicted in the federal courts some time ago in connection with the Monterey raids, was fined $5000 and sentenced to eighteen months in jail This case is on appeal

He was acquitted two weeks ago of charges of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to murder in the shooting of H J Robbins, then an Oakland policeman who was watching a warehouse in which it was suspected that Terry kept a stock of liquor

Pioneer Passes

The funeral of CHARLES S. LOHSE, century old pioneer, was held today from the residence of his daughter, Mrs Hayward Thomas

Simple ceremonies marked the funeral of Charles S Lohse, 100, pioneer of California and the oldest registered voter in Alameda county this morning from the home of his daughter, Mrs Hayward Thomas, 2949 Summit street

A staunch Republican, Lohse went to the polls on November 4 to cast his ballot for Calvin Coolidge On April 28 of this year he celebrated his 100th anniversary at a reception at the Thomas home Born in New York, Lohse received his education there and in Geneva, Switzerland

The gold rush brought him to the Golden Gate by way of Cape Horn on the "courier" which took eight months to make a stormy cruise He arrived in San Francisco late in '49

In the early fifties, Lohse returned to the bay region, taking up extensive ranching interests near Concord Contra Costa county Hayward and Fresno, where the railroad station was the only indication of a town

Retiring from active interests five years ago, Lohse made his home with Mrs Hayward He had not omitted to cast his ballot in elections for the past seventy-nine years His wife, Mrs Deborah Hughes Lohse died in 1915.

Three daughters and two sons survive They are Mrs Thomas, Mrs R H Merrennel, Mrs. George Westcott Dr John Louis Lohse and Frank Lohse The grandchildren are Mrs. Katheryn Thomas Bangs, a bride of a fortnight, Donald and Robert Thomas, Elizabeth and Charles Lohse

FOUR SPECIAL WIRE SERVICES

REACTION SHOWS IN SPECULATIVE RAILWAY BONDS

High-Grade Stuff Remains Steady; Market St. Railway Liens Off.

By GEORGE T. HUGHES.

SPECIAL BY WIRE TO THE TRIBUNE

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—St[illegible]ness in the high grade [illegible] issues and irregularity [illegible] more speculative descriptions featured today's bond market. Chicago Railway 5s advanced 2 points under [illegible] heavy transactions. [illegible] they were up 7 points from a week ago. There were no new developments to account for the buying interest.

Third Avenue adjustments [illegible] fractionally [illegible] Interboro issues and Brooklyn Manhattan Transit [illegible] were heavy. Market Street Railway 7s fell back below par. [illegible] Carolina [illegible] were [illegible] favorable annual statement [illegible] receivers showing a deficit of over $5,000[illegible].

Reactionary tendencies were observable among the speculative rails. St. Louis-San Francisco [illegible] comes lost nearly a point and Seaboard Air Line adjustments were down more than [illegible] N. adjustments sold [illegible] below [illegible] against last week's high of 71[illegible]. Trading, however, was relatively light.

United States government list was steady. The fourth 4¼s liberties were in demand but price changes were small. Despite the slightly firmer tone in the time money there was no apparent weakness in the high grade rails.

In the foreign group the Paris Lyons Mediterranean 7s recently offered at [illegible], broke more than two points. The other French railway [illegible] while the new French [illegible] sold either at the issue—or [illegible].

Today's new offerings included $5,000,000 Illinois Power and Light refunding 5½s due 1954 to yield 5.70 per cent, $1,27[illegible] City of Paterson, N. J., 4½ [illegible] bonds to yield from [illegible] to 4.[illegible] per cent, $2[illegible] to Louisiana Power 1st 6s due 1944 to yield [illegible] per cent and $1,000,000 St. Louis Joint stock land bank 4½s due 1955, at par.

Cotton Prices Make Advance

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—The government cotton crop estimate, fully 100,000 bales below expectations, caused a brisk upturn in the price of cotton futures.

When trading on the New York Cotton Exchange was resumed after the twenty-minute recess during which the report was received and digested prices shot up from [illegible] to ¾ cent a pound, sending the January quotation to 22.90 and May to 24.10.

BY UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—The cotton crop this year will total 13,153,000 bales, compared with 1[illegible] bales last year, the Department of Agriculture estimated today.

Cotton of the 1924 crop ginned up to December 1 totalled 12,225,0[illegible] running bales (counting round as half bales) against 9,24[illegible] bales ginned in the corresponding period last year, the Census Bureau reported in a simultaneous statement.

Child Labor Law Gets Women's Vote

PETALUMA, Dec. 8.—The Petaluma Woman's Club has endorsed the child labor amendment of the constitution of the United States. It was discussed before the club by Mrs. Jessie M. Green, district chairman of social and industrial relations, and the club members went on record with their ratification.

Officers Named By Petaluma Lodge

PETALUMA, Dec. 8. — Anona Council, Daughters of Pocahontas, has elected the following officers: Prophetess, Julia Eatherton; Pocahontas, Mary Valencia; Wanonah, Dolores Hickey; Powhatan, John Lee; keeper of records, Pearl Hickey, [illegible] Kenneth Eatherton; trustee, Vila Lovell; musician, Edna Meadows.

Marine Interests Expect Big Year

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Dec. 8.—Marine interests here anticipate a big season in 1925. The Cleveland Cliffs Iron Company has placed a contract for August delivery by the Great Lakes [illegible] contracts let recently for 600-foot freighters and one for a self unloading ore boat.

Officers Are Named By Pythian Sisters

PETALUMA, Dec. 8.—Petaluma Temple, Pythian Sisters, has elected the following officers: Past chief, Bertha Turner; most excellent chief, Lena Plummer; senior, Mrs. Louis Goverts; junior, Mrs. L. Kensie; manager, Tursia Jackson; mistress of records, Violet Sebranes; mistress of finance, Veronica Parks; protector, Mrs. E. Rodshi; guard, Mrs. H. Marde[illegible]; trustees, Mrs. E. Bino.

Grain Prices Hit New Highs; Supply Short

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—Every delivery of both wheat and corn went soaring today above any prices heretofore attained this season. Greatly accelerated general commission house buying based on reports of severe crop damage in Argentina supplied the motive force.

It was contended that at present the December delivery of wheat in Chicago is the cheapest wheat obtainable anywhere in the world. The delivery today showed 2¾ cents advance at $1.59¾ a bushel, compared with the closing price on Saturday. December corn showed a 2⅜c advance at $1.21¾.

$200,000 Insurance for Key Route; More Highs Made in Local Stocks; Sperry Flour May Head New Trust; Market Conditions Remain Puzzle

By H. S. SCOTT.

The street believed that it had the solution today of the remarkable strength of Key Route stocks in the face of prospective heavy mulcting for damages from Wednesday's accident. In the well authenticated report that the company carried a $200,000 Lloyd casualty policy. While $200,000 may not cover settlement of all claims arising out of the crash, it will undoubtedly go a long way towards it. Moreover, the Short Line is known to also carry casualty insurance, and it is very probable that between the two corporations they will so adjust claims that there will be no material cut into surplus or current receipts.

The stocks of the Key company were strong again today. The Short Line common was bid at $1 and asked $3.

There were some new highs made again on the San Francisco exchanges today. Pacific Gas & Electric preferred sold up to 92¾ and Shell Union Oil at 22. The oil market generally was strong. The tendency of North American to stay below $3 has convinced some of the holders of the stock that for the present at least the dividend rate will remain at 2 cents a month instead of 3 cents as expected when the stock climbed in the neighborhood of $3.50 some days ago.

Sperry Flour both common and preferred was active today and the preferred was in new high ground at 94, while the common held the record level of 54½ reached Saturday. The street is giving W. H. Joyce, the recently elected president and general manager, a good portion of the credit for the strong position of these stocks. Joyce was able to take Albers Brothers from the non-dividend paying class and make it a dividend payer, while directing the destinies of that corporation. The company has also a board of directors strongly supporting Joyce. The vacancies created by the McNear Brothers was filled by J. K. Armsby, chairman of the board of the California Packing corporation, and R. J. Hanna, a director of the Standard Oil Company. Others on the board of directors are William H. Crocker, W. W. Crocker, Roy N. Bishop, Hugh Goodfellow, Dunning Rideout, John H. Rosseter, J. K. Smith and William H. Joyce.

There is much discussion concerning future plans of Sperry Flour. The present board of directors would be capable of guiding Sperry Flour after the manner of California Packing Corporation. It may be that a flour trust with Sperry as the nucleus, will be formed. There are only 54,000 shares of common stock outstanding. In September 1912, the Sperry Flour Company acquired all the properties of the Portland Flouring Mills through the exchange of its $3,000,000 7% Preferred Stock for $3,000,000 first mortgage 6% bonds, which were then outstanding against the properties. The Portland Flouring Mills was then organized under the laws of Oregon as a subsidiary of the Sperry Flour Company. Preceding the common stock, there is outstanding $5,372,000 first mortgage 6% Gold Bonds due 1942, $3,592,500 par value 7% cumulative preferred stock. The company is well financed, but as it does not issue statements but once a year as of July 1, it will be hard to determine accurate figures.

Milling conditions generally all over the country have been very favorable and it is reasonable to believe that a large organization like the Sperry Flour Company will participate in these favorable conditions.

Moody's weekly review of financial conditions in its issue today says in part: "Investors are widely interested in the prospects for a December reaction because of their desire to buy stocks without paying the peak prices. The occurence of these reactions, however, depends usually upon Mercantile rather than Wall Street conditions. If merchants and producers are so well supplied with cash capital that commercial paper discounts move downward during the final quarter of the year, no December reaction in the stock market usually occurs, but if this movement of discounts is upward, the December stock reaction almost always does occur.

"One cannot say what this kind of a market should do, because there never was a market of this particular kind before. Commercial paper discounts are creeping upward, but investment capital is abundant. There may perhaps be some scattering selling of stocks within the next week or so, but indications are that the public will be a substatial buyer during the first half of this month."

Discussing the rumored merger of Rock Island with Southern Pacific, a circular by Tucker, Bartholomew & Co. of New York says:

"High officials of the Rock Island deny that any negotiations are on for the purchase of Rock Island by Southern Pacific—and this may be technically correct—but we have the highest authority notwithstanding for the statement that, while offical negotiations may not have been opened, unofficial intimations [illegible] would be paid by the Southern Pacific for the Rock Island property and that Rock Island interests have as strongly intimated that 1 per cent would not be acceptable. They maintain that Rock Island, with a government valuation of $122 per share, in the best physical condition in its history and in position to earn next year well in excess of what it will show this year, would not be justified, in the eyes of stockholders, in recommending any such guarantee.

"If 'Frisco common is worth 65 and Missouri Pacific common is worth 32, Rock Island, which is capitalized for $15,000 per mile less than any of its neighboring roads, and in better physical condition, is a very cheap stock at present prices, independent of any consolidation, but we believe that consolidation with the Southern Pacific is an early probability and that a 5 per cent rate to be received by the Rock Island will be finally agreed upon by the Southern Pacific interests when they secure sufficient stock in the open market."

A further moderate tightening of money rates was considered a natural result of the expansion in credit demands occasioned by reviving industry and active markets the past week. The federal reserve statements showed that these banks still are helping to furnish the additional credit. A sizeable increase in discounts for member banks was accompanied by another substantial addition to the volume of bankers' acceptances purchased by the reserve banks in the open market. Part of the enlargement of earning assets was attributed to the special demands that center around the first of the month. It was thought, however, that more than merely transient influences were at work.

Two large exportations of gold toward the end of the week were a reminder of the importance that the international gold movement now carries. Although the influx of the metal slackened during the fall, a definite excess of gold exports has yet to be established.

Bankers realize that fundamental economic force favor an export account and are watching closely for a turn in the tide. Although car loadings are showing the normal seasonal decline, they are continuing to set new high records for this time of year. The loadings for the week ended November 22, the latest for which figures are available, amounted to 1,010,000 cars.

With the traffic movement at such levels it was not considered surprising that the railroads' October earnings were excellent. The class one roads were able to show net of $127,000,000 which is equivalent to 5.8 per cent on the interstate commerce commission valuation.

Cotton prices sagged off slightly with the January future losing about 45 points at 22.95 cents. The loss was attributed to expectations that today's government crop report would show an increase over the 12,992,000 bales estimated in the last official report. Average figures indicate that the trade has been coming to expect a crop of about 13,250,000 bales. The exceptionally favorable fall weather, which increased the yield, has helped to solve the problems of the textile trade.

STREET CAR LINES COMPRISE 2 PCT. NATION'S WEALTH

SPECIAL BY WIRE TO THE TRIBUNE

BOSTON, Dec. 8.—The largest holders of street railway securities in this country are the people who ride on the cars and the imperative necessity of protecting those investors even against themselves was expressed today by Lucian C. Storrs of New Haven former president of the American Electric Railways Association.

His utterances here before the New England Motor Transport Conference, which may be taken as an official expression from the electric lines of the country, pointed out that the loss in scrapping street car lines superceded by busses must be met out of bus earnings and that when these losses are included in bus fares it will mean a higher rate of fare than that now charged on electric lines.

"The superseded physical property has a definite value which is represented by issues of stocks and bonds held in large quantities by the public," he said. "It will be necessary to permit net earnings by any new service of an amount in excess of the allowed 'fair return' sufficient to amortize the physical value so superceded over a term of years."

LOCAL PROBLEMS.

Storrs also outlined what he declared were the principles to be followed in connection with local transportation. "It is the duty of electric railway companies," he declared, "to supply all necessary local service in their respective territories whether by street cars or busses. It is the right of electric railways to control all local service without competition when they do it properly.

Experience proves that busses cannot supercede electric cars in handling mass transportation, although busses may be advantageously used in many ways. Although electric roads are operating busses widely, their experience has not been sufficient to determine what is the real place of the bus in local transportation. In view of the fact that half the daily street car riders numbering about 20,000,000 people are moved during the "peak load" hours of the day.

MOTOR BUS PROBLEM.

Explaining that his company operated busses on a large scale, Storrs emphasized the fact that these passengers must be handled at the rate of 5,000,000 per hour during the rush period. "This mass movement," he added, "is the real problem and one that only large capacity cars or trains can cope with. Try to visualize the effect, in streets already congested to the point of saturation, of attempting to move this load by busses alone. The development of the motor bus, however, has been an efficient aid in providing improved service. The flexibility of this transportation unit which is not confined to fixed routes makes it possible to extend service into areas that have been developed since street railway trackage was constructed and by coordinating with street car service to give better facilities to communities involved.

"The full utility of busses, however, cannot be determined until [illegible] coordinate the two types of service. The hundreds of millions of dollars spent in improving the high way have made possible a more recent facility for the conduct of transportation."

VALUE OF PLANTS.

The value of the electric railway plants of the country, he explained, constituted two per cent of the national wealth, or over $5,600,000,000, and that this investment must be protected. The merchants of business sections depend on reliable transportation to bring customers to their stores and development of residential districts would be impossible without adjacent means of transportation. Such transportation, he alleged, could be supplied only by responsible organizations and not by individuals.

Commodity News

DETROIT, Dec. 8.—The Hupp Motor Car Company turned out 1062 cars in November, against 1537 in October and 1901 in November last year.

The estimated total shipments for the year are 37,700 as compared with 38,279 last year.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 8. — The trapping season has opened with indications that the catch will be one of the smallest in years. The number of muskrat and other fur-bearing animals in this section has been cut by drought.

HOLIDAY GOODS.

ATLANTA, Dec. 8. — The shop early idea has taken a real hold in Atlanta. Merchants report Christmas sales as heavy as in the last minute rushes of previous years. High priced gifts are in demand.

FRUIT.

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 8.—Apple growers of Washington and Oregon are closing their most successful season. Oregon now is cleaning up 1924 production. The Hood River Association got $2.25 a box for its fancy stock.

STEEL.

DULUTH, Dec. 8.—Ore shipments from upper lake ports amounted to 48,614,466 tons during the past season, or 16,412,145 tons less than in 1923.

Financial Notes

Cyrus H. Peirce, senior partner of Peirce Fair & Co. is back from a visit of four months in New York.

Guy Witter, resident manager of Dean, Witter & Co. at Seattle, who has been in San Francisco the past week, expects to leave for home within the next five or six days.

The syndicate offering Argentine national external 6 per cent gold bonds series "B" announce the closing of the books, the issue having been oversubscribed.

Montgomery Ward & Co's sales for November were $17,053,151, against $14,112,312, an increase of 20.84 per cent; for eleven months, $142,570,298, against $119,531,723, an increase of 19.22 per cent.

Hollister Radio Fans Form Club

HOLLISTER, Dec. 8. — Radio fands of this section last night formed the Hollister Radio Club, with an initial membership of fifty. The organizers called the gathering to discuss ways and means to hunt down and eliminate various causes of interference to home-set [illegible].

Elmer Sherman, elected president of the club, who is also manager of the local branch of the Coast Counties Gas and Electric company, promised full co-operation of the company in eliminating noises emanating from defective power line equipment. H. M. Williamson was elected secretary-treasurer; A. L. Johnson, Dr. E. F. Scott and M. F. Hoyle were elected as an executive committee.

The first work of the club will be to invite the radio inspector of the sixth district to come in and help clean up the interference situation, the club to pay his expenses.

Healdsburg K. of P. Elects New Officers

HEALDSBURG, Dec. 8.—Friendship Lodge, Knights of Pythias, has elected officers as follows: O. Albertson, chancellor commander; Fred Young, vice chancellor; A. E. Bowers, prelate; W. S. Miller, master of work; P. R. Laughlin, keeper of records and seal; J. W. Hillhouse, master of finance; M. Earle Adams, master of echequer; R. Gathergood, master of arms; Theron J. Seitz, inner guard; L. J. Hall, trustee.

Nine New Oil Wells In L. A. Basin

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8.—Los Angeles basin oil fields completed nine new wells during the week past, four coming in at Torrance, two at Rosecrans and one each at Santa Fe Springs, Huntington Beach and Long Beach.

HEAVY SELLING CAUSES SLIP IN PRICES OF STOCK

Check to Bull Movement Quite Decisive; Loaning Rates Firmer.

By STUART P. WEST.

SPECIAL BY WIRE TO THE TRIBUNE

WALL STREET, NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Today's stock market bore out the judgment expressed toward the close of last week that whatever measure of prosperity lies ahead, the great rise in prices since election day had been very liberal in the way of discounting it. There was heavy selling from the outset and prices slipped away all through the list. The question had arisen in many minds whether such a market as that of the last two weeks was to be regarded as an accurate barometer whether speculation based upon the spectacle of quickly made paper profits had not entered in too much. This question was at least partially answered today. The check to the "bull market" was quite decisive. It showed alike in the decline in prices and in the falling off in the volume of transactions. Railway shares and industrials were equally affected although there were the usual numerous exceptions among industrial stocks which there always are on such occasions.

MONEY MARKET.

To some extent the money market was an increasing consideration, on funds secured by the stock exchange collateral which are callable from day to day there was no important change. But just as quotations on inter-bank money, better known as bankers' acceptances, were put up last so did rates on commercial paper rise today. The tone of the money market was reported good today. There was more of a demand for fixed date loans which fitted in with the general impression that money conditions, albeit very gradually, were becoming firmer. The view appeared to be quite strong in the bond market where the activity of a month and two months ago had disappeared.

RISE IN COTTON.

The rise in cotton certainly could not have meant that the trade was surprised at the semi-annual government report. The bureau has been repeatedly revising its estimate of the new crop upward, so that whereas in mid-October it was set around 12,7[illegible] bales it has now been raised to 13,153,000. The ginning returns supplement this forecast with a total of 2,985,000 bales, larger than at the same period a year ago. Cotton prices today were not responding to the statistical position, but were rather giving expression to the relief which every speculative market has when a piece of unfavorable news, long awaited, has finally come out.

SOME NEW HIGHS.

The fact that steel had failed to gain ground all last week and that other representative shares like Baldwin had made a similar record, began to be more seriously considered. Leadership has about shifted to stocks in the specialty list, and this certainly did not appeal to the conservative element. American T. & T. made a new high at 132. International Harvester, for a time, was bought on the strength of the farm outlook and there was a sharp run-up in Westinghouse Airbrake, Westinghouse Electric made a new high at 70 and the Fisk Rubbers were bought on the discussion of the likelihood of dividends being resumed on the preferred. American woolen was definitely weak. The recent run-up to around 63 was chiefly the driving in of a short interest.

RAILS FREELY SOLD.

The rails were freely sold. Chicago & Northwestern was the exception, reaching new high figures, effect of profit taking and so did St. Louis-San Francisco felt the Wheeling and Lake Erie preferred. St. Louis Southwestern came off quite sharply. The advance in M. K. & T. and in K. C. Southern had manifestly been checked. General Motors was off nearly two points from its recent top, and so was Hudson.

Nash Motors was the conspicuous exception, having a spectacular jump.

INVESTORS TOLD OF FACTORS OF FOREIGN BONDS

By GEORGE T. HUGHES.

The foreign investment with which American buyers are most familiar is the obligation of a government or a city payable in dollars. [illegible] loans listed on the New York Stock Exchange are of this class. They are comparatively easy to analyze inasmuch as it is only the credit of the borrowing government which has to be considered. There are, however, other kinds of foreign securities that have been sold to American investors in recent years and doubtless there will be more of this sort in the future.

A foreign bond may be payable not in United States dollars but in the currency of the issuing government, pounds sterling, francs, guilders, etc. When a security is offered on this basis a new element enters into the situation and principal on the appointed dates but the value of the currency in which payment is made. Now since the world war the American dollar has been practically the only stable monetary unit. The United States stands almost alone in maintaining a free market for gold. Everyone knows what happened to the German mark and most people are aware of the enormous depreciation in the franc. Even sterling is still below gold parity with the dollar, although there has been great improvement in recent months.

FLUCTUATING EXCHANGE.

The factors which govern the movements of the foreign exchanges are too complicated to be discussed here. For our purpose it is sufficient to recognize that when a foreign bond is payable in a foreign currency its purchase involves a speculation even though it be a mild speculation in foreign exchange. [illegible] of bonds issued in foreign currencies which are payable, interest and principal, at a fixed rate of exchange to the dollar, but these are the exception. I am not referring to those fixed rate bonds.

This matter of the monetary unit in which a bond is payable has nothing whatever to do with its safety. You will get interest and principal as promised but you will receive it in a currency which nowadays has a fluctuating value. This sort of speculation may sometimes be advisable and sometimes profitable, but it should not be entered upon without a realization of its nature.

TODAYS SHORT STORY by Ad Schuster

THE CAPTURE OF OMAHA NED.

THERE had been an accident on the street. A child, who had stepped laughing from the curb, had been hurled back stunned and motionless. The driver of a roadster leaned out and his face, pale and terror-stricken, was stamped on the fleeting scene. He stepped on the gas and made away, pursued by a thousand demons of conscience and the imagination.

In the crowd which collected everyone, save Omaha Ned, had eyes for the injured child. Ned saw an opportunity, a business opportunity, and lost no time. Before the ambulance arrived he had picked seven pockets and was at work on the eighth. Now the patrolmen who had surrounded the child, keeping the curious back, began to straighten up and look around. Omaha Ned moved on. If he were pursued by fears or conscience he did not betray it. Instead he smiled and walked lightly, enjoying the feeling of substance which came from his weighted pockets.

Success was the undoing of Omaha Ned. He counted the returns from his brief labors and decided that, with a little more, he could cross the country and enjoy himself—where his face and figure were not so well fixed in the minds of the police. Boarding a car, he made his way to a suburban business center, ate a leisurely dinner and fared forth looking for a last and favorable opportunity. One more touch, he decided, if it were a good one, and he could board his train and leave the police guessing. He walked away from the business street, found a shaded avenue and waited. It was getting dark now and the lights of the corner arcs did not reach the center of the street.

Omaha Ned let several persons pass. He would not waste time or talents on the unpromising. Then there approached a picture of fat and middle-aged prosperity. Ned walked to meet the man. It would be a holdup, a quick one and a quicker getaway.

The fat man threw up his hands and as he did so let out an agonized yell. Around the corner came a motorcycle policeman. Ned did not stop to see what else may have taken place. He ran through a yard, jumped a fence, tore his legs in a rose garden and made on. Behind him he could hear the policeman, who whistled for assistance as he followed over the fence and bushes. There was an answering whistle to the side and some shouts. Ned turned, made for another yard and ran as he had never run before. And now his conscience followed close. "If I get away this time," he promised it, "I'll never turn another trick." He knew he could not go much further and looked for a place to hide. A dog barked in front and again he swerved. A back door of a house stood open.

Omaha Ned went into the house and closed the door softly. Then he sat down in a kitchen chair while a plan of action ran through his head. "If anyone finds me," he said, "I'll make 'em keep still until the cops are gone. If no one comes in here, so much the better."

The neighboring dog barked loud and the hunted man knew that at least one of his pursuers had gone on. Then the door into another room opened and a man in a smoking jacket, a man with a revolver entered. Omaha Ned looked into the revolver and over it into the eyes of the man.

"Go ahead and shoot; you won't dare," Ned snarled defiantly at a man who, indeed, seemed the more frightened of the two.

"Think you've got me, don't you, but you haven't. By gar, you're the man what's caught. Me? I'm a pickpocket and pretty near a stick-up, too, but I'd never run here for safety if I'd a known this was the house of a guy what would run over a kid and never stop to see how bad she was hurt."

"You shut up!" The man leveled the gun. "I could shoot you where you are and have every justification. Suppose, now, I let you hide here a little while, and then you—you can go."

The dog barked again and Ned heard someone walking outside.

"Here's something to you," said the pickpocket, and he turned his back on the threatening weapon while he made his way to the door.

"If you will come in," said Omaha Ned to a surprised policeman, "you'll find two guys what you're looking for. One's me and the other," there was disgust in the tone, "is him!"

Family Circle Still Exists

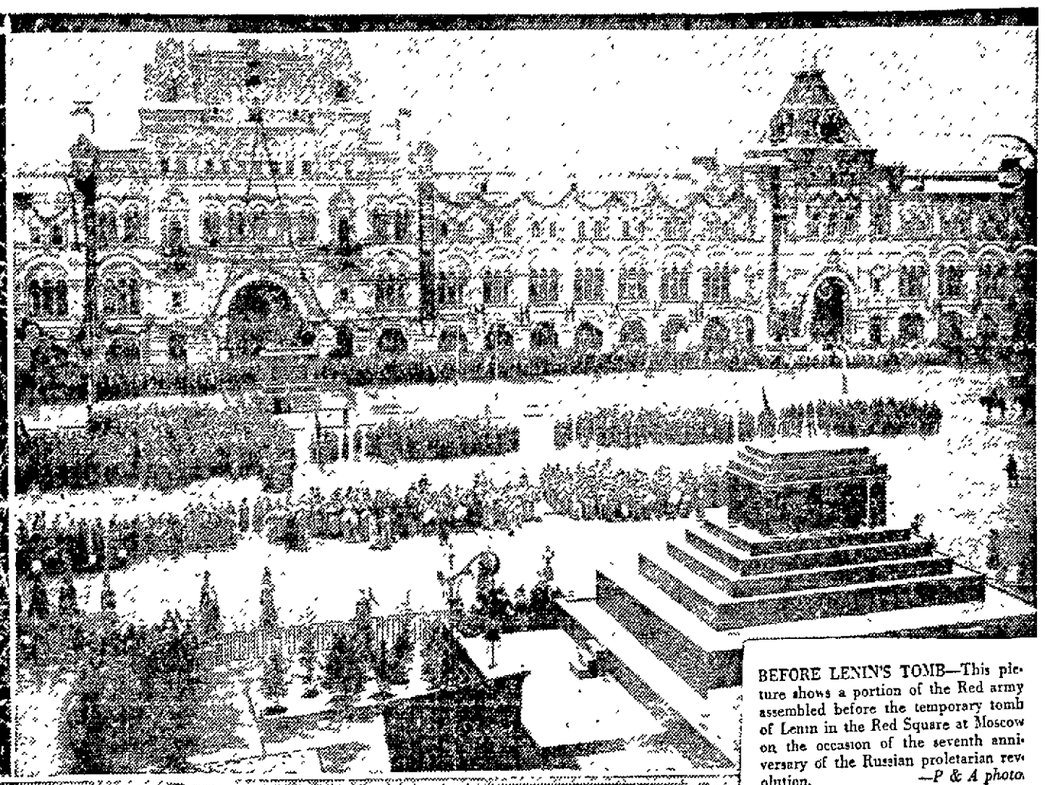

The kitchenette apartment is destroying the family life in America, said a speaker before the annual congress of the Playground and Recreation Association of America. Mother seeks her own entertainment, father seeks his and the children hunt theirs. There is no one left to make popcorn balls for the family circle or to eat them when they are made. There just isn't any circle.

Alarming, if true. But it isn't true to the extent which this speaker implies. Our guess is that there are a good many more than a million homes where nuts, popcorn and taffy—pulled until it cracks—form part of the entertainment on a winter's night. There the family circle flowers like an old-fashioned rose. And there are millions of other homes—cottages and dwellings of the city—that give thought to family life.

The tendency noted by the speaker is true, no doubt, for a small part of our population. But the percentage is so small that if it does things that keep it from prospering the individuals that compose it drop out and their places are taken by others. That is bad; we ought to conserve all of our national forces, and we ought not have conditions that destroy any portion. But let's not indict the whole of America every time we notice a condition in a very small part of it that alarms us.—Washington Post.

UNCLE SAM'S IRONING BOARD

Nothing quite so embarrasses one's self-esteem as crumpled gowns. You know, when your clothes sort of look as if you'd slept in them. It is quite horrid to have to make a first impression when one is all creased up.

But when you are traveling that is about how one looks all the time. Trains and ships offer scant scope for fine grooming. Trunks and suitcases have the worst possible effect upon one's wardrobe.

The first thing every normal woman wants when she gets to a hotel is an electric iron. Maybe she is smart and carries one along—only to discover that a hotel rule sternly forbids its use. Of course, there is usually a valetting department. And it costs like the dickens to get pressed up that way when one is en route and making only brief visits. The moment they are all pressed up they have to be packed again.

This is one of my pet grudges. Especially in the tropics, where everything is humid and damp and creasy all the time.

But today behold me jubilant. I am living at a hotel run by Uncle Sam in Canal Zone. And I want to tell you that Uncle Sam is a dear, nice old hotel keeper. After nearly two weeks on a ship, I was unpacking in despair. Everything looked like dishrags. It was sizzling hot, and crisp well-pressed light clothes were all that could make it bearable.

I was just about making up my mind to indulge $5 worth of pressing when my eye caught a precious notice on my mirror.

"Room 232 is equipped with electric irons and ironing boards for the use of lady guests."

Blessed, blessed news! Blessed, blessed Uncle Sam! He knows how to do things. Here was a hotel under his management with a sympathetic understanding heart.

Well, I never thought much of ironing as a job at home—no one could have convinced me there was a thrill to it. But you should have seen me skip up to room 232, laden with crumpled attire, and simply wallow in a revel of ironing.

It took just about half an hour to transform me from an inferiority to a superiority complex. Waists, dresses, scarfs, collars and cuffs—what a gorgeous time I had pressing them all out, smartening them up. Now I could face the world. Now I at least knew my clothes looked as well as they could look.

I love that ironing room. Never mind if I do get caught in one of those naughty sudden and utterly drenching tropical rains. I can press out my dress all crisp again in a jiffy. And, if I want to wash out some handkerchiefs and a silk nightie and maybe a little petty, no one looks disgusted at my parsimony, as happens in most hotels. No, indeed, Uncle Sam doesn't see any infra. dig. about a nice little economy like that at this hotel. Indeed, he deliberately encourages it, the old dear.

I have stayed in hundreds of hotels in various parts of the globe in my time, but this is the first that ever made such nice arrangements for the reasonable feminine economists. Most of them make a young fortune out of the valetting department, or turn their economical feminine travellers into electric iron bootleggers.

For, of course, if you are smart enough to carry an electric iron along, it is against human nature not to use it, rules or no rules. And then the dresses get scorched up and there is no ironing board and the job gets badly done anyway.

So hurrah for Uncle Sam's hotel—and the ironing board.

"Glory of the Sea."

The American Museum of Natural History has placed on exhibition a shell known as the gloria maris, or gloria of the sea, which is perhaps the rarest, and which is certainly one of the most beautiful, of all sea shells. It is about five inches long, a slender cone the prevailing shade of which is ivory, though in certain lights it has a pinkish luster like a pearl. On the ivory background appear a spiral band of glowing orange and a fretwork of geometrical figures the sides of which vary from an eighth of an inch to an almost microscopic length. No specimen of the gloria maris is known to have been found since 1838.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Young Chap—Nice little dog you have, Miss Doris. Have you taught it any tricks?

Miss Doris—Yes, it will fetch your hat, if you wish to go.—Kansas City Star.

Abe Martin

Perhaps to some I will owe an apology for printing such a long communication on a subject in which they are not interested. On the other hand, there are many who are going to read every word of the following letter and enjoy it.

The writer has told—but read it yourself.

Dear Geraldine:

Many of your readers question the possibility of evolution, immortality and similar things. While they may be improbable, nothing is impossible. We know of the vast reaches of space (that never ends) through which giant suns speed. We know of the solar system within the minute atoms. We know also of the mystery of the brain and the nervous system: of how we grow from a small cell of protoplasm in which is stored the color of our skin, eyes, and sometimes the features of our parents.

Gravity, magnetism, the wind and inflammable gases prove that some things can be invisible, forces, currents. Radio waves going through brick walls, and X-rays through the body prove invisible forces can penetrate solid objects. And to some hypnousm proves that invisible currents flow between two human minds.

But we have no actual proof of anything. Seeing is not believing. We can not even trust common sense. When the world was young common sense told us the earth was flat and the sun rose and set each day, yet we know today it is not the truth. Maybe the earth is yet young in some matters.

Is there a God, an objective, conscious, personal reality existing independently of all other realities? And did he make out of nothing the earth and the heavens and all that is in them? Was man's existence brought about by direct creative acts of God and not by evolutions from other forms?

Did chance or a Supreme Being create the world? The religions of the Ancient East, the Orient, and the savages all have a creator. The Greeks had the Gods of Mount Olympus. Some call the creator Nature or Natural Law or even X, the mathematical symbol of the unknown. But call it what you want, did the worlds, men, animals and plants come into being by the will of a Supreme Creator or did they all happen by chance? Does reproduction of life, and the forces that guide the suns and worlds in their orbits happen by chance or does a power wield them? Or has the Creator died since he created the world as Nietzsche proclaims, "God is dead"? Is God one of "infinite majesty? No one can comprehend, a light of unutterable brightness no man can look on and live"; is he a ruler or servant? But the mystery deepens. If it took a God to create the universe, who or what created God? Has he existed forever? If so, why did he not create man sooner? As man is only three-quarters of a million years old at most.

We do not know what causes all natural law to work in harmony with "that high unknown purpose of the world which we call God." Whatever it is, we know it is the imminent genius of things.

Is man the image of God? If so, we know how he looks.

The theory of evolution states that in the beginning life developed in a single cell of protoplasm, in or near the shore of a tropic sea and by the process of natural selection changed through two—three—and many—celled animals, left the seas and became reptilian. This after many ages.

The laws of natural selection are: 1. An individual varies from its parents. 2. If the variation is not adapted to the environment nature kills it. 3. If it is adapted nature selects it. 4. Then by heredity it transmits its powers of survival to its offspring.

After ages of selection and adaptation a common mammalian stock was produced which divided into two main branches. On one, the ancestors of the anthropoid apes and monkeys. On the other the Humanoid Hominidae and Homo which descended to Homo Sapiens, Modern man.

The proof of evolution is:

1. All living things have varied. This constant change to meet the requirements of the environment has been going on ever since the first living cell was produced and will continue until the end of life.

2. It is the means by which horses are bred for speed and cows for milk. It is the principle by which Burbank creates new varieties of plant life.

3. We have skeletons, skulls and bones of half-ape, half-man creatures. Some found in rocks half a million years old. Pithecanthropus Erectus, the Java Ape Man, dates back at least 500,000 years. We have the Heidelberg man the Neanderthal Dawn man, Rhodesian man, Cro-Magnon man of 30,000 years ago and Grinaldi and Reindeer men. True, the link is still missing, there is no type between Hominidae and Homo Sapiens. But some day it too will be found.

4. Man and the highest primates, the anthropoid apes, are similar in type of chin, regular teeth, bone for bone the skeletons are the same, muscle for muscle, nerve for nerve, they are alike. Man's mental processes, which developed to a high degree, are of the same kind.

5. Man has the undeveloped third eyelid (common to the frog) and the ear muscles of lower animals.

6. The human embryo is similar to primates. In an early stage the heart is two-chambered like a fish, later it is three-chambered—like a frog, then four-chambered. The red blood corpuscles are more amphilian than mammalians, being large and nucleated. (So the whole process of evolution is gone through in the pre-natal state.)

7. Children born of mothers who lack proper nutrition have simian (monkey-like) features [illegible]. This is not reversion to ancestral type, but arrested development. The baby being born while in the ape stage of evolution. Some babies are born covered with hair, which may persist for six months after birth.

8. Man and Ape have diseases in common, such as lung trouble and rheumatism.

9. When we mix the blood serum of two similar animals such as horse and ass, cat and lion, man and chimpanzee, they mingle in harmony. But put human blood serum in the serum of pigeon, horse or dog blood, and there is a hostile destruction of the red blood corpuscles.

"In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth." I. 1.

"And God said, 'Let there be light,' and there was light," I. 3.

The nebular theory states that the "light," the sun, was created first, and was the central mass of a contracting, whirling nebula of which the earth formed from some of the outer portions. But still the sun may not have become hot and burst into light until it condensed and contracted, thus producing friction.

"And God said Let the waters bring forth abundantly the moving creatures that hath life and fowl that may fly above the earth in the open firmament of heaven." I. 20.

"So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created He them." I. 27.

Genesis so states like the theory of evolution, that life started in the sea, animals came and last man.

"And the Lord God formed man of the dust of the ground and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life, and man became a living soul." II.7.

We know that we are all made of the "dust of the ground," which is formed into fruits and vegetables and the feed on which our meat stock is raised. Science has no proof that man has a soul or that his life is any different from animal life. But God may have given man a soul and made him a man. He may have been created a beast, like any other animal, before. As to life, it is one thing that science does not understand and cannot create.

And the Bible says: God put man and women in the garden of Eden and mentions Assyria and the Euphrates river. This agrees with science in that Central Asia seems to be the cradle of the race, because of, 1, the antiquity of Asiatic Civilizations; 2, Asiatic origin of most domestic animals; 3, Asiatic features in Cro-Magnon man, and, 4, The discovery of Pithecanthropus Erectus in Java.

The eating of the fruit of the tree of knowledge of good and evil represents the accomplishment of the sex and the realization [illegible] punishment being the bearing and care of children.

Then Genesis says:

"And Adam knew Eve his wife; and she conceived and bore Cain, and said, I have gotten a man from the Lord."

And she again bore his brother Abel, and Abel was a keeper of sheep, but Cain was a tiller of the ground," IV. 1:2.

Then:

"And Cain knew his wife; and she conceived, and bore Enoch; and he builded a city, and called the name of the city, after the name of his son, Enoch." IV. 17.

Now, where did Cain get a wife if after he killed Abel only Adam and Eve were left? He either acquired the Oedipus complex and knew his mother, or what is more likely mated with an apelike creature, not having the soul of man, but capable of producing souled offspring.

Some also contend that there was not enough water on the face of the earth to flood the complete world, so that all the land area would be under water. But there was enough to flood Central Asia and that was sufficient to kill all the animals at that time, and Central Asia was the world to the people who lived there at that time.

Are there saints and sinners? To live is to enjoy every God-given instinct and appetite. Nothing is bad if normal to the God that created it. If there is no God then neither is it bad.

Was Christ an objective, conscious, personal being?

Was He born of a virgin? Such a thing is possible now.

Was he God or the son of God?

Is death and suffering the result of the disobedience of Adam and Eve? Did the death of Christ atone for it? And must all who do not so believe, for that reason suffer?

Did he arise bodily from death and ascend into heaven (above the earth), and does he now sit at the right hand of God?

Or was he an ordinary man, as we know, of great intellect and foresight? He saw the problems that would face the world, in his time, now, and in the years to come and he gave the solution of them to man. And man cannot yet see it.

His plan was the Golden Rule the brother plan, not the system of ruler and subjects, king and slave, boss and employee. His teachings curb sex and other impulses given by the creator, to normal. He taught to be the lowly servant of all is greater than king or kings. His plan abolishes slavery and institutes reforms. Kingdoms without Christianity all fail where Jesus' plan never fails. If the world would adopt it, wars, strikes, politics, fights and jails would be no more. The world is better today through him.

Jesus Christ, whether he lived or not is a living presence in the world today and Christianity a living force. As Doctor Frank Crane says, "Christianity is a success and would not fail if the whole Christ story was discredited."

Christianity is a powerful force for good in the world and the hope of thousands for a future life. While other religions are for certain peoples or countries, the religion of Jesus is for the world and it is so spreading till all nations shall be one.

But this applys only to the normal teachings of Christ and not to immortality or any other super-normal phenomena or doctrine.

Scientific evidence of a future life is nil. There is not even scientific proof of mind reading, hypnotism or the new sex psychology of Dreiser, Heresheimer and D. H. Lawrence.

All "mediums" that have worked before a scientific committee have been proven frauds. I have never seen a ghost or communicated with, or received messages from the dead and do not believe I or anyone else ever has, or will. Spiritualism is a belief that belongs to the childhood of the race as Santa Claus and the Boogey man belong to the childhood of the individual. We are outgrowing it as we outgrew the belief in vampires, witches, weir-wolves, and bad luck signs.

Will we also outgrow a belief in religion, or will it still be used to make some behave by the promise of heaven and the fear of hell?

Religions were formed by all primitive people and ancient civilizations because: 1—They thought some God caused the wind and lightning and moved the sun and moon. And because they died they thought the God was angry with them and "got" them in the end. So they prayed to him not to send lightning and worship originated. 2—Because if they did not obey the ruler he could have the high priest "throw a scare into them." 3—Because they wanted a future life, and, 4—Because it was a necessary process in mental evolution and explained things. They were not founded on proof of anything of a concrete or spiritual nature.

Man thinks himself so big, so all-important. He believes all creation was made for him. We cannot measure him, for space like time never begins and never ends. Therefore, we have no standard of measure. If we use the scale of light-years, that is used to measure the billions of miles between the stellar suns, man is infinitely small. If we use the scale of the physical laboratory that measures the orbits of electrons and atoms, and wave-lengths of light, man is comparatively large though he looks small even in the Grand Canyon of the Colorado. Size is therefore relative and man cannot be measured.

An ant walks in a drop of water unknown to the microscopic life in it. We walk above the ants and they do not know we (who would be a God to them) exist. Does a higher animal look down on us, on our earth, as we look down on the ants on the ant hill? Vaccine produces anti-bodies in us, we have worms and other parasites in us, forms of life that do not realize they are in a living being. Are we and all our worlds and suns in a blood corpuscle in the veins of some larger animal?

Are we, as Albert Edward Wiggam says, pawn on the chess board of environment, or puppets of chance and change, Will O' the Wisps of fortune, marionettes who's hidden wires are pulled by the hidden hands of doom?

We who are made of oxygen, hydrogen, carbon, nitrogen and a few other elements change the form and constitution of other substances made of the same elements. Does some higher mind control our actions and change our minds? Are our minds part of the greater master mind of creation?

Some things can live in intense heat, or ice, or without food or water for years. But mighty man must live in a narrow band of temperatures and cannot live on his own fat through the winter, like a bear.

Then see by what chance we are here. If your mother had not met your father you never would have been, but someone else now lost to the world might have been born. You have survived the diseases of babyhood and childhood that kill many, and escaped the lunatic asylum. If a God created us, why did he make pain and sickness, insanity, hate and cruelty, lasciviousness, and perversion? Perhaps so we would be thankful and enjoy the brief moments we are free of them.

If it were not by some spiritual influx that man emerged then it was but chance that some other beast did not emerge to a higher level than man.

The only scientific reasons for man's emergence are 1, His large brain which grows in his long pre-natal and infantile periods. When the body has developed evolution continues in the brain. 2. His arboral life which taught him to use his arms and walk on his feet. 3. A language which made thought possible (we cannot think without using words). By talking veloped reason, the expression of thought, power of argument, and kept love and memory alive. 4. The long childhood of man made families a necessity and developed sympathy and social tendencies. 5. And man by cooperation, killed and tricked other beasts, made tools, weapons, boats, houses, clothes and fire. Did man emerge higher than the savages of today and in their case fall to a lower level? If it were not for chance the gorilla or elephant might today be in our place masters of creation.

Does anything really exist? If a tree falls in a jungle, an engine explodes in a desert, and no ears hear it, then there is no sound—only air waves. If no eyes sees it there are only light waves. So did it really happen?

The lives of Caesar, Napoleon and Washington were lived for you only after your birth.

What we know of life comes to us through material eye lens, ear-drums, smell, taste and touch, via the brain. When they have returned to the dust from which they came how can we know anything? Some will say life is different from consciousness, that hair grows on dead bodies and doctors grow muscles from a single muscle cell. If that is so, if life is independent of the body why do we die when the heart stops beating? Some say mind has no beginning, no ending, we cannot die. But we are the same as mentally dead when asleep under chloroform, or before birth. Will man be resurrected from death to live in his material body at some time?

A future life is no greater a mystery than tomorrow; we know absolutely nothing about either.

Many base their belief in a future life on the hope of one put in us by the creator. This strong belief in a future life remains after the ages, in savage and civilized man alike. Does he who put it there fulfill it, or does death end all the nobleness of man's character? Do the unborn babies, the insane and blind all meet on a common level hereafter? Or is this belief the result of: 1. The strong instinct of self-preservation found in all animals, or, 2. Because man always wants what he cannot have?

A new philosophy of life is growing up in the world today. More and more are being added to the thousands of preachers, philosophers, scientists, and common people who believe this life ends all, that life is but a biological process in revolution to a higher form of immortal life. That immortal life refers to quality and not quantity. That life is a dream in the sleep of eternity, a fleeting moment of music, warmth and color between two eternities of silence, dying. In a few years the churches will preach it. Then what will happen? As Wiggam says it will end in one of four ways: 1. Epicureanism (eat, drink and be merry for tomorrow we die). 2. Moral Bolshevism (do and get what you want shall be the whole of the law). 3. A passionate aesthetic (worship of beauty). 4. A true liberalism (a way to attain the highest, widest and deepest experience in life. A civilization not of power, pleasure, and profit but for human values).

When in the twilight of the world, five hundred thousand years ago man began the great adventure into the mysterious west he was but a brute. Restless to be on the move, crossing deserts, seas and mountains, he covered the world, in the ages. What man has done in that short time of childhood is but a beginning of what he will do in the millions of years to come. Some day he will know the secrets of creation, life, death, evolution, and what we are here for. For whatever man can ask he also can answer.

PERSONAL WORD.

Question. I met Mrs. Johnson at a little dinner given out in Berkeley a couple of weeks ago and have also heard her lecture. Enjoyed both, needless to say. Many thanks to you for your interest and your letters.

H. A. F. Believe me, my dear, I'm sorry, sorry for your accident, and I wish I knew of some work you could do. You don't say whether you have special training in any line, and work to do at home is scarce. I wish I could help.

Weather Forecasts.

Refuting statements that the "United States is due for a hard winter if the law of averages works out," Prof. H. B. Ward of the geology and geography department of Northwestern university, "doubts very much if there is a law of averages with respect to weather."

Professor Ward has just completed a study of temperatures and precipitations of the last several years and asserts that "it is just as reasonable to forecast a mild winter as a severe winter in 1924-25." The season "will not be controlled by sun-spot activity," he contends.

In his analysis Professor Ward discloses that there were radically different temperatures in 1920, with January consistently cold and February normal except as to snowfall, which, with the exception of 1877, was the least in fifty years.

[illegible] was the warmest in fifty years, while if there is a law of averages, 1922 should have been cold, but, as a matter of fact, it was warmer and drier than average, with few severe storms.

"Many tables of statistics can be submitted to prove that long-range forecasts are not reliable," he says. "Most certainly they disprove the reliability of the so-called law of averages in weather matters."

CLARICE PATTERNS

Rag Toys That Kiddies Love
(No. 1598)

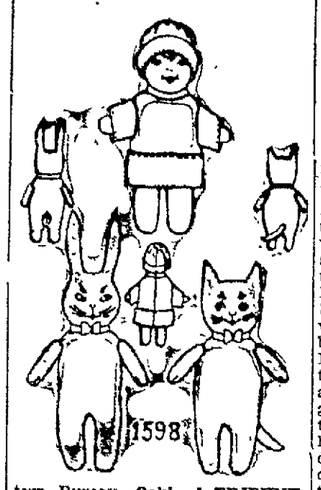

A rabbit, a cat that doesn't scratch, no matter how hard it is squeezed, and a doll with dress and hat comprise the set. Stockings that have outlived their usefulness, particularly white ones, since they can be dyed any desired shade with the many reliable soap dyes there are on the market, are suitable for these. The features can easily be indicated by a few stitches in silk or wool thread.

The pattern No. 1598 comes in one size. For material requirements, see pattern envelope. Price 15c, in stamps or coin.

Fashion Magazine, showing other Xmas suggestions and hundreds of dress styles, 10c extra.

How to Obtain Clarice Patterns

Write your name and address plainly, including city, giving the number and size of such patterns as you want. HOW A BOY BECAME RICH

One day a negro boy was walking in a rice field in New Orleans when he saw a pair of dice. He liked to play dice, so he picked them up. He began to shake them, when one of them opened and he saw a note and it read: "A little tree in the middle of the rice field. It has a button on it. Press this button." So the boy, whose name was Charles Crusoe Christy Blackburne, went out and found the tree. He pressed the button and he fell through a trap door. He fell into a cave which contained chests of gold and silver. He was afraid to touch the gold, so he tried to find his way out. He saw a rope ladder hanging from the top of the cave, so he climbed to the top of the ladder, which entered into a room which contained more gold and silver than the other, but he could not find his way out, so he sat down and began to cry. All of a sudden he heard a voice say, "Go down to the end of that hall and you will come to a chest; in the chest there is a key; take the key; then walk to the left and you will come to a door. Open the door with the key and you will find yourself outside."

At this he sprang to his feet and did what he was bid. He opened the door and found himself outside. He went back into the cave and got enough gold to buy a truck. He took all the gold on the truck and gave some to the poor and kept the rest.

He was the richest boy in New Orleans. JOHN GUILBERT.

THE MYSTERIOUS RING

In the town of Crocket there lived a young lad named Harold. His father left him a magic ring when he died.

One day a robber happened to see Harold with the ring and he recognized it, for he happened to be the one who sold the ring to Harold's father.

He knew the ring was magic. The next day the robber decided to get the ring from Harold, even if he had to steal it.

That night the robber got his band of robbers to see which one was to get the ring. The captain said the one that gets the ring shall be the next captain, but if he should fail he should be put to death. Soon one of his robbers raised his hand and said he would try and get the ring off of Harold. Harold's friend was listening to what they said. He then said, "Hands up," and took them to jail. Harold still has his ring as far as I know.

HOW JOHNNY FOUND HIS GRANDMOTHER

Johnny was very poor. His mother was sick and he had to sell newspaper for a living. One day Johnny sold every single one of his papers. He ran home and told his mother. She, too, was very happy. He went into the kitchen and he found there was no food left. He ran out and was just going into a grocery store, when a lady stopped him. He looked around and saw a kindly old lady looking at him. She asked him what his name was, and he said, "Johnny Savoy, ma'am." The lady was very much taken back and she said, 'What is your mother's name?"

Johnny answered, "Mildred Savoy, ma'am."

The lady just stood there. She didn't know what to do. She asked Johnny to take her to his house. Johnny asked her to wait till he got something for his mother to eat. He ran in and came out again with three big bundles in his hands. Then he took the lady to his house. When they got there he took the lady in and asked her to sit down till he told his mother. The mother told him to ask the lady in to see her, and the lady went into the mother's room and as soon as she saw her Mrs. Savoy ran up to her and said, "Do you remember when you were married?"

Mrs. Savoy said, "Yes."

The lady said, "What was your husband's name?"

Mrs. Savoy said, "John Anton Savoy." And the lady said, "My long lost daughter-in-law! Don't you remember me, Mildred?"

Mrs. Savoy broke down and cried. "I thought it was you all the time," she said.

Mrs. Savoy (for that was the old lady's name) was very rich, so she had Mildred and Johnny come to her house. Soon Mildred was well and Johnny started to school. He worked very hard and he soon came up to the standard of his age.

KIDNAPED

One day Tom and Harry went fishing. When it was about four o'clock Tom said, "Come on, Harry, I'm going home." So they took their lines and started home. When they were about six blocks from home they heard a noise and Tom said, "What is that?" And he looked around and Harry was not there. Tom looked all over, but couldn't find him, so he went on home. The next day Tom went over to Harry's house and on the steps there was a note. The note read as follows.

"If you will put 5000 dollars under the big rock between the two willow trees next to the Barton school your son will be returned.

"SLIPPERY JIM."

Tom knocked at the door and gave the note to Harry's father. The next day Harry's father put the money under the rock and he went and told the police and they went over to the school. There was a shed; they hid in it, and after waiting about fifteen minutes a man came to get the money, but the policeman jumped out and said, "Hands up!"

The man obeyed and they took him to jail and made him tell where Harry was, and they took Harry home and he lived happily ever after.

A Christmas Carol

Adapted for boys and girls from the famous story by CHARLES DICKENS.

I. EBENEEZER SCROOGE.

(Drawing is of Scrooge.)

Old Marley was dead as a doornail. He had been dead seven years this very Christmas even and Scrooge knew it. Ebeneezer Scrooge had been Marley's partner and should have known, but we must make sure of Marley's being dead or nothing odd can happen in this story.

Scrooge was alive; the meanest, hardest and one of the richest men alive in London. And how he hated Christmas! Whenever some one was brave enough to say, "Merry Christmas" to him, Scrooge merely grumbled, "Bah, humbug. What is Christmas but a time for finding yourself a year older and not a penny richer? If I had my way every idiot who said 'Merry Christmas' would be boiled with a sprig of holly through his heart."

Although he was one of the richest men in London he kept but one poor, underpaid clerk in his office.

(Tomorrow there will be a picture of Scrooge's clerk and a lot of excitement begins.)

PEGGY TRUE.

CHAPTER 50.

A few moments later Vivi came into the room. She saw the huddled heap that was Jenny on the bed-on HER bed! She was not startled at Jenny's appearance there. Just a little provoked. She —Vivie— had no privacy. Ab-so-lute-ly none! The family was always sneaking into her room. Her mother, to gaze out the front window at the railroad tracks and the switch engines across the way, and sun herself by parting the lace curtains at the window and drawing up a chair and sitting there. Jenny even came in and sat before the window to grab the last bit of daylight to sew by and thus cut down on the electricity bill. It was an outrage! She had no secrets that she was absolutely sure of. They could pry into the drawers of the dresser and find anything that she wished to hide.

But some day she would have a big house all to herself and her servants, with a bed room as large as the entire McCaskie flat, all cluttered up with "period" furniture. She really WOULD like to sleep in a Madam DuBarry bed. And why not? Such dreams were almost possibilities. She was making great progress with this young Jimmy Brice she had met at the Eden a few weeks ago. Encouraging progress. Why, only last night he had called her "delectable," "adorable churub," "seraphim." Oh, he had an education, he had. He knew how to turn a pretty compliment all right. He had said that her ankles—but she had quite forgotten just what he had said, only she remembered that it was complimentary and shamed all other ankles that he had seen by comparison.

And he had said her complexion was like a rose petal and that he would like to see her in a pink dress." Pink that is the tint of the inside of a sea shell." That is the way he had to put it. And when told of this. Jenny had removed the stained panel from the pink crepe de chine dress, and washed it so carefully and pressed it so expertly that it looked like some garment that had slid from a fairy's shoulders as the fairy fled from some mortal contamination

Vivie carried the dainty garment over her arm now and was going to slip into it and slip out to a dance with this mysterious Jimmy Brice. As far as her family was concerned he was yet a mystery. Might possibly be but a fabrication of Vivie's imagination, for she had stubbornly refused to bring him home and show him off.

"Bring him into THIS rat hole!" she had shrieked at the suggestion. "I'd lose him sure. It would change his whole opinion of me. He knows that I am poor but he doesn't know just how poor. Besides he told me a joke about mother-in-laws. It wasn't a REALLY nice joke, but golly, a girl can't be too much of a prude these days. Fellows hate nasty nice girls. And I got the impression that he is not at all strong for a mother-in-law. I can spring anything on him after I land him, but right now I gota feel my way carefully. So I gave him the impression that I lived with an older sister. A sort of old maidish person that was awfully strict with me, and that I had to sneak out to meet him, and SHE thought that I was going to prayer meeting, and that he was the first, the very FIRST fellow that I had ever gone about with."

"But that was a lie," Jenny had reminded her quietly.

"I don't care if it was," Vivie had flashed. "You've gota lie if you want to land a rich husband, and isn't that what you and ma has always wanted me to do?"

"Lie?"

"No. Hook some poor fish that has plenty of the filthy lucre."

Because the family had harped so much on the matter, and urged so insistently that she bring him home that they might pass judgment on him as a prospective husband for Vivie, she had hushed them by informing them that he was calling this evening to take her to the dance, but that she intended to initiate him gradually to the sordidness of the McCaskie flat and that pos-i-tively he should not come a foot farther than the front door and that they had to be satisfied with that.

As a matter of fact he always parked his [illegible] a more prosperous appearing part of Oakland, would be parked there tonight as usual, and did not really know where Vivie lived at all.

"Spying on me," thought Vivie when she beheld Jenny huddled in a heap there on her bed." She odesn't believe that Jimmy Brice is coming to the house for me. She doesn't believe a word I say."

Strange that Jenny should. Stranger still, she HAD believed her.

But for once she was so overcome with the horror of the situation in which she found herself that she gave no thought to her sister or her problems at all. She was hardly aware of her presence, although she had heard her open the door and enter the room. To her the sound had seemed faint and far away.

"Jonathan's son — Jonathan's son—" she kept mumbling over and over to herself.

Then it occurred to her that she should not have run from him. That ever since her husband had learned of his existence he had sought for him. Had finally given up the search and all hope of ever finding him. Had accepted the possibility that probably he was dead.

She tried to reason with herself. Why should the discovery upset her so? Should she not be glad, happy almost for Jonathan's sake that at last he was found? She should, but she wasn't. She could not explain just why.

She never wanted to see him again. Inconsistently because he had stirred something within her that she recoiled from now. Should she hunt him up and reveal her identity feeling toward him as she did? Have him about the house all the time as Jonathan's son? She shuddered. She felt cold. The situation was abhorent. She sat up. Clasped her knees. Sat staring at Vivie beneath the cheap, yellow electric light. Sat shivering and staring and Vivie knew that something unusual had happened.

"For the love of Mike, Jen!" she exclaimed. "What's happened to you now? You look like you had been chased by a ghost."

"I——have." The words came from her lips in mechanical fashion. "You're kidding." Vivie was interested. She came over and sat on the bed beside her sister. Personally she had always wanted to see a ghost. She had never for an instant doubted the existence of such things. "Where? When How?

"I talked to him. I——I—— was not afraid of him. When he talked to me it seemed as if I had always shown him. "Then suddenly breaking into sobs and clinging to her sister." Oh, Vivie—Vivie! I had been terribly wicked. I have done a terrible wrong thing. I——I——" Her sobs shocked her. She could not go on.

Vivie was mystified. Then something dawned on her. A terrible suspicion against Jenny She looked at her—aghast.

"You, Jen? You! Well!" At last she and Jen understood each other. They belonged to the same sisterhood.

"You!" she repeated." And everybody says that you look like a Madonna. Gee! It will be an awful jar to Ma. "She surveyed her for a few moments as if seeking some signs of the thing of which Jenny hinted." Well, I got to hand it to you," she finished. "No one would ever take YOU for a stepper. And old Shellback just gone three weeks too."

IT'S THE WAY

"Please give me another teacher. I don't like this one." The little lad was very earnest, so earnest that he was almost able to control the nervous quiver of his mouth as he begged the principal for this favor.

"But that is a very serious thing. You know changing teachers means a loss of work and you'd have to work very hard for a week or so to even up."

"I'd work very, very hard if you'll only let me have another teacher."

"But why, son? You have a very good teacher now."

"I know it but she isn't nice to me. What good is it being a good teacher if she don't like you? She don't like me. When the teacher doesn't like you what good does it do to try? She won't see your hand when it's raised or nothing."

"What makes you think she doesn't like you?"

"Lots of things. I asked her for a notebook and she made a mad face and told Hennie to get me one. He handed it to her and she slammed it on my desk and never even looked at me. That wasn't treating me very nice."

"Don't you think you are making too much of little things? The teacher has a lot to do and may not have been thinking about you and the book at all."

"Oh, it isn't just the book. It's always like that. If she says anything or does anything she does it just like she hated to. I know when she tells me something that she wishes she didn't have to. So I'd rather go into another class even if I have to work harder and not have to see her every day. She does everything but it's the way she does it that makes me sore."

And all the time the little lad talked to me I knew that he was right. The teacher he talked about didn't like to teach children, really. She was a conscientious soul who had undertaken a job and who would execute it to the last minute detail but would never, never, as long as she lived, love to do it. The little lad sensed it and it hurt.

Children know when you like them and wish to help them and they know unerringly when you don't. Even the baby learns that the hand that tends him moves in the spirit of love and service or does not. If it does not, be it ever so accurate and competent, he will cry in protest. He asks that the service rendered him be rendered in the spirit of love or not at all.

The teacher who loves her job will do more with children than the one who doesn't. Degrees and certificates are good things to hold but it is the quality of the teacher who holds them that counts in the lives of the children—and that quality does not come from books. It is a thing of the soul. Books inspire and feed it, but they never create it. It's the WAY that counts.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents or school teachers on education and development of children. Write him in care of th' paper, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Uncle Wiggily

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND JOLLIE'S CHEESE CAKE.

Uncle Wiggily was hopping through the woods one day, having left his hollow stump bungalow to seek an adventure, when, all of a sudden, the rabbit gentleman heard a rustling in the dry leaves.

"That's just the sort of noise the Fuzzy Fox makes when he is creeping after me," thought Uncle Wiggily. "I must be careful!"

He looked around the edge of a big stump, but instead of the Fox he saw Jollie Longtail, the mouse boy, scrambling along in the dried and rustling leaves.

"Hello, Jollie!" called Uncle Wiggily in his most happy voice. "You seem very glad this morning. Are you going to a party?"

"It's almost as good as a party, Uncle Wiggily!" squeaked Jollie. "I'm going to the store to buy a cheese cake, and when I take it home mother will give me some, and my sister Jillie will have some, too."

"Ho! Ho! No wonder you are happy," laughed Uncle Wiggily. "I will go with you to the store and help you buy the cheese cake."

So the bunny gentleman and the little mouse boy skipped on through the woods together to the store. There Jollie bought a fine, large cheese cake, as large around as two Christmas pies and part of another one.

"This cheese cake is so large I never could have carried it all by myself," squeaked Jollie. "It's a good thing you came with me, Uncle Wiggily. You can help me."

So the mouse boy and the rabbit gentleman started hopping back through the woods to the hole house where Jollie lived. And as they passed under the trees the wind whispered:

"Be careful! Be careful! Watch out when you get to the top of the hill!"

"Now what do you mean by that, Mr. Wind?" asked Uncle Wiggily, as he twinkled his pink nose.

But all the wind answered was: "Be careful! Be careful! Watch out when you get to the top of the hill!"

So when Uncle Wiggily and Jollie reached the top of the hill of course they were careful and they looked before they started to run down with the cheese cake.

"Oh, ho! Oh, ho!" meaouwed the

It whanged the Bob Cat on his nose.

Bob Cat. "Come on down until I nibble you!"

Jollie was so frightened that he dropped his side of the big, round cheese cake. And it was so heavy that Uncle Wiggily couldn't hold it all alone, so the bunny dropped his side.

Then the cheese cake all by itself began rolling down the hill. Around and around it rolled, like a hoop. Faster and faster it twirled until, all of a sudden, when the cheese cake reached the bottom of the hill it bounced up and whanged the Bob Cat on his nos

"Zippie, zoopie!" the cheese cake hit the Bob Cat.

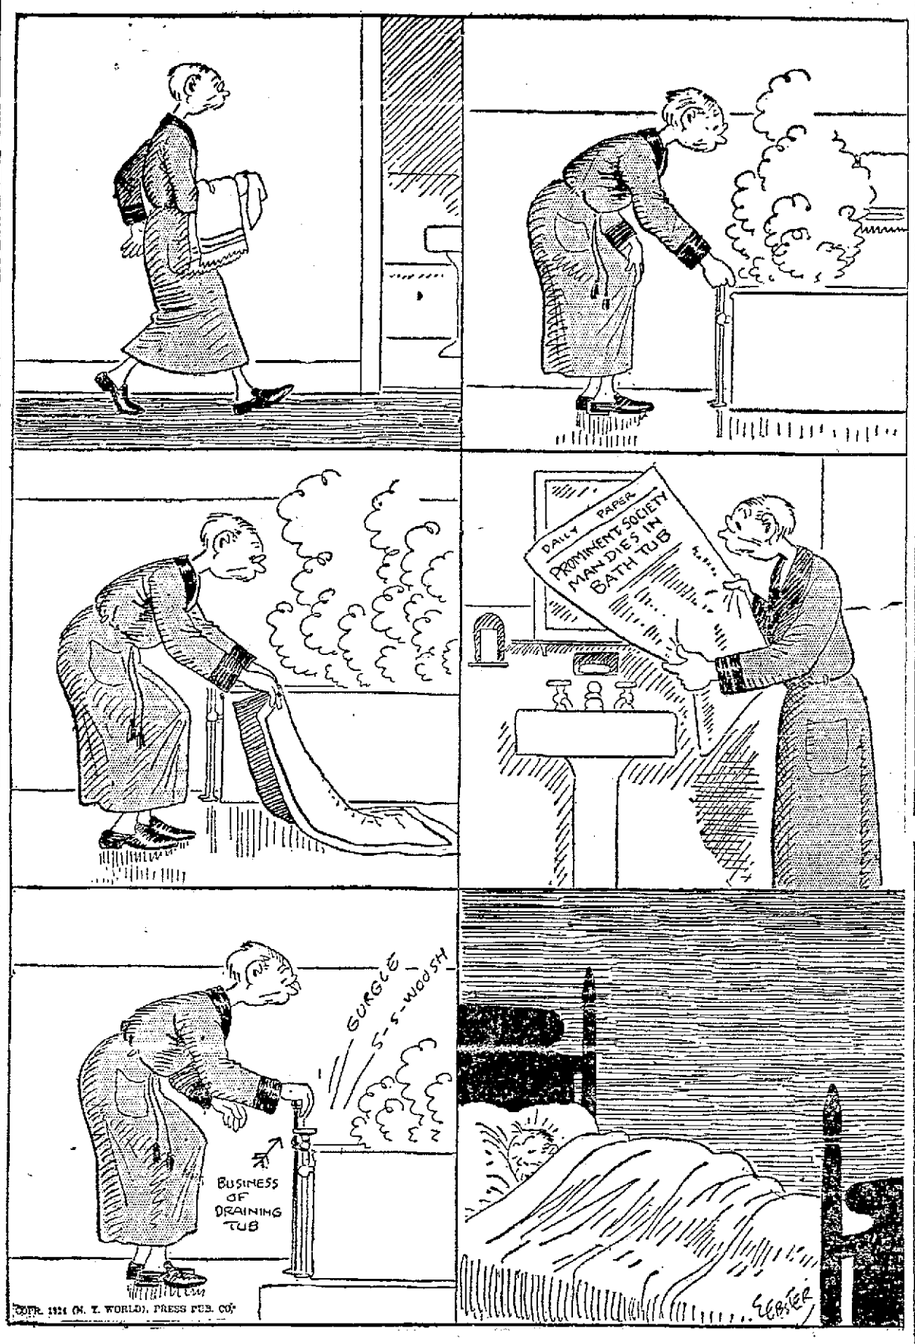

"Wowchie, ouchie!" howled the bad chap. "Oh, my nose! My nose!" and off to the drug store he ran to get a stuckum plaster.

Then Uncle Wiggily and Jollie ran down the hill and picked up the cheese cake, which was only cracked a little. But that didn't spoil it for eating and the bunny gentleman was given a large slice when the cheese cake was taken to Jollie's house.

So, after all, everything happened for the best, didn't it? And if the goldfish doesn't take the tinfoil off the yeast cake to make a looking glass for the rag doll, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Jillie's popcorn.

THE TIMID SOUL ---By Webster

Ants Use "Umbrellas."

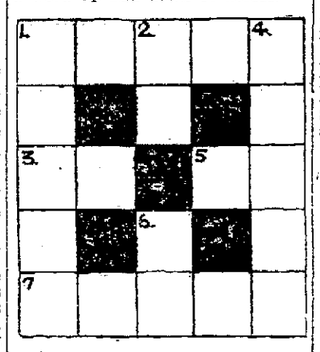

The most novel exhibit in the London zoo is a nest of umbrella ants secured in Trinidad. These busy and ingenious little people have a variety of novel habits, one being to gather the petals from roses, carry the petal to their home, hold the fragment of the flower over their heads, that action giving them their distinctive name.

The petal is then masticated and piled in one part of the home, the deposit growing a fungus the ants relish as food. In the colony is the home of the queen of the nest, and when the nest was being shipped over the sea the queen's residence was disarranged, whereupon all ants turned to the task and put things shipshape without stopping for food. — Milwaukee Journal.

JUNIOR Cross Word PUZZLE

HOW TO SOLVE.

One letter to each white square. Words start in numbered squares going either across (Horizontal) or up and down (Vertical). The words in CAPITAL letters below have same meaning as the missing word. Remember letters when placed in the squares should spell a word up and down or across.

(Horizontal)

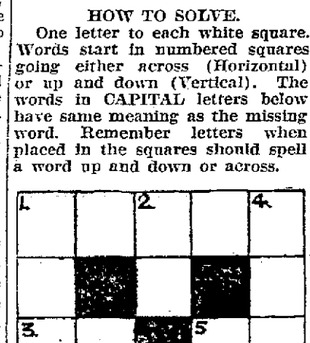

1. Noun—When they opened the door they found a LITTLE ONE who was begging for bread.
3. Preposition — They climbed steadily TOWARD THE TOP of the mountain.
5. Preposition — WITHIN the fort all was ready.
7. Adjective — With MERRY shouts and jestng they dragged the Yule log toward the hearth.

(Vertical)

1. Adjective— Oliver Twist felt the Brutal force of Fagin's' hand.
2. Conjunction — WHETHER it be true or not need not spoil the beauty of a quaint tale.
4. Noun (Slang)—Of all Cox's Brownies the DUDE is most popular.
6. Verb — Wherever man EX[illegible], Nature serves him.

(Answer will follow in tomorrow's paper.)

TEASERS

THE SAILBOAT.

The sailboat is exactly eighty feet long, from the point of the projecting bow to the tip of the stern.

Bearing this fact in mind, try to estimate, in an exact number of feet, the height of the mast Take a minute to make your guess; but estimate—do not measure Try to guess the height just as though you were on shore watching the boat

SATURDAY'S TEASER

There were 34 stars in the United States flag in the Civil War. An estimate of 35 is exceptional; 33 or 37, very good; 30 or 40, good; 25 or 42, average; 20 or 45, fair; less than 20 or more than 45, poor.

From Private to General

In the latest American Army Register appear the names of sixteen general officers who rose from the humble grade of "buck private in the rear ranks." Fourteen are retired and two are on the active list. The latter are Brig. Gens. Preston Brown and Robert Alexander, who served three and four years, respectively, as enlisted men before they received commissions as officers. Both soldiers, by performing the duties of their present rank temporarily during the World War, demonstrated their fitness for permanent elevation to the rank of general officer, which took place in 1921.

The fourteen generals on the retired list who began careers as enlisted men are: Major Gens. James G. Harbord, Theodore Schwan and Charles F. Humphrey, and Brig. Gens. Charles R. Krauthoff, Michael Cooney, Henry W. Wessels, Jr., Abram A. Harbach, James B. Burbank, William H. Bisbee, Theodore A. Baldwin, Charles A. Coolidge, Leon A. Matile, John J. O'Connell and David L. Brainard.

When one considers that the requirements for a commission presuppose an education equivalent to that conferred by a four-year course at the United States Military Academy, considered by many the finest military educational institution, it is remarkable that so many men of the past generation, lacking this equipment, should have risen to a rank that is denied to all but a selected few, even of the West Point graduates. The 1924 graduating class at the Military Academy was 406, whereas in a corresponding period of time only ten ex-cadets retired as general officers.—Long Beach Press.

Fashion News Notes

LONDON, Dec. 8.—Birds of paradise are strictly protected in the flesh but they appear on several of the most charming frocks exhibited here today—in embroidery. One was a black chiffon velvet with a deep band of jet about the hips and a magnificent bird of paradise with outspread wings embroidered in crystal and diamonds, decorating the entire left side.

PARIS, Dec. 8.—The newest fur collars are almost exact reproductions of a pillow muff in alternate bands of contrasting fur.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Simplicity and sophistication are harmoniously blended in the new tailleurs on exhibition here. The lines are simple but the double breasted jackets with long lapels fastened low with three large buttons are the last word in smart tailoring as are the wrap-around skirts.

MY FAVORITE STORIES

by IRVIN S. COBB

A Story With a Moral

"Mister," said the sweet-faced little urchin, addressing the aged gentleman, "could I ask you a question?"

"Certainly, my child," said the old man in a benevolent tone, at the same time stroking the splendid white beard which foamed from his chin and cascaded down his front almost to his middle.

"It's about your whiskers," said the inquisitive lad.

"Well, what about my whiskers?"

"When you go to bed at night do you tuck your whiskers under the belclothes or do you let them spread out on top of the coverlid?"

The old man gave a start.

"Why, bless my soul," he said, "I don't believe I know. I've been wearing this beard for a great many years and until this moment it never occurred to me to remember just what I did do with my whiskers when I went to bed. Tonight I'll take note, and I'll let you know the very next time I see you. Curious thing, eh what?" added the venerable one as he walked away shaking his head in perplexity

That evening when he retired he pulled the counterpane quite up to his chin, hiding all the whiskers except their beginnings.

"Now, there," he said to himself, "that's undoubtedly the way I've been doing all these years. See how force of habit operated to cause me to put them inside the blankets. Ah—now I'm comfortable."

But in a moment he realized that he wasn't comfortable. His whiskers tickled his bare throat. He felt self-conscious, ill-at-ease.

So he heaved the whiskers out and spread them, spraying in a broad fan-shaped effect, upon the coverlid.

"Well," he said, "that's better. That must have been the way I've always done it."

But he couldn't sleep. His beard, stretching before him in plain view, was for the first time in his life an incumbrance and an annoyance.

So he drew them back in. Then he hauled them out. Then he put them in again; then he put them out again, groaning meanwhile. And the next night it was the same maddening thing over again —no rest for the poor, harassed, half-frantic old gentleman. And the third night was a hideous repetition of the two preceding ones.

So, on the fourth night, in stark desperation he cut his throat and blew out his brains and hanged himself and jumped into the river.

And the moral is that curious little boys should never ask nice old gentlemen what they do with their whiskers at night.

SOUL OF A MOTHER

Myrt's infected with the Soul of a Mother. The wee, wee babbies have got her going. She's wound up as tight as Willie's toy train the day after Christmas. Just cawn't keep away from the human mites that come out of the nowhere into the here. That's Myrt talking, not us and don't make no mistake about it.

The dear gal loves to bounce 'em on her maternal knocknee. Poke her one manicured digit into their itty bitty pinky cheeksies. O momma! Kick her in the teeth. She annoys us. Some day she'll disgorge baby, talk in front of a precocity and he'll bite her as sure as chicken hash Mondays.

What have these helpless future presidents and ditch diggers done to have the [illegible] inflicted on their cutesey wootsey selves. We're asking because were eager for information. They're here because they're here, biologically speaking. If blame there is, ask Dad, he knows. Maybe they're wanted and maybe they're not. What's that got to do with it? We dunno, but we're making an investigation.

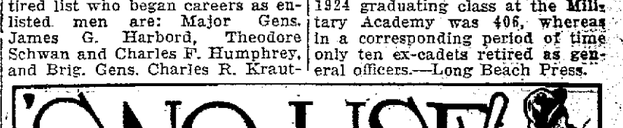

Myrt can't let sleeping babes lie. But she gives them back to momma when they wake up and ring the celebrated welkin. Parents have been known to hide their offspring in the coal scuttle when Myrt punched the bell. Sleep, babby, sleep among the anthracite; the scuttle is a dirty place but Myrtle is a fright. Keats Ode to a Nightmare.

Next time you rock babby to sleep bounce a rock offen Myrt's turnip. The whole suffering infant industry will cast their vote for your man.

HOUR BY HOUR PRICE CHANGES

FIRST TOMATOES OUT OF MEXICO RECEIVED HERE

Shippers Claim It Is Also First to U. S.; Arkansas Yams Invade Market.

What is claimed to be the first car of tomatoes shipped out of Mexico this year arrived over the Southern Pacific today, consigned to the Eastbay wholesale produce house of J. P. Zerikotis & Co. The shipment came by way of Nogales on express schedule from La Cruz in Sinoloa. The consignors, Kouttoularis Bros. & Nickils, wired that regular shipments from that region to United States markets would not begin for two weeks yet. C. Koutroularis, head of the shipping growers' combination, was a visitor in Oakland last fall and reports that the diverting of the initial car of the product to this point was in recognition of an encouraging opening here for development of trade in winter vegetables with Mexico.

With a threatening scarcity of sweet potatoes, importation from the East has begun. A car of yams from Arkansas, the first from outside the state this year to reach the Eastbay region, arrived today consigned to Hunt, Hatch & Co. The newcomer went on the wholesale market at 7 cents a pound in 50-pound basket lots.

Cranberries are going up in anticipation of brisk holiday demand. Quotations on eastern stuff was advanced today from $16 per barrel to $17.50, and some dealers were quoting $18.

The grape season has come to an end for the present year. There is still some second grade fruit coming in from isolated localities, but the latest rains, it is believed, will put an end this this. Arrivals of eastern poultry continue to feature the market. In consequence the prices have been cut from Thanksgiving figures.

Wool Market

BOSTON, Dec. 8.—The new week opened in the raw wool market with a fair volume of business, but with considerable less activity than was shown a week ago. Prices were firm, but unchanged. Dealers now are turning their attention toward the effect the opening of the heavyweight season next month will have on the market. In some quarters it is believed that if demand is up to normal a difficult situation will be created, owing to the small stocks of wool in dealers' hands.

Illinois Power Bonds Offered

A new issue of $5,000,000 Illinois Power & Light first and refunding 5s is being offered this morning by a syndicate composed of E. H. Rollins & Sons, Harris Trust and Savings Bank, Halsey, Stuart & Co.; Marshall Field, Glore, Ward & Co.; Spencer Trask & Co., and Blyth, Witter & Co.

These bonds are due December 1, 1954, and are offered at 97 and interest, yielding over 5.70%. The proceeds of this issue will be used in part for the retirement of underlying bonds, but principally for expenditures for additions, extensions and improvements of the system.

Since the properties composing this system were consolidated, both net and gross earnings have increased, the net earnings being $9,868,722 for the year ended October 31, 1924, or 2.16 times annual interest on all mortgage debt outstanding.

These First and Refund Mortgage Bonds are followed by $9,842,900 Debentures, $24,156,350 First Preferred and $1,875,300 Participating Preferred stock, and 490,000 shares of Common stock.

The company furnishes electricity to 206,094 customers, has 72,571 gas customers and operates 550 miles of interurban and 235 miles of street railway. About 70% of its net earnings are derived from electric light, power, gas and miscellaneous sources other than transportation.

Oil Men Gather At Fort Worth

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

FORT WORTH, Tex., Dec. 8.—The board of directors of the American Petroleum Institute which begins its annual sessions here tomorrow will consider a campaign of education with a view to taking the public largely into its confidence and clarifying the atmosphere. A subject of considerable importance refers to the oil prospector.

Thomas A. O'Donnell, chairman of the board, California Petroleum Producers' association, is expected to make the president's address tomorrow.

North Star Will Extend Main Shaft

GRASS VALLEY, Dec 8.—The North Star Mines Company has virtually completed plans for sinking of its main shaft to a depth of 4800 feet, 1200 feet below the present deepest workings, according to unofficial reports from the property. The shafts will have three compartments, four and one-half by five feet dimensions for each compartment with five-foot timbers and [illegible] ned to start sinking the shaft by means of an incline fifty feet below the present sump, connecting the two sections after sinking has been completed. By this method sinking can be completed without inference with normal mining activities.

MILLION DOLLARS WILL BE SPENT ON SHIP REPAIRS

Shipping Board Will Expend That Sum to Put Five Boats in Order.

SEATTLE, Dec. 8.—Five big combination passenger and freight liners operating between Seattle and the Orient in the service of the Admiral Oriental Line are to be reconditioned by the United States Shipping Board during December, January and February at a total expenditure of $1,000,000, it was announced today. The fleet consists of the President McKinley, President Jefferson, President Grant, President Madison and President Jackson.

The freighter Oduna of the Alaska Steamship Company will sail from Everett today with 2,500,000 feet of lumber for delivery in Balboa, Panama Canal Zone.

The Williams Line steamship New Britain arrived here this morning to finish loading on Puget Sound for Atlantic coast ports. She will sail tomorrow.

The Alaska Steamship Company's liner Yukon, which arrived here yesterday from Alaska, brought 150,000 feet of spruce lumber to be sent to various parts of the country for use in airplane construction.

In accordance with plans of the Alaska Steamship Company to put its ships in other trades during winter when the traffic to Alaska falls off, the freighter Tenana will load a cargo of 2,500,000 feet of lumber in Tacoma and Everett and sail from here for New York December 18.

Navy Supply Ship Glacier Bought by Union Fish Co.

Vessel Will Replace the Costa Rica as Storeship for Catch.

The old navy supply ship Glacier has been purchased by the Union Fish Company to take the place of the steamer Costa Rica as a storage and refrigerator ship. The business of the company has grown to such an extent that the former Pacific Mail ship has grown inadequate to handle the business. The vessel has been tied up for some time at the Union Construction Company slip in the outer harbor awaiting disposal.

The Glacier, although without a particularly outstanding history, has been in the navy department for many years. The craft was built in England in 1891.

The Costa Rica will probably be sold by the Union Fish Company. The concern operates four sailing vessels in the Alaskan fishing trade. These are the Kate G. Pederson, City of Sydney, McLaurin and Emily F. Whitney.

Torpedo Goes Astray During Sham Battle

Twenty-one Foot Practice Torpedo Being Sought by Navy Dept.

Somewhere out in the Pacific a large practice torpedo is floating about and the United States navy is anxious to get hold of it again. In fact, Uncle Sam has posted a $20 reward for anyone bringing it in or notifying the naval authorities of its whereabouts. The torpedo went astray when fired by the destroyer McCawley in night practice off the southern coast. It is 21 feet long and painted yellow.

The San Diego air station is protesting the attempt of Los Angeles to secure the permanent mooring mast of the big dirigibles of the navy department. According to the San Diego officials the place for the mast is at the southern California air port with the rest of the air fleet.

Plan on for More Standardized Cargo Handling

At a conference of European lines in Vancouver, B. C., today, plans for standardizing the amount of cargo required for shifting vessels from pier to pier, were discussed. Some of the lines have been shifting their ships from one pier to another for 200 tons, others require 300 tons and some 500 tons.

J. J. McGowan, Pacific Coast manager of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company, with headquarters in Seattle, and H. W. Burchard, co-manager with K. G. Fisken, of the Furness Line in Seattle and Portland, attended the meeting. They were appointed a committee by the San Francisco European lines recently to meet with Vancouver shipping interests to discuss standardization of operations in Pacific Coast ports.

HARRISON LINE STEAMER JOINS OAKLAND FLEET

Will Open Another Direct Freight Line to Ports of Europe.

When the Harrison Direct Line freighter Electrician comes over to the east side of the bay tomorrow and lines in alongside the Howard Terminal dock it will mark the opening of another new and direct service from Oakland to European ports. The vessel is coming from the north and is to take out a large cargo of canned fruit and other goods from Central California. This is the second service to start regular service from Oakland to Europe in the week, the Furness Pacific line being the other.

The company, in co-operation with the Howard service, plans to maintain a regular schedule from Oakland instead of the intermittent one that has been in effect in the past. Canned fruit as cargo will be specialized in during the remainder of the winter months and during the summer and fall the ships which are refrigerator equipped will handle fresh shipments of fruit.

The shipment of refrigerated fruits from the Pacific Coast, and especially from California, has become an important factor in the export trade to European ports and especially to the United Kingdom.

Inauguration of a new service between Pacific Coast ports and the United Kingdom has been announced by Dodwell & Co to be begun by the frieghter Canadian Pioneer. The service starts December 15 from Antwerp and regular departures will be maintained following that date, when the schedule and vessels will be announced.

Sockeye Catch Is Disposed Of

The sockeye catch of British Columbia salmon is practically all closed out, according to word from Vancouver. Only a few thousand cases of the summer's catch remain to be disposed of. The price secured has been good, ranging from $12.25 to $13.75 a case.

The profit to the packers has been good this year, as the Dominion government has removed certain taxes and reduced others.

More than 100,000 cases of the catch went to Australia and New Zealand.

DRIVER SILENT IN PINOLE INQUEST

PINOLE, Dec. 8.—A coroner's inquest was held in the case of Nounie Rolieno, 6-year-old boy who was struck by an automobile on the highway at Pinole November 26, by W. Pansey of Rodeo. The coroner's jury returned the verdict that the deceased came to his death by a fractured skull, shock and hemorrhage caused by being struck by an automobile, and according to the testimony given we are unable to fix the blame.

Young Pansey refused to testify. His sister, who was riding with him at the time, says she saw nothing until she heard the impact and turned around to see a child lying in the street. Those on the jury were L. C. Bryan, foreman; Harry Bofinger, Thomas South, Harry Williams, Henry Perry, Chas. Alvarez, Michael Lucid and L. C. Le Febvre.

S. P. Will Pave Santa Cruz Street

SANTA CRUZ, Dec. 8.—The Southern Pacific railroad will pave the entire length of Chestnut avenue Mayor J. B. Maher has been notified by the following note from George W. Smith, the company's local attorney.

"I am directed to advice you that your request that Chestnut avenue, where the same is traversed by the tracks of the Southern Pacific company, be paved in its entirety by the Southern Pacific company, exclusive of sidewalks, in accordance with the charter of the city of Santa Cruz, has been granted; and that it is being arranged with the engineers of the Southern Pacific company to have the work done as soon as practicable, at the entire expense of the Southern Pacific company to the satisfaction of the city engineer."

Memorials Blessed By Bishop Parsons

SANTA CRUZ, Dec. 8.—Two memorials were blessed yesterday afternoon at the Mission of St. John the Baptist at Capitola by Bishop Edward Lamb Parsons.

The dedication and blessing of the organ was in memory of Caroline Elizabeth Lewis, organist from 1898 to 1924, and the choir loft in memory of Kate Lewis and Margarent Ballard Lewis.

The bishop was assisted in the service by Rev. Charles Leachman.

RICH DAIRYMAN SLAIN AT PARTY; COUSIN ARRESTED

Watchman Says Prisoner Gave Self Up After Shot Through Window.

HAYWARD, Dec. 8.—As a result of his alleged confession that it was he who fired through a closed and shaded window last night, killing his cousin, Thomas Silva, wealthy dairyman, as the latter stood among fourteen dinner guests, Tony Silva, local ranch hand, is in the county jail today.

The guests at the Silva home were thrown into a panic when the shot came through the window shade and their host fell to the floor. Fearing a general attack on the entire party, some one snapped out the lights, and for ten minutes the fourteen guests and the widow of the murdered man stood and crouched silent and motionless in the Silva parlor.

MAN IS EJECTED.

The shooting followed the ejection of Tony Silva from the house, after he had twice interrupted the party by entering in what was said to be an intoxicated condition. At his first appearance Thomas Silva ordered him out, and then escorted him to the door. When he returned a few minutes later, Silva again led him outside. As he was being taken out, Tony Silva is said to have threatened to "get" his cousin.

Thomas Silva had just returned to the parlor, where his guests were preparing to play cards, and was standing close to a window talking to William Silva of Niles. The window was closed, and the shade was down. Without warning, a bullet crashed through the window, grazing William Silva's head, and lodging in that of Thomas Silva.

Silva did not die instantly. When the police arrived they found him still breathing, and hurried him to the Hayward Central hospital, where an operation was begun. He died from loss of blood, however, without regaining consciousness.

CONFESSES TO WATCHMAN.

Tony Silva was noticed, a few minutes after the shooting, pacing up and down in front of Hayward police headquarters. Tony August, night watchman at the fire house, asked him what was the matter.

"I killed him, and you can hang me if you want," Silva is said to have replied.

He was taken in custody by August, and later turned over to Constable Al La Cunha and Deputy Sheriff Joe Soares, who took him to the county jail.

Tony Silva is said to have been threatening for the past six months to "get" his cousin and the latter's wife. He has been living for twenty-five years in a cottage in the rear of the Silva home on Winton road, and working on one of his cousin's ranches. He is 40 years old and unmarried.

The slain man was 55 years old.

Jugo-Slavian Students Riot; Sixty Arrested

By A. R. DECKER.
(Special Cable to The Oakland TRIBUNE and The Chicago Daily News.)

VIENNA, Dec. 8.—Trouble broke out afresh Saturday in the Jugo-Slavian universities. The students are split into two political factions—those friendly to the government and those friendly to Stephen Raditch.

In Belgrade Raditch's friends picketed the university, and prevented others from entering it until the police interfered with their activities.

Several persons were injured. The rector temporarily settled the disturbances by adjourning all lectures for a day.

In Agram university the students friendly to Raditch early in the morning barricaded the doors with chairs and tables and kept out the other students until the police stormed the university by climbing to the roof of an adjacent nunnery. They dispersed the students who were defending the barricade, arresting sixty of them. Several students were badly injured in the rioting.

The minister of education of Jugo-Slavia said the three professors whose retiremen started all the trouble were retired because they belonged to the Croat republican party.

Fever-fired Lad Again Nabbed in Hospital Flight

For the second time in a week Fred Boot, 11, scarlet-fever patient at the county hospital, escaped the vigilance of nurses and wandered afield last night with no more raiment than a half-portion of pajamas and a side order of blue denim "overalls."

Fred was again dismayed, however, at the quickness with which he lands back in his hospital bed after all the trouble it takes to escape. This time he had scarcely set foot on the doorstep of his home, 1919 Shiller street, Alameda, than he was bundled up and rushed back to the hospital.

Last week Fred donned a pair of shoes and a hat and made his pajama-clad way to San Francisco before he was discovered by the police and bounced back into bed.

News of the CHURCHES

Miracles

"Miracles, supernatural revelations and an infallibly inspired book have no place in the modern interpretation of life and the universe," said the Rev. Clarence Reed at the First Unitarian church yesterday morning, speaking on the subject, "The Conservation of Values." He said in part:

"There were certain epoch making discoveries during the nineteenth century, among them being the formulation of the theory of the conservation of energy by Helmholtz, the experimental demonstration of the electrogmagnetic theory of light and matter, and the theory of evolution as expressed by Darwin. The importance of these discoveries to the progress of civilization cannot be overestimated.

"The accent upon the conservation of values is one of the greatest contributions to the modern interpretation of religion. These supreme values must be shared with others in order to be enjoyed. The test of value in regard to the supreme goods of life is as to whether they may be given away, and in proportion as they are given away they increase. As a matter of experimental demonstration love, justice, beauty, courage and truth are eternal values.

"The great discoveries of science seem simple when they are understood, such as that sound is a vibration of matter and light is a vibration of electricity. We do not know the exact nature of matter and electricity except that they may be described as manifestations of force.

"Religion has been veiled in mystery in the past. It has been proclaimed as something miraculous in character, being based on a supernatural revelation and an infallibly inspired Bible. Modern religion is simple and easy to understand. Miracles, supernatural revelations and an infallibly inspired book have no place in the modern interpretation of life and the universe. Religion is the life of love, truth and justice. God is the sum total of all the ideal values of life. There is no limit to man's knowledge of God except the limit he sets to his knowledge and expression of the highest religious and ethical values."

Christ a Miracle

"No man was ever stronger or more courageous than Jesus, yet no woman was ever more gentle and affectionate," said Dr. E. C. Philleo, speaking at Centennial Presbyterian church last night on the theme "The Symmetry of part:

"Someone has said that the Jew is the miracle of history; the Bible is the miracle of literature; Palestine is the miracle of geography, and Christ is the miracle of humanity.

"Certainly few can be found to deny that Jesus of Nazareth possessed a unique personality—that He was a most extraordinary character. And in nothing is this more clearly manifest than in the peculiar symmetry of His mind and heart.

"In a way never achieved by any other, He combined the best qualities of both sexes. No man was ever stronger or more courageous, yet no woman was ever more gentle and affectionate. To be like Jesus is the aim of the greatest men, and of the noblest women.

"Nor is that all, for this Man is the mediator of the classes. A peasant Himself, and a workingman, yet He could pass from the hut of the lowliest into the palace of the most aristocratic without the least embarrassment. He was equally at home with the one and with the other. Nor does He belong to any class yet, and the hope of the future, so far as peace between the classes is concerned, is that His Spirit shall pervade high and low, rich and poor, great and small.

"And what is true of the classes is just as true of the races. Jesus was a Jew, yet He was infinitely more. He fits into the life of all the races, white and black, red and yellow. Every man who accepts Him as Saviour and Lord finds Him a man of his own race. And again, the only hope of permanent peace between the various races and nations is that His Spirit shall rule their hearts and lives.

"Jesus is the one complete Man—the Son of Man, as He often called Himself. But if this is true, then two things follow inevitably, it seems to me: First, no man, nor group of men, could have invented the story of His life; second, His claims to one-ness with God must stand."

Guileless Heart

"To perceive spiritually is to miss the distortions of the senses and the mis-educations of the carnal mind and to sense instead the constructive, the positive and the harmonious as the permanent and real values of life," said Bernard C. Ruggles, minister of the Church of the Universal Christ yesterday morning, speaking on the theme, "The Gift of a Rich Consciousness." He said, in part:

"Judean shepherds adoring One above whom a star shone, symbolize for us the nobility of simple reverence; rough men with honest hearts ready to recognize something worthy of their whole devotion. Such an attitude of mind is requisite to receive a great gift of the Spirit; the gift of a rich consciousness.

"This gift comes from a receptive heart. God only needs a fair chance with all of us. A heart free from guile is prepared to receive the riches of Divine Wisdom. The real greatness of truly great men has ever been their simple guilelessness.

"True humility of mind also prepares for a rich consciousness, because it is the spirit of faith, wholly reliant upon the Supreme Mind. When we unbend our prideful human minds, choked up with our exaggerated intellectual self-esteem, then we may receive a wisdom above the wisdom of this world. The wise men of the world must, in their mental attitude, be like the shepherds of old, ready to bend low to listen to the whisper of the Divine.

"Add sensitiveness of soul to these and you have the gift of a great awareness. To perceive spiritually is to miss the distortions of the senses and the mis-educations of the carnal mind and to sense instead the constructive, the positive and the harmonious as the permanent and real values of life. For to become supremely aware of the beauty and glory of life and to be able to use it to offset the ugliness of any aspect, is to have a rich consciousness."

Moral Revival

"Thoughtful and far-seeing men of the world are speaking their belief boldly, that we need a genuine revival of simple moral principles more than we need anything else," said the Rev. Robert E. Cooper at the Brooklyn Presbyterian church yesterday morning, speaking on the theme, "The Church That Is Needed for a Changing World Condition." He said in part:

"Jesus Christ made it clear that religion to continue effective must be adapted to the day in which it is to do its work. Conditions are ever new and the religion that saves man must fit mankind.

"There was a day when religion was suppressed to function when a priest performed services before the people. The priestly services were rendered, not by, but for, the people; in their behalf. That conception of religion has passed away. The religion of today is a religion of life, the embodiment of all the principals of the human soul, and a church to function at all, must do so in a personal way.

"The old Methodist camp meeting has entirely passed away. But this is not a decline in spirituality, as some would have us believe. The need and conditions which made those meetings successful have passed away. There is a divine right, and a divine intent too, in the adaptation of Christianity to whatever need any age shall be able to present.

"This is the most practically tested day the world has ever known. Some of the most skillful men in the great factories are paid higher wages just to devise severe testing trials in order to discover every concealed flaw that may have passed the less careful eye of the ordinary workman.

"Every idea submitted to the world must meet the same fact. Our religion is tested by the life it produces. Thoughtful and far-seeing men of the world are speaking their belief boldly, that we need a genuine revival of simple moral principles more than we need anything else.

"Christianity was not designed to fit a human problem after it had been worked out into a certain degree of worthiness and readiness. God matched His plan against human and no changing civilization or customs that man shall ever devise or evolve will place an uncrossable barrier between the gospel and its task."

Prayer for Dead

In sympathy with the bereaved whose loved ones were killed or injured in the recent train wreck, the Rev. Robert E. Brown, minister of the First Congregational church, has prepared the following prayer:

"Almighty and ever-merciful Father, under the watchful care of whose Providence we come, and tarry and depart—hear Thou our prayer! Our hearts are wrung in anguish, that those who have long been near and dear to us have suddenly been taken from our midst, and we are left with aching hearts and with an overwhelming sense of loss, crushed beneath a great weight of bereavement. In the midst of our loss we look up into Thy face and lovingly put our trust in Thee. When we cannot see we shall hope and where we cannot know we shall trust.

"In meek submission to the power that is greater than ourselves we yield our hearts and wills remembering those homes in our city where sorrow is darkest. May the Divine Comforter come nigh to each suffering heart. Out of the depths of Thy infinite mercy speak to troubled souls the word of assurance and peace. Illuminate them and us with the hope of a life eternal where disaster shall not come and where we shall find thee a shelter from the storm and a rock of deliverance for our souls.

"Fill the hearts of all Oakland with a sense of sympathy for all those who feel the tragedy of life. Grant Thy speedy, healing power to all who may survive the shock of accident and by our common expression of brotherhood may we bring to them something of the sweet and everlasting Christmas confidence that Thou are our shield in joy or pain and our God, now, henceforth and forever. Amen."

Wells vs. Bible

"The trouble today is that we are turning to H. G. Wells for the philosophy of history. We should turn to the New Testament," said Dr. Frank M. Silsley at the First Presbyterian church last night, speaking on the subject, "Christ's Coming and Beyond the Grave." He said in part:

"That Christ will yet reign upon this earth is the clear prophecy of the Master himself. The absolutism of Christ will be exercised in the very community, or country, that casts Him out as ruler now. The Master himself says that He is coming to reign. The Kingdom of God on earth is not coming through shrewd statesmanship, or world schemes or even great revivals—it is Christ who brings the Kingdom. It is by grace.

"The ordinary opinion is that things will go on indefinitely in the world as they are going on now. We think civilization as it now is, is just about eternal. We forget all the lessons of history that the civilizations of Egypt, Athens, Rome perished and that even once great world powers in our time have declined to the point of feebleness today. Nor will the modern order of rebellion to God be continued. The times of apostasy from truth have not come to stay. Organized and railing unbelief have not come to stay. Denominational partisanship and bigotry and trying to corral everything for your own particular denomination have not come to stay. Bootleggers and rum-runners, war lords and militarists, "class-conscious" advocates have not come to stay. Fierce competition instead of co-operation, selfishness instead of service, have not come to stay.

"The Kingdom of God will yet overwhelm the kingdom of this world and truth and righteousness and love and unity will reign triumphant. There will be no new era but there will be "the day of the Lord," and what we so often overlook is that the followers of Christ will share in Christ's reign and Kingdom. The despised people who bear their crosses today, will be the priests and kings of God. The trouble today is that we are turning to H. G. Wells for the philosophy of history. We should turn to the New Testament. The four horsemen fall, but the rider upon the white horse, the Christ, is victorious forever."

19 ARE INJURED IN BAY REGION AUTO ACCIDENTS

Oakland Man Run Over By Two Machines Is in Serious Condition.

Wet, slippery pavements caused several of sixteen bay region auto accidents yesterday in which 19 persons were injured, two of them seriously. Two hit and run accidents and two arrests for driving while intoxicated are included in the police reports.

Run down by two automobiles while trying to cross Telegraph avenue at Twenty-second street early yesterday morning, Barney F. Stockinger, 24, a teamster, 9117 East Fourteenth street, suffered a possible fracture of the skull and cuts on the body and head.

The first automobile, a small car going south on Telegraph avenue, struck Stockinger, knocking him into the path of another automobile driven by C. Leonard Rosenberg, 598 Twenty-third street, who was traveling north. The front and rear wheels of Rosenberg's car passed over the prostrate man. The man in the first automobile fled before any of the five persons who were witnesses to the accident could secure his license number.

Stockinger was taken to the emergency hospital by Mrs. Helen Morledge, 6107 College avenue. He was later removed to the county hospital at San Leandro.

FOUR HURT IN CRASH.

Colliding with a San Pablo avenue street car at San Pablo avenue and Dwight way, Berkeley, yesterday afternoon, Renie Johanson, E. F. Fitzgerald, James Courtney and Joe Plumber, the latter said to be a member of the Seattle baseball team, were treated at the Berkeley general hospital for cuts and bruises.

The four men were later held for questioning by the Berkeley police when it was charged that the party had been indulging in liquor.

Following a crash when the machine in which he was riding collided with an automobile parked in front of the home of Wallace Barnes Ranson, 855 Grand avenue, M. A. Parker, 60 South street, Richmond, was arrested and charged with being intoxicated. He was later released on $6 bail.

H. L. MacDonald, Humbolt Apartments, Richmond, according to the police report, who was with Parker, fled after the crash.

AUTO WRECKED BY POLE.

Attempting to avoid crashing into another automobile which had skidded across his path near Pinole last night, S. E. Hawthorne, 844 Forty-sixth avenue, an Francisco, ran his car into a telephone pole, badly wrecking it. Mrs. Hawthorne was thrown through the windshield, suffering a severe cut on her throat and other cuts and bruises. She was taken to the Cottage hospital, Richmond, by A. R. Straight, 1125 Sixteenth avenue, Oakland.

The crash occurred just as the Hawthornes were leaving Pinole for San Francisco. The other machine, which disappeared after the accident, had run off the highway, and in attempting to get back caught its rear wheel in a rut and skidded into the path of the Hawthorne car.

RUN DOWN, DRIVER FLEES.

While talking to his brother and some friends at Calaveras and Rose avenues yesterday afternoon, William O'Brien, living on Oakmount drive, Leona Heights, was struck by a small cut-down auto, which fled following the accident.

O'Brien was treated at the Industrial dressing station, Twenty-seventh avenue and East Fourteenth street, for cuts and bruises. Those with O'Brien failed to get the number of the machine struck him.

Failure to see approaching automobiles because of umbrellas they were carrying resulted in the injury last night of two Oakland women.

Mrs. J. W. Jewel, 55, 816 Sixty-first street, was struck by an automobile driven by J. A. Kendall, 6430 Regent street, early last night at College and Alcatraz avenues. Mrs. Jewel was attempting to cross the street and stepped in front of Kendall's machine. She was treated at the Alta Bates Sanatorium for cuts and bruises, and later removed to her home.

Unable to see because of an umbrella she was carrying, Anna Saloman, 1415 Grove street, a domestic, was knocked down early this morning at Fourteenth and Broadway by a machine operated by Albert A. Webber, 440 East Seventeenth street. Webber became confused, and stepping on the accelerator, instead of the brakes, dragged Miss Saloman several feet. She was treated at the Emergency hospital. The accident, according to the police, was unavoidable.

Stopping from the curb into the path of an automobile driven by T. W. Hauer, 626 Eighty-seventh avenue, late yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Myra Sooter, 875 Thirtieth street, suffered bruises. The accident occurred at Fourteenth street and San Pablo avenue. Mrs. Sooter was treated at the Emergency hospital.

TRAFFIC OFFICER HURT.

Driving his motorcycle into a machine, driven by C. A. Barton of El Cerrito in Piedmont yesterday, D. W. James, Piedmont traffic officer suffered abrasions of the left leg.

Barton, according to James, turned suddenly out from the curb, and the motorcycle struck him head on. James was treated by Dr. Arthur Firbush. The motorcycle was wrecked.

Struck by an automobile, the driver of which refused to give his name, Donald L. Aldrich, 1720 Webster street narrowly escaped injury when his car skidded into an electrolier, breaking it off at the base. Aldrich's car was badly damaged. The accident occurred at San Pablo avenue and Grayson street yesterday afternoon.

Following a crash between an automobile driven by Merwin Ulrich, 2320 Jefferson street and one operated by A. A. Chadwick, 1045 Ordway street, Berkeley, yesterday afternoon, the Ulrich car crashed into a telegraph pole, breaking it off about half way from the top. None of the occupants were injured, although both cars were badly damaged.

EIGHT INJURED IN S. F.

Eight persons were injured in five San Francisco automobile accidents, one of the crashes occurring in the Stockton street tunnel. Those hurt were:

John L. Stanley, 371 Second avenue, severely cut wrist and arm; John De Lucchi, 11 Rausch street, cuts and bruises; Carl H. Carlson, 1084 McAllister street, lacerated scalp; Carl Borgesson, 932 Fillmore street, lacerated face and leg; Mrs. William May, 1973 Ocean avenue, severely cut, face and arms; Miss Meda Restivo, 21, a stenographer, 960 Lombard street, cuts and bruises; John Fiorina, a waiter, 288 Columbus avenue, Miss Restivo's escort, cuts and bruises; Charles Lemburg, 459 Third avenue, abrasions of the body and head.

Stanley and De Lucchi were in the machine which skidded and crashed into the side walls of the Stockton tunnel, throwing them out. They were treated at Harbor hospital.

Carlson and Borgesson were crossing Eddy street at Fillmore, when struck by a machine driven by Mrs. J. G. Rielly, 1106 Pine street. They went to the Central Emergency.

Mrs. May was injured when the machine in which she was riding with Walter Rogers, 556 Victoria street, collided with a machine driven by Robert Galvin, 5766 Claremont avenue, Oakland, in front of the Central Emergency hospital, Polk and Grove streets.

Miss Restivo and Fiorina were injured when the taxicab in which they were riding skidded and struck another automobile at Twenty-second and Dolores streets.

A skidding automobile driven by Pierre Marvin, 5029 Geary street, struck Charles Lemburg yesterday as he stepped off a safety station at second avenue and Geary street. He was treated at the Central Emergency hospital. Marvin was not held.

ALBERT E. HILL,
Administrator of the estate of the above named decedent.

Dated at Oakland, California, November 17, 1924.

Edward R. Eliassen and Walter H. Eliassen, attorneys for said administrator.

First publication, November 17, 1924.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC WORK.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That on the 19th day of November, A. D. 1924, the Council of the City of Oakland passed Resolution of Intention No. 30965 N. S., to order the following street work to be done, to-wit:

The closing up and abandoning of East 24th Street from the southern line of Park Boulevard to the northwestern line of 7th Avenue, and East 23rd Street from the southern line of Park Boulevard to a line parallel with and distant (measured at right angles) 310 feet northwesterly from the northwestern line of 7th Avenue.

And said Council does hereby determine and declare that said proposed work and improvement is of more than local or ordinary public benefit, and will affect and benefit the lands and district hereinafter described, which said district is hereby declared to be the district affected or benefited by said work and improvement, and that therefore the entire damages, costs and expenses of said work and improvement shall be and are hereby made chargeable against and shall be assessed upon said lands and district, which district is within the City of Oakland, County of Alameda, State of California, and is more particularly bounded as follows, to-wit:

Bounded on the southeast by the center line, and its production, of 7th Avenue; on the north by the southern line of Park Boulevard; on the southwest by a line parallel with and distant (measured at right angles) 100 feet southwesterly from the southwestern line of East 23rd Street; and on the northeast by a line parallel with and distant (measured at right angles) 100 feet northeasterly from the northeastern line of East 24th Street.

All of the aforesaid improvement shall be done in accordance with the provisions of an Act of the Legislature of the State of California entitled "An Act to provide for laying out, opening, extending, widening, straightening, or closing up in whole or in part any street, square, lane, alley, court, or place within municipalities, and to condemn and acquire any and all land and property necessary or convenient for that purpose," approved March 6, 1889, and the several acts amendatory thereof or supplementary thereto.

For further particulars, reference is hereby made to Resolution of Intention No. 30965 N. S., for the above described work on file in the office of the City Clerk of the City of Oakland. This notice shall be published for 10 days in The Oakland Tribune being the newspaper designated by said Council of the City of Oakland for such publication.

W. W. HARMON,
Superintendent of Streets and Ex-officio City Engineer of the City of Oakland.

DAIRYMEN ARRIVE FOR SHOW HERE

Leaders in Industry Come From Many Sections to Attend Opening of Slope Exposition on Wednesday

Dairymen, stock breeders, cheese manufacturers, milk commissioners, and men representing every department of the dairy industry, began arriving in Oakland today for the fourth annual Pacific Slope Dairy Show, which opens Wednesday at the Municipal Auditorium.

The show will be officially opened Wednesday noon with a dedication luncheon at the auditorium, at which E. C. Lyon, newly-elected president of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, will make his first public appearance as the head of that body. Lyon will deliver the dedicatory address, and the response will be given by Dr. C. L. Roadhouse, president of the Pacific Slope Dairy Show association.

The Thursday luncheon will be given by the Butterfat club and Mutual Business association; Friday, Hundred Per Cent club and Pacific Slope Show exhibitors; Saturday, breed association members and representatives from the University of California, college of agriculture; Soroptomist club; Tuesday, December 16, Business and Professional Women's club.

Hairpins in Auto Win Wife Divorce

Failing to name any specific woman, but charging that Dr. C. T. Moul frequently took "other women" out for rides in the family automobile, Gladys T. Moul today was granted a decree of divorce by Superior Judge J. J. Trabucco.

Mrs. Moul said that the way she knew of her husband's attentions to the other women was by finding hairpins, scarfs and other articles of feminine attire on the floor of the car.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Advertisement.

THE WINKING EYE

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia usually start with a cold. The moment you get those warning aches, get busy with good old Musterole.

Musterole is a counter-irritant that relieves congestion (which is what a cold really is) and stimulates circulation.

It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

Just rub it on with your fingertips. First you will feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

Official Issues Decalogue for Christmas Mail

"Ten Commandments" for Christmas mailers, designed to save both shippers and the post-office men much annoyance and work during the holiday rush were announced today by Charles H. Scoggins, superintendent of traffic of the Oakland postoffice. The commandments follow:

1. Thou shalt not seal thy parcels with kisses and tie them with baby blue ribbon. Use good stout twine.

2. Thou shalt not mail thy packages at 6 p. m. the day before Christmas and expect them to reach Oshkosh, Wisconsin, by Christmas day. Mail early.

3. Thou shalt address thy parcels with ink very plainly and write thy full name in the upper left hand corner.

4. Thou shalt bear in mind that thy full name is not "Honey," "Cutie," "Daddie" or "Sweet Mama."

5. Thou shalt remember that a two-cent stamp will prepay full postage on a letter, but not on a twenty-pound box of prunes. Stamp correctly.

6. Thou shalt not put a 10-page letter in the box with Aunt Prudence's lavender house slippers. The postage due collected from Aunt Prudence may be more than the slippers are worth. Mail them separately.

7. Thou shalt not blame the letter carrier if thy package has not reached its destination yet. Did you mail it early?

8. Thou shalt not mail a fragile ten dollar present in an oatmeal box. It may be shipped at the bottom of a load of heavy parcels.

9. Thou shalt know that all postal employees are not clairvoyants. If Miss Sally Smith lives at 2222 Jones street—say so!

10. Thou shalt mail early, wrap securely, stamp correctly, address plainly and then dream sweetly. But mail early does not mean mail early Christmas morning.

Former Stars at Fulton Theater Married in S. F.

When Clyde Fillmore, erstwhile leading man at the Fulton theater, clasped to his breast the tender heroine of the play and freighted the air with sweet messages of love, it was of Lea Penman, demi-star of the cast, of whom he was thinking.

Fillmore admitted this today when he told of his marriage to Miss Penman at a private ceremony in San Francisco Saturday.

The romance began during the engagement of Miss Penman and Fillmore at the local theater, Fillmore said. Later it burst into open flame when he returned to Hollywood and Miss Penman went to New York.

During the past two months the transcontinental air mail has been weighted down with their love notes, he said, and in order to relieve the Christmas rush they determined to get married.

The marriage license gave his age as 37 and Miss Penman's as 29.

TUBE SUIT IS DELAYED FOR CONFERENCE

Condemnation of Property to Widen Street Held Up While Property Owners Protest to Supervisors

Protest by Downtown Property Owners' Association and representatives of property owners on Harrison street to a roadway of only 26 feet in width each side of the estuary tube approach, today caused the board of supervisors to postpone action to bring condemnation proceedings pending a conference next Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

This conference will attempt to arrive at an agreement regarding the width of the street, and it may possibly bring about an offer from the property owners of prices on the 16-foot frontage desired by the county.

REFUSAL TO TREAT, CHARGED

During the board meeting this morning, it was charged by Earl Warren, assistant district attorney, that the owners of property on Harrison street, between Fourth and Sixth streets, had refused to treat with him regarding prices. He declared that these property owners had displayed an attitude of wanting the county to purchase their entire frontage and were not willing to sell a 16-foot frontage. Albert S. Day and other owners evaded this point, but declared it would place them at a "disadvantage" to quote a price.

Among the protestants are S. B. Swan, local merchant and president of the Downtown Property Owners' Association; Phillip R. Thayer, vice-president and chairman of the tube committee for the association, and James B. Koll, executive secretary of the organization. These men declared they were interested only as citizens and taxpayers and were protesting because they believe a 26-foot roadway on each side of the approach would be insufficient in view of Oakland's growth.

Other speakers who took the same view were George Hatch, Harry Bercovitch, C. L. Huggins, Joseph Zaidal.

DILATORY TACTICS ALLEGED.

Supervisor John F. Mullins accothers of failing to show an interest in the project until the last moment when condemnation proceedings were contemplated. He declared the plans have been gone over with the city street department and that Oakland, at no time, has asked for more than a 30-foot roadway. It was pointed out that Harrison street at present, has a width of 44 feet and with the present plans, it will have a total width of 52 feet or 26 feet on each side. The resolutions, held up until Thursday, call for the condemnation of fourteen parcels of property ranging from a depth of 16 feet to 35 feet. This last depth is to be acquired near Fourth street where the Portal building of the tube is to be constructed.

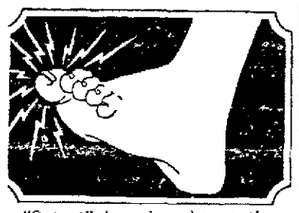

City to Auction Off Horses and Goats

The city of Oakland, to get rid of two horses and two goats, will hold an auction tomorrow at 11 a. m., at the public pound at Ford and Lancaster streets.

Officials assert that they hope to get at least $10 out of the sale.

INGROWN NAIL

Turns Right Out Itself

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the ice nail that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.—Advertisement.

Aviator Claims Plane Balances On Bird Principle

EL CERRITO, Dec. 8.—Peter Alinio, veteran Eastbay aviator and aeronautical engineer, will resume tests in the spring with an airplane which he recently completed.

Alinio declares that he has achieved the long-sought goal of aeronautical engineers, an automatically balanced airplane, and that his machine while in the air will keep on an even keel without effort on the part of the pilot.

The airman asserts that he perfected his invention from studying birds and that the devices for securing equilibrium are incorporated in the ship itself and do not depend upon levers.

Some time ago Alinio's invention was taken up by a syndicate with the plan of starting a passenger air route between San Francisco and Los Angeles, but the syndicate collapsed and Alinio in disgust dismantled his plane and stored it.

The inventor began experiments with heavier-than-air flying machines as early as 1898, and at one time was forced to flee from London to Paris to keep from being confined in a mad house. In 1906, after meeting with repeated discouragements in Europe, he came to America and finally to San Francisco. To secure funds with which to experiment and maintain his family, he follows the occupation of an interior decorator.

MAN HELD IN STABBING.

MARTINEZ, Dec. 8.—Francisca Obargo, 38, was brought in from Crockett last night, charged with having stabbed his con-in-law, Ben Torres, and having struck his daughter, Mrs. Marie Torres, with a sugar bowl.

PURCHASING AGENTS WILL MEET HERE

State, County and Municipal Officials to Discuss Business of Session at Informal Smoker Wednesday

Oakland will entertain the California Association o' State, County and Municipal Purchasing Agents at their annual convention in the Hotel Oakland Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The Chamber of Commerce, through the manufacturers' committee, has arranged an entertainment program which includes an informal smoker on Wednesday evening, when the business of the convention will be taken care of, a plant visitation Thursday and Friday and a banquet Friday evening at the Hotel Oakland.

The Rotary Club will entertain the delegates as its guests at the regular Thursday luncheon. The sight-seeing trip will be made immediately after. The Fageol Motor Company is furnishing a special double-deck bus on both days for the sight-seeing tour.

Ira B. Cross, professor of economics at the University of California, will be the principal speaker at the dinner in the Hotel Oakland Friday evening. H. C. Capwell will act as toastmaster.

Blast Wrecks Plant Of Klan Newspaper

COFFEYVILLE, Kan., Dec. 8.—The Daily Dawn, a pro-Ku Klux Klan daily newspaper here, was blown up by an explosion early today. Damage of $75,000 is estimated.

Two theories are being worked on in connection with the blast. One is that defective gas lines caused it; the other incendiarism.

Autoist Attacked By Carman After Crash

The policeare today investigating a report of George D. Galprath, 718 Salem street, that he was attacked by a conductor on a San Pablo avenue street car following an automobile accident. Galprath claims that his automobile skidded at Sixty-first street and collided with the car.

CHRISTMAS SAVINGS CLUB HEADQUARTERS—

$380,000 SAVED IN 1924

Gleeful Children reward you— for Saving this easy way

JUST TO HEAR their bubbling laughter and to see those smiling faces—that's ample reward for putting aside a few cents each week in anticipation of Christmas time.

The check from the 1924 Christmas Savings Club spread happiness in 7,200 homes this year. It was a bountiful fountain of gifts; it filled the stockings to the brim; and there was even enough money left over, in many cases, to make the first deposit in next year's Christmas Savings Club.

Let gleeful children reward YOU next Christmas! The Christmas Savings Club is now open and you are eligible for membership. But come in NOW—tomorrow—before it it is too late.

4% interest paid if deposits are made regularly. Checks are delivered on or about December 1.
